A Day With L. C. B. Council

Last Saturday, by invitation of E. C. Peery, the NEWS man occupied the seat of honor in Mr. Peery's buggy, to which was attached his equine flyer "Maud"; our destination being Morning Star Grange hall. Maud (not the mule of the funny papers) is somewhat of an equine character in her way. On the start she made numerous unnecessary movements, which a well bred buggy horse is not supposed to make. Peery said she was only playful. By the way, Peery is a first-class whip, at least he said he was, and we arrived at our destination in good time.

At 10:30 the Council was called to order by Lecturer Shaw, the master and overseer having not yet arrived. Owing to the fact that farming operations were in full blast, not more than one-half of the Granges which are members answered to roll call. But one could see that every granger present was full of earnest purpose.

The usual order of business was carried forward, committee reports received, etc., until noon, when a recess of one hour was declared. The Morning Star ladies then took charge of matters. A long table spread and covered with good things, from boiled ham and roast chicken to the finest of cakes and pies. The fact of the matter is those Morning Star ladies are magnificent cooks, almost as good as are the ladies of Scio and vicinity. The banquet was so sumptuous that the NEWS editor had to choke himself off in order to avoid indigestion. It would have been a brotherly act to have choked off Brother Peery as well. But we did not do so and Peery concluded that he would go to Albany and consult some specialist on gastronomy. At all events the NEWS man had to ride home alone.

After the remnants of the feast had been cleared away, an open session of the Council was declared when a short literary and musical program was rendered, all of which was entertaining and of interest to the audience except the calling on the editor of the NEWS for "remarks". We suffered and so did the audience. We have about concluded to forgive Lecturer Shaw for making the mistake of supposing that the NEWS man was a public speaker. We doubt if the audience will.

The business of the Council being again resumed, several resolutions were discussed somewhat. On most of the resolutions, harmony of opinion seemed to prevail except a quasi endorsement of the submission of state prohibition to the voters. Most all Grangers are pro-habit and principle; but some of the members present thought the question not a suitable one to be taken up in the Grange. They thought that any question upon which men have an honest difference of opinion and upon which there would probably be in-harmony, should not be introduced for discussion. Master F. M. Denny, of Banner Grange, extended an invitation to the Council to hold its June session in Scio, which was accepted without a dissenting voice.

The Linn County Business Council is a very important and most useful feature of the order of the Patrons of Husbandry. At its sessions all business matters in the way of state legislation which effect the interests of the farmer, are discussed from the farmers viewpoint. For instance: A plan is now in incubation and is being discussed in the subordinate Granges, looking to the dividing of the state legislative session into two parts with an interval of several weeks intermission between the parts. The first half or part would be for the introduction of bills, and the printing of the same, while the last half or part would be devoted to the discussion and action on the bills. The NEWS can see some merit in the proposed measure, for during the recess the proposed measures could be discussed by members with their constituents and with each other. The result would be we would have fewer and better laws. This matter is to be discussed by the Granges with deliberation and no hasty or ill advised action taken. At all events, nothing will be lost through thorough discussion of matters effecting the public.

An Enjoyable Evening

Leonidas Lodge No. 36, K. of P. of this city, spent a most enjoyable time, on last Tuesday evening, upon the occasion of the official visit of Grand Chancellor Gns. Moser, of Portland.

After the regular order of lodge business had been carried through under the head of "Good of the order", the Grand Chancellor delivered an address of one hour upon the subject of Pythianism and what it meant in the way of good citizenship. Every member present gave the strictest attention to the words of wisdom uttered by the Grand Chancellor.

At the conclusion of the Grand Chancellor's address, Knight A. G. Prill was invited to exhibit his collection of magic lantern views. The views were made at St. Louis and Portland world fairs, and in the vicinity of Marian lake and along the North Santiam and in the city of Mexico, including a set of bull fight views and views made in the vicinity of Scio.

The banquet committee then took charge and spread an elegant repast of sandwiches, pie, cake and coffee.

Leonidas Lodge feels greatly enhanced because of the Grand Chancellors visit. The members signified a willingness to assist the Grand Chancellor in obtaining the 7-900 members to the order which he had set his heart upon obtaining before the meeting of the next Grand lodge.

DIED—On April 1, 1909, at the residence of J. F. Leffler, Allen VanNess, aged 76 years, 3 months and 22 days. Allen VanNess was born in Indiana on December 9, 1832. He came to the Pacific coast at an early day and to the vicinity of Scio over twenty years ago. He purchased a farm two miles north-east of Scio upon which he lived until about one year ago, when he sold it and came to live with Mr. Leffler and with whom he continued to live until the time of his death. Mr. VanNess had no relatives and never was married. He was a good citizen and never interfered with the business of others in which he had no concern. During his last days he often spoke of the kind hands he had fallen into and ever seemed thankful for every kind act and care that Mr. and Mrs. Leffler extended to him. The funeral and burial occurred at Franklin Butte cemetery and was conducted by Geo. L. Sutherland.

Use Diamond chick feed, composed of a great variety of seeds and grains mixed in proportions of bone, grit, shell, charcoal, dried meat and blood. In all there are 20 different ingredients, giving the little chicks just what they need to keep them healthy and to grow well. Get it at Wesely's grocery.

The NEWS is in receipt of an elegantly printed invitation to the Easter services of Temple Commandery, No. 3, of Albany. The invitation is printed on black paper with gold letters. Other engagements will prevent the attendance of yours truly.
