Surveys of the Columbia River, show that the entrance is growing deeper. The area of deep water is growing, apparently through the action of the river current, which, directed by the jetty, is scouring out the channel to a greater depth. Steadily improved conditions are looked for at the mouth of the river, particularly as work on the north jetty progresses.

The following story between a Texas farm renter and his mule, is sent by one of our readers:—"Bill, you're a mule, the son of a jack-ass and I'm a man made in the image of God, yet here we work hitched to each other year in and year out. I often wonder if you work for me or I work for you. Sometimes I think it is partnership between a mule and a fool. For surely I work the hardest of the two. Just now we are cultivating corn. When the crop is harvested, I give one-third to the landlord for being kind enough to let me use this corner of God's universe. The other third goes to you and what is left is my share. But while you consume all of your third, with the exception of the cobs, I divide my third between my four children and wife. And when you come to think about it, you only help to cultivate the ground. After that I cut, shock and husk it while you look over the pasture fence and he ha at me. About the only time when I'm your better is on election day for I can vote and you can't. But since I cast my ballot for the dear old democratic party which has a mule for its emblem, it may be that I am even voting for you, at least if I ever get any more out of the democrats than you did I can't see it.

Always see what you are buying before buying it. If you wish to know before buying a bill of lumber that you are going to get the very best and the most your money will buy, don't make any mistake, but bring your bill to us. We preach quality because we buy a superior stock for our trade and want everybody to know that they can buy the best from us and that it will not cost any more than ordinary lumber elsewhere.
