An Invitation

We wish to extend a cordial invitation to our friends and patrons to call at our office at any time and would especially like to meet those whose personal acquaintance we have not yet made. We shall also, be pleased to talk with patrons of the school regarding the work of the coming year.

Daley & McDonald, proprietors of the City meat market, are pushing out into new fields and are well pleased with their patronage. They are now supplying Shelburn and have a 20 to 25 mile route by way Shelburn and Thomas, which they make twice a week and are also supplying one or two threshing crews. They claim to be selling meat at lower prices than any other town in the county and have their prices conspicuously posted so all who choose may read.

THE LINN COUNTY FAIR

Indications Are That it Will Be the Biggest and Best Fair Ever Held in the County

The management of the fair is very busy these days getting every thing in readiness for the "big event" to be held week after next. From all indications the coming fair will be the biggest and best yet held. Workmen are busy building a new fence around the race track and erecting a couple of new buildings, one of which will be used for a poultry building. The grounds and stables are to be put in first class shape and next week all parts of the grounds will be connected up with electric light wires.

Bills are being distributed which give the program for each day. Everybody are getting their work shaped so they may be able to spend several days at the fair and several have already made arrangements to camp and thus make the week a "sure enough" outing. If you haven't planned to come do so at once.

Ethel MacDonald is spending several weeks at Astoria and will take in the Centennial. She will probably return home in time for the big Linn County Fair.

Lebanon Public Schools

A full corps of teachers for the Lebanon public schools has been secured, the complete list being as follows: Superintendent, Prof. C. C. Baker; high school—Miss Lena B. Tartar, Miss Frances M. Judy and Miss Jennie Lill, eighth grade, J. J. Mason; seventh, Miss Elsie Thayer; sixth, Miss Anna McCormick; fifth, Miss Ethel Shaffer; fourth, Miss Ethel Oglesbee; third, Miss Laura Waggoner; second, Mrs. Jessie Cromwell; primary, Miss Abbie Davis and Miss Jessie Wilde; overflow teacher, Miss Kate Henderson. The date for the opening of school is September 18th.

Mill City Items

The mill company shut down Friday the 11th and sent their men to fight fire above Niagara. The danger is over. In fact one cannot make fire run in the green timber this year as the weather has been cool and cloudy. The fires have burnt much dead rubbish and made lots of smoke but have so far done little damage.

Dr. Ransom's new hospital is a fine building.

Not a week passes without one or more new buildings being started in town.

The new quarters for the butcher business of Dowling & Goodman would be a credit to a much larger town.

Lon Shephard and wife left for Eastern Oregon by way of Scio and Lebanon.

Harvesting of grain has begun. More grain will be threshed in this region than ever before.

T. B. Barnes, known to many in the valley is in better health than usual.

The mining companies and Marion county have spent many thousands of dollars for building a good road up the valley of the Elkhorn to the Black Eagle mine. No person can gain a correct impression of what has been done in the development of the mines in that region unless they make a personal visit. It is immense and what is more the "stuff" is there.

Dr. Ransom is making a fancy stock farm of the old Dick May ranch.

Ransom, Dawes, McLean and others can be seen driving their blooded stock to sulky's most any fine day.

The Scio Mining Co., have built a suspension bridge across the North Santiam two and one half miles below their mine which makes one sure-footed in crossing.

Fruit is scarce in this region. The company is rapidly rebuilding its lumber shanties.

Miss Daisy Geddes, of Eugene Bessie Lathrop, assistant principal of the high school in Broadhead, Wis., Mattie Lathrop, teacher of music in Bryn Mahr College, Pa., Sue Lathrop, a student in Eugene Business college, and Ruth Lathrop, a student of Oregon University, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Geddes a few days. The party has visited in Scio, Stayton, Newport and other points and are now collecting photos and curios in this locality before returning to their homes.

Cow Takes Joy Ride

A runaway team in Albany, last week, overtook Prof. Leatherman's cow. The cow was tossed over the team and found a seat on the double-trees. When the team was stopped five blocks beyond, "bossy" alighted and strolled leisurely homeward. Wonder what kind of beef they get at the meat markets of our county capital?

Seemed to Give Him a New Stomach

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment. I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters, Editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers

GIRL DIES ON TRAIN

Miss Lottie Weddle of Stayton, Succumbs to Epilepsy on Way Home From Newport

Miss Lottie Weddle, the 17-year-old daughter of Oren Weddle of Stayton, died Sunday night between 10 and 11 o'clock on the excursion train enroute home from Newport.

The young lady before reaching Albany had gone to the toilet in the car but was not missed by her father and two sisters, who accompanied her, until after the train had left Albany.

She was found by her sister just before the train reached Kingston about 11 o'clock Sunday night in the ladies' toilet, dead.

The young lady was subject to epileptic fits and it is presumed that she had been overcome by one of these spells.

The body was taken from the train at Kingston by her father and from there to the home at Stayton.

Newt Weddle of this city, is an uncle of the young lady.

Shelburn Sightings

Mrs. Ola Vernon and Miss Emma Wyman made a flying trip to Albany Monday.

Dennis Watkins, wife, son and daughter, were visiting H. O. Shilling and family Sunday.

Stanley Taylor, wife and daughter spent Sunday at Macleay.

Miss Nona Miller went to Macleay Sunday to spend a few days with friends.

Miss Iva Shilling is spending the week with relatives, near Jefferson.

William Churchill, son Claude and Grant Spangenberg returned from a hunting trip Monday. They were gone four days and killed two bears and two deer.

Charles Hull spent Sunday with his parents.

Mrs. A. C. Wyman who has been ill for some time is better.

Farmers are all busy with harvesting.

Still Doing Business

The Stayton Mail of last week had the Scio poultry station closed and all the business being taken to Stayton. If the local house is dead it is a pretty lively corpse judging by the business done the past week. The Mails source of information is seemingly untrustworthy as there has not even been any talk of closing. The Scio station last year did over $16,000.00 worth of business and from present prospects will greatly increase the volume of business this year. In the meantime the local manager, John Leffler, will be found at the old stand paying highest cash prices for anything in the poultry line.

Change of Time

A change in the time of the trains on the Woodburn branch of the S. P. went into effect Sunday to meet the changes on the main line. The north bound train now arrives at West Scio at 7:07 a. m., and the south bound at 7:30 p. m. This makes the evening mail reach the Post Office here twenty five minutes earlier and is a change much appreciated by the public.

Tom Quigley and wife of near Munkers, took advantage of the excursion to the coast last Sunday. Mrs. Plunkett of Munkers was another to make the trip.

A traveling outfit has been in town asking for contracts for putting up tin spouting at 13 cents a foot. Our home merchants do the same work for 11 cents a foot. Moral?

Buy it now. Now is the time to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. This remedy has no superior. For sale by all dealers

Miss Lola Myers of Pendleton was married this week to G. C. Williams, a traveling man of Baker City. The bride is a sister of Ed Myers of Scio and is well known here. Mr. and Mrs. Williams will reside in either LaGrande or Baker City.

For Sale—One-half mile east of Shelburn and 3 miles north of Scio, 10 acres of land; one-half in cultivation, rest pasture. Best of soil. Small frame house and barn, both nearly new. Good young orchard and situated in a good pleasant neighborhood. For chickens and berries, it cannot be beaten. Price $1250. For further particulars, inquire of L. W. Pomroy, Scio, Ore.

The News has made arrangements to obtain Shelburn notes each week and would like to have a regular correspondent from West Scio, Thomas, Crabtree Jordan and other localities near Scio. Any one wishing to act in this capacity will please call at the News office or write us. Items should reach us not later than Wednesday morning of each week.

One of the busiest places in town these days is the Scio flouring mill. Farmers are threshing and hauling in their grain and sometimes a string of wagons a square long are waiting for their turn to be weighed and unloaded. Since the burning of the mill at Jordan much of that territory comes to Scio to do its milling.

Riley Shelton was the recipient of an invitation to the marriage of his brother Geo. Shelton to Mrs. Callie Long of Ashland, Oregon. The bridegroom was formerly a resident of Scio and was for some time connected with the Hibler & Gill store. He was very popular and has a large number of friends here who join us in extending congratulations.

Henry Myers, Lloyd Luckenbach and Roll Morris returned Tuesday from an extended trip to the mountains where they went to fish and hunt. They report having had a fine time although the fishing was not up to former years. The number of people going to Crane Prairie the past few years has been rapidly increasing and as a result the fish are less plentiful.
