OUR ORCHESTRA
 The Scio Orchestra is greatly appreciated by persons from other towns and it is a common expression that they are surprised to find a town this size with so excellent an organization. We fear that too many of our citizens fail to appreciate its excellence.
 The orchestra is very liberal with its services and is always willing to help out at public exercises and school entertainments without pay. Let the public be a little more liberal with its expressions of appreciation.

 Turnidge spent a very pleasant evening at J. H. Kelleys recently freshments.

These refreshing rains which no doubt have been almost uni-

YENS YENSEN

Santiam Farm Topics

One of the residents of Crabtree accuses one of our neighbors of swiping 19 head of his fine turkeys and brought suit against him last Monday to recover damages.

Frank Smith of Lacombe, was down visiting his parents, Mr.
 and Mrs. Wm. Smith of Racoon Hollow over Wednesday night.

Mrs. Neva Sturges returned to her home in Burnes Monday.

While M. C. Gaines was gauk-ing around looking for snipes Friday, he caught his toe under a root and fell down injuring the muscles of his shoulder and had to call on Dr. Prill.

Some of Wess Kinges neighbors was out of pork, so they went to Wess's hog pen where he had some nice porkers and borrowed one as Wess had plenty but Wess did not like his style of borrowing after dark.

Limon Small gathered up a wagon load of girls and boys and went out on an old-fashion call Friday night up to Riley Montgomerys. They report having a way up old time.

The proprietor of the Santiam farm and good wife were Albany visitors over Friday night with Mrs. Rebecca Morris, sister of Mrs. Gaines.

Isaac Crabtree, living east of Scio, was over Sunday to the Santiam Farm laying in his winter supply of cabbage. He only wished a few, just three sacks full. He is still looking for a nice widow as he winked at one he passed in the road Sur-day on his way to the farm.

John Crabtree of Scio, visited his uncle and aunt at the farm.
 He was toged with his fix-up on, looking around to see if he could find some young lady who would wish to do his cooking for him as he was not cut out for a bachelor and his mother is now visiting in Idaho.

Miss Dortha Smail, who has a bad cut and bruised hand caused from being thrown from a horse about two weeks ago, is slowly improving.

Quite a crowd gathered at the home of Geo. Griffin Sunday night to bid Mrs. Neva Stures good bye and wish her a safe trip home.

Geo. Bilyeu and wife went to their son's Sunday evening to be ready for butchering his pigs Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Crabtree visited their son-in-law, Frank Summers Sunday, taking with them a large gander as a present for Thanksgiving. The gander was tied in a sack with its head out, lying back of the seat in the buggy. When all at once he was missed and they returned home but no gander could they find or hear of.
