Administrator's Notice

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of Susannah Craktree, deceased, by the County Court of Linn County, Oregon. All persons having claims against said estate are hereby notified to present the same to the undersigned at his residence at Kingston, Oregon, within six months from this date duly verified as by law required.

Dated this 9th day of April 1910.

J. K. Weatherford, P. P. CRABTREE,
Attorney for Admr. Administrator.

I don't send away for anything which I can manufacture at home. I build window frames, turn porch posts, or prepare anything for the house in the way of mill work right here at home and at prices which cannot be competed with by planing mills in other towns, if freight to Scio is considered. I can buy sash and doors as cheap as anybody and am willing to sell upon a small margin of profit. Come and see me before you buy elsewhere and you will not regret it. N. I. Morrison, Proprietor Scio Planing Mills.

We have a full line of sash, doors, porch posts, glass, paints, oils, building paper and brushes. We invite you to come in and get our prices before you buy, as we will unload carload of paints, sash, and doors this week, so we are in a position to give you better price than our competitor. Again remember that we buy direct from the factory in car lots.

The Man From Brodney's

By Geo. B. McCutcheon

"I've just thought of a little service you fellows can perform for me in return for what I've done for you. All the time you're doing it, however, there will be pistols quite close to your backs. Lady Deppingham is much too weak to take the five mile walk we've got to do in the next two hours—or less. You are to have the honor of carrying her four miles and a half, and you will have to get along the best you can with the gags in your mouths. Two of you form a basket with your hands. I'll show you how."

With Selim in the lead the little procession moved swiftly, but cautiously, through the black jungle, bent on reaching the gate if possible before the night lifted. Chase and Bobby Browne brought up the rear with the two reserve carriers in hand. Browne, weak and suffering from torture and exposure, struggled bravely along, determined not to retard their progress by a single moment of indecision.

In his heart Browne was now raging against the fate that had placed him in this humiliating, almost contemptible, position. He, and he alone, was responsible for the sufferings that Lady Agnes had endured. It was as gnail and wormwood to him that other men had been ordained to save her from the misery that he had created. He could almost have welcomed death for himself and her rather than to have been saved by George Deppingham.

His wife! He could never be the same to her. He had forfeited the trust and confidence of the one loyal believer among them all. And now Lady Deppingham loathed him because his weakness had been greater than hers!

When he would have slain the four helpless islanders with his own hands Hollingsworth Chase had stayed his rage with the single, gauntic adjuration:
