PORTLAND NEWS LETTER

Pacific Coast States to be "Playground of America"—New Impetus for "Made in Oregon" Campaign

Portland, Ore., March 12 (special)—A meeting to launch a movement that will make the Pacific coast states the "Playground of America" will be held in San Francisco April 2. Representatives of the Portland Rose Festival, the Seattle Potlatch, the Tacoma Montanara Feste, the Spokane National Apple Show, the Pendleton Roundup, the Vancouver, B. C., International Horse Show, the Salem Cherry Fair and all of the regular annual celebrations held in California cities will be in attendance.

The call was sent out by the management of the Rose Festival and it has met with an enthusiastic response. No definite plan of action has been offered but co-operation is to be the keynote. Each city will be asked to carry on its advertising a dateline calling attention to attractions of the other cities represented in the organization and to work together in securing national conventions and other important gatherings. It is believed that the possibilities for good in such a union are limitless.

Oregon's delegation to San Francisco on the occasion of choosing the site for its exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition was a truly representative one. It was made up of the best men and women from all parts of the state and was a fitting recognition of the high honor that has been given the state by the fair officials in the matter of the very first choice of location. So many applications to join the party were made at the Oregon Development League headquarters that the complement for a special train was soon made up. Many went by the regular trains. The special left early in the afternoon of the 12th and the site-choosing ceremony took place on the 14th. The commercial bodies of San Francisco made it known long in advance that the Oregon delegation would be royally taken care of in every way.

During the past week new impetus has been given to the Made in Oregon campaign recently started in Salem. The Manufacturers' Association of Portland gave up the entire program of its annual meeting on March 5 to this subject. Supplementing this, some of the retail merchants made attractive exhibits in their windows of Oregon-made products and the attention of the city generally was attracted to the movement. At Corvallis, on March 7, delegates from the commercial clubs of the state took part in a rousing meeting that was called for this purpose. One of the suggestions made was that communities should assist each other by a reciprocal pushing of the local products manufactured.

THANK YOU!

Under the editorial guidance of L. W. Charles, Scio now has in the Santiam News the best newspaper in its history. It is not only full of local news, but is neatly printed and the matter well classified. The Scio merchants should not only be proud of the News, but they ought to be even prouder to extend it liberal support in the way of advertising and job printing. The local newspaper is always holding up the best side of everything, in season and out.—Albany Herald.

Rev. Manley, a missionary who has recently returned from India will occupy the pulpit at the Baptist church next Sunday.

PRIZE LIST GROWS AT LEBANON

The prize list for the school children's fair to be held in Scio sometime in September, is growing to very large proportions.

Nearly all the firms of this city when asked to help with the prize list did so. But the business world is so much sought and begged for help in every line of the world's movements that it is hard for the man who donates to judge whether he is giving to a worthy object or not, so that many men are very conservative about giving until they further understand the merits of the purpose for which they give.

In the case of giving, the motive is purely for the purpose of stimulating the activities of boys and girls during the summer months and get them to work for some definite purpose.

Everyone knows the value of a boy or girl, man or woman who is able and willing to do things, and the entire aim of this move from first to last is getting the pupils to do.

In working out this matter, those in charge have tried to anticipate the various desires of the child and make the prize list accordingly.

The merchants who have contributed toward the prize list all offer tokens of their interest in the work, and the splendid gifts of these firms, together with their congratulations upon the success attained by those looking after the interests the growing generation have already achieved makes the work more of a pleasure than a burden.—Lebanon Express.

JOHNSTON-VON BEHREN

Fred J. Von Behren of Aumsville and Mrs. Flora Johnston of Scio were married at Portland on Tuesday of this week. Announcements received by their friends state that they will be at home at Aumsville after March 16.

Mr. Von Behren is a prosperous farmer of Aumsville, while Mrs. Von Behren was raised near Scio and has a host of friends in this vicinity who join the News in wishing the happy couple a long and prosperous life of wedded bliss.
