The meeting held last Thursday evening at Assembly Hall in the interest of an industrial school fair was well attended and much enthusiasm manifested in behalf of the movement. State Supt. Alderman, Co. Supt. Jackson and Supervisor Benner all gave interesting and instructive talks on the subject. The High School orchestra furnished several musical numbers, and Miss Neva Baldshweid sang a vocal solo.

The Ladies Sewing Club met last Thursday with Mrs. R. L. DeVaney. The first of the afternoon was spent in sewing and embroidery and later the hostess invited the ladies to partake of a delicious lunch of sandwiches, pickles, tarts and cocoa. Following the refreshments, cards were distributed for a contest which was very spirited and resulted in Mrs. Don McKnight winning first prize, and Mrs. Riley Shelton the consolation prize. Before dispersing for the afternoon the ladies were asked to meet next time with Mrs. M. C. Gill and daughter Grace.

One of the most peculiar cases that has graced the docket of the Linn county circuit court was one filed late Saturday night by A. W. Roth and G. Edleman, a real estate firm in this city against one A. Kamle, to recover $275 in lieu of a commission for the sale of real estate, says the Albany Herald. According to the complaint filed it appears that Roth & Edleman had a farm for sale which the defendant Kamle contracted to purchase for the sum of $5,500 upon the condition that the real estate firm would introduce to him a woman who would become his wife. Accordingly Roth & Edleman set about to find a wife for Kamle and finally found Mrs. Emma G. Peterman to whom Kamle was introduced. Their introduction ripened into marriage on January 15. However Kamle has since failed to purchase the farm, hence the above suit was instituted. Mrs. Peterman has already survived four husbands, Mr. Peterman having been dead but two or three months when she and Mr. Kamle were united.

A "rough house" is reported to have started at the skating rink Saturday night sometime after it had opened for the evening, says the Albany Herald, and skaters were forced to flee before ever taking off their skates. Just who started the disturbance or what was the cause does not appear to be clear but about 9 o'clock patrons of the place were seen to flee. The episode is said to have grown out of rumors from time to time to the effect that the moral atmosphere of the skating rink under its present management has been unsavory and it is thought that aggrieved relatives of patrons of the place probably made up their minds to clean it out. As yet no arrests have been made. It is probable, however, that the rink will be closed as a result of Saturday night's episode.

All the latest styles in men's dress hats for spring have arrived at Wesely and Cain's.
