GEORGE CHRISMAN

Dr. S. C. Browne left, this week, for Sumpter, there to take charge of a hospital, which he leased some weeks ago. Mrs. Browne to follow a few days later.

You people that want the country "wet" vote for it; but those that like dryness should go to E. C. Peery's drug store and get a wagon umbrella. None better.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found "Notice to Hunters." better look out, boys; unless you first obtain permission from the farmer, your pheasants may prove to be quite expensive.

Scio will never have a satisfactory water and light system until she installs an engine as auxiliary power. Extreme low or extreme high water will always be troublesome.

Read "The Spirit of Idaho" by Arthur W. North. "Greater Than Gold," the harnessing of western rivers by Clayton M. Jones, in October Sunset Magazine. Now on sale at all news stands at 15 cents.

A good competent physician can secure a good location if he will correspond at once with Dr. S. C. Browne, of Scio, Ore. Dr. Browne will leave Scio about the 15th of October, to take charge of a hospital at Sumpter, in Eastern Oregon and he is quite anxious to leave his practice in Scio in competent hands.

Wm. Brenner returned, last week from his annual fall hunt. His party consisted of himself, John Marrs and Mit Yeoman of Lacomb. They bagged eleven deer, very fine ones, of the male persuasion. The NEWS family can testify to the tenderness and juiciness of a loin steak of one of them, because of the courtesy of Mr. Brenner.

We will not try to hand you a gold brick and then charge you for it on something else, like some of our competitors do; but we are in a position to sell you goods for less money than anybody in this vicinity. You may ask how we can do this? We answer: We buy in car load lots, direct from the factories and pay spot cash. Come in and be convinced, before you buy elsewhere.

Height of a Flea's Jump

It is found very difficult to measure accurately the height of the flea's jump, but it far exceeds 300 times the length of the insect.

If a boy 4 feet tall, who could jump like a flea, were standing at the foot of the Eiffel Tower and wanted to trade knives with a boy at the top, he would not need to ride up on the elevator.

A man of 6 feet with proportional powers could in nine leaps reach the summit of our highest Allegheny Mountains, supposing the inclinations to measure three miles from base to peak. Returning, he would make the distance in three outward and downward leaps.

A man leaping downward a distance of 3000 feet would gain the speed of a cannon ball and be dashed to pieces. The flea, falling not more than 8 feet, comes down as lightly as a snowflake.

Thus natural laws protect the humblest forms of life and render easy the remarkable feats which we continually observe.

Granting, then, that the flea is the champion high jumper, let us seek again a long-distance leaper that can surpass the grasshoppers.

There is a curious family of insects—the Poduridae, or spring-tails—possessed of a sort of seventh leg or spring-piece, which is so placed under the body as to give the creature a powerful aid in leaping. Tests were made with various members of this family, and one tiny fellow, hardly one-fiftieth of an inch long, made a clear leap of 525 times his length. He had, of course, a great advantage in the possession of his spring-piece in performing this amazing feat. But if the toad and the kangaroo could do as well as the spring-tail in proportion to his size the toad could hop a distance of 130 feet and the kangaroo more than a quarter of a mile.

Sterilizing Vegetables

It is so easy to prepare summer vegetables for winter consumption with the help of the new wide-mouthed glass cans that many women are putting up corn on the ear, asparagus and other dainties in this way now. The bundle of asparagus is simply well washed and slipped into the glass jar, which has an opening the full width at the top. The jar is then covered and the cover clamped down with a contrivance which makes the sealing airtight. Then the whole is placed in cold water on the stove, and when the water has come slowly to a boil and then cooled off again, the sterilizing process is complete and the vegetables may be set aside on the storeroom shelf.

Administrator's Notice

To all whom it may concern:
Notice is hereby given to all whom it may concern that the undersigned has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of Fariotte Crabtree, deceased, by the county court of Linn county, Oregon; therefore, all persons having claims against said estate are hereby required to present the same with the proper vouchers to the undersigned at Scio, Oregon, within six months from the date hereof.

Dated this 14th day of October, 1910.
