The editor does not have much to do these days but teach school, edit the paper, help out with the job work, manage the lecture course, hunt up the news and rustle for advertising. So in order that time may not hang too heavy on his hands he has been asked to move his household goods and winter's wood. He is thinking of asking City Electrician Bilyeu for a job of operating the light and water plant a few nights each week and of relieving Henry Shelton of his early morning express trip to West Scio.

Gov. Marshall of Indiana is beginning to be talked of as a compromise candidate for president by many democrats. His ability is unquestioned.

No town of like size in the state has larger or better stores than has Scio.

Be sure to read the new ads this week.

Something Good.

"Dear," said a young wife to her husband as he was leaving for the office, "won't you bring home something good for dinner this evening?" "Something good?" repeated the bewildered young husband, to whom marketing was a closed book. "Yes," repeated the wife, "something really good, you know." "Oh, yes!" he replied as a light seemed to break upon him. And he brought home the minister.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Shelburn Shots

W. E. Parker of Albany spent two days in Shelburn last week on a short visit.

The application of crushed rock to the road southeast of town has come to a close on account of the rains.

F. A. Bowman and H. Steidel went to Albany last Wednesday, the latter returning the next day.

Fred Wyman took a trip to Stayton last week.

Mrs. Stanley Taylor returned from a visit with her folks at Medford.

Mrs. A. Shanks and Mrs. Trollinger visited the Hub the latter part of the week.

LETTERS FROM OUR COUNTRY CORRESPONDENTS

Shelburn Items

Mr. Steidel made a business trip to Albany last week.

Mrs. Taylor arrived home last week from a month's visit in Southern Oregon.

Lee George has moved from the hotel back to the farm. The owner, Mr. Parker of Albany, expects to have a new proprietor soon.

Mrs. Hornback of near Albany was visiting with her sister the last of the week.

The plan for the building of a new depot is now being discussed. We all know it would be much better to have a larger depot than is here at present and we hope and expect one to be built in the near future.

Mr. Churchill and Mr. Steidel two of the school directors spent a greater part of last Thursday informing the parents of children having the epidemic, which is in the neighborhood, to keep them from school. They waited until most of the pupils were either over it or nearly so before doing anything about it.

WOOD BEE

Lacomb Items

County Surveyor Geddes came up and surveyed for several persons around Lacomb and along Crabtree creek.

Mrs. Wright mother of Rev. A. S. Wright came from Eastern Washington to make a visit.

Mrs. Wm. Downing from Mill City has been visiting friends here.

Mrs. W. J. Turnidge and son, of Crabtree paid friends a visit.

Ves Downing of Kingston dropped around to see us.

Lacomb has had fire excitement lately. Mr. Harding store and goods burned with about $2000 loss. He may rebuild. It is to be hoped he may see his way clear to go in business again.

A second fire created excitement. The roof of the Clarke house caught fire but the citizens succeeded in putting it out before any damage was done.

Grandma Clarke a pioneer of this locality was buried on the 7th inst., at Providence. She was ninety years old. Her husband who died a few years ago was ninety-two at his death. Rev. John Turnidge preached the funeral sermon. He was assisted by Reverends Smalley presiding elder of the Free Methodist church, R. Wright of the same church and Williams of the Baptist church.

Santiam Farm Topics

Dean Concer & company finished gathering all the moss last Saturday on the farm of Mrs. J. P. Crabtree near the Crabtree bridge, getting some two tons for which Concer gets $75 per ton.

Winston Young is renewing his courage and is now looking out for a new cook as his sisters have left him alone to batch.

Newton Crabtree was over to Albany Wednesday on special business, paying off the $400 mortgage on his farm.

Dean Concer the moss gatherer, who left his moss bailer and several bales of moss on a high bar in the creek became alarmed lest the rain would raise the creek. So he proceeded down the creek in his boat after dark and he was unable to manage his boat and came near getting drowned, also lost his bailer and moss, $20 damage.

Miss Dortha Smail of Crabtree while riding horse back to school was thrown and falling on one hand it was badly cut and bruised and is quite painful.

David Horsburgh taken a load of 8 fine hogs to Albany Wednesday for which he realized 8¢ cents per pound.

Roe Shelton and Cliff Griffin stirred up more perfume the other night than I could buy for $5 by getting a striped cat cornered and made war with him.

Mr. Editor if the grub is to coarse for you when you come out to the Santiam Farm we will mix in a little stewed hay for desert, so it will not hurt you.

Miss Nella Young of Crabtree who is teaching our school, and has been returning home ever night, has engaged board for the remainder of her school at the Santiam Farm as Mrs. Gaines is an aunt of her.

Santiam Farm expressed 48 pounds of onion seed Saturday to J. J. Butzer of Portland for which he pays 50 cents per pound.

Clifford Giffin was down Saturday night to an entertainment at Crabtree he reports a nice time.

As M. C. Gaines was a little short on meat last Monday so he and Eli Ramer went out on Beaver creek to catch a few suckers as M. C. had a large one and it fell back in the water so as to save it he jumped in and came near drowning. Rather warm weather to take a sweet bath.
