Some complaint is heard because young men bathing at the dam do not provide themselves with bathing suits. It is contended that all should wear suits so the pleasure of bathing at that place may be shared by men and women alike.

J D Becker of castle Rock, Wash. spent a few hours in Scio last Friday on business.

The farmers are all busy these days putting away the immense hay crop.

Most everyone who can get away are taking their annual outing, consequently things are rather quiet around town.

The cool cloudy weather the past few days has been a welcome relief from the hot days of last week.

Color of the Sea.

Poets sing of the deep blue sea, but it is not always blue. Millions upon millions of microscopic algae or sea weeds and subordinate plants give the Red sea its peculiar tint, and the Yellow sea of China is said to be colored by the deposit of the great rivers which wash down vast quantities of mud. Generally speaking, the ocean is blue in ratio to its saltness.

How Chemists Are Made.

A small glass tube blown into a bulb at one end is partly filled with mercury. The mercury is boiled to expel the air and fill the tube with mercury vapor, and then the tube is hermetically sealed and allowed to cool. The gradations are found as follows: The instrument is immersed in ice water, and the freezing point is found and is marked. Then it is placed in water, which is allowed to reach the boiling point, and so 212 degrees is found. The spaces between are marked by mathematical calculations.

The Upper Hand.

Two suffragists were talking one evening at the club.

"How is your husband?" the first asked.

"Slowly mending, thank you," the other answered.

"Slowly mending? I don't know he was ill."

"He isn't ill," the other suffragist explained, laughing heartily. "He's slowly mending my black riding breeches."—New York Tribune.

Sound Reason.

"Lend me your umbrella, dear. It's raining, and I've got to go to the vestry meeting again tonight."

"But, John, why don't you take the one you've been carrying for the last week?"

"What, to the vestry meeting? Why, that's where I got it."—Philadelphia Press.

The Mantle of Charity.

"Did he marry her for her money?" asked the girl in white.

"Well, let's be charitable and say he did," answered the girl in gray. "There's no use casting aspersions on his taste and judgment."—Chicago Post.

A Surprise For Her.

He returned to the automobile in triumph, bearing a big pitcher of sweet milk and two glasses, says the Cleveland Leader. It was more than the lady was able to consume. When he returned the glassware and asked for his bill the good woman who seemed to lose the place said, "Oh, tout a dollar will be enough, I reckon." But the urbane figured that a quarter was much more commensurate with the service and produced the coin in evidence of his sentiment. The woman took it, not without some hesitancy. "Land sakes!" she exclaimed. "Did it taste that good?"

Putting It Mildly.

"That man seems to be proud of his stupidity," said the impetuous person.

"I wouldn't put it that way," replied the conservative friend. "I'd merely suggest that when it comes to a thirst for wisdom he's a prohibitionist."—Baltimore American.

Why Point It Out?

At the art museum the sign "Hands Off" was conspicuously displayed before the statue of Venus de Milo.

A small child looked from the sign to the statue.

"Anybody could see that," she said drily.—Ladies Home Journal.

Give And Take.

Howell—Does he take things philosophically? Powell—Yes, but he doesn't part with them philosophically.—Woman's Home Companion.

True merit is like a river—the deeper it is the less noise it makes.—Hav-ut.

The Interlocking
U.S. Cream Separator
contains the four cream separator requisites in a degree unequalled by any other cream separator. They are close skimming, easy washing, easy running and durability. We offer to prove this right on your farm.

A POINTER FOR YOU

Always see what you are buying before buying it. If you wish to know before buying a bill of lumber that you are going to get the very best and the most your money will buy, don't make any mistake, but bring your bill to us. We preach quality because we buy a superior stock for our trade and want everybody to know that they can buy the best from us, and that it will not cost any more than ordinary lumber elsewhere. Quality, Price and Service is our motto.
