INTEREST is being displayed in the use of smokeless powders and jacketed bullets in large calibre rifles. A 45 calibre bullet weighing 300 grains gives a shock to large game that the small bores can not always be depended on for. Marlin Model 1895 Repeaters have "Special Smokeless Steel" barrels. Santiam Farm Topics

Miss Ella Smith of Racoon Hollow has a job of housework at Mrs Flannigan's of Crabtree.

Miss May Crabtree is working in Albany at the Home restaurant as dish washer at $7. a week.

Jacob Bilyeu and wife of Alberta Canada are now visiting relatives in Albany, Lebanon and these parts. They were old time residents of this neighborhood in their younger days of about 35 years ago, moving from Lebanon to their present home in Canada where he now has a fine farm and seems well pleased with the country as his health is so greatly improved.

The Santiam Pro. and wife were over to Albany Friday on a social visit with Mrs Rebecca Morris, a sister of Mrs Gaines'. The Pie Eater was investing in a fine Airedale dog whose parents are registered stock, as he was unable to run his garden and berries since losing his fine Spitz. Oh yes, the old man claims he found the roads equally as bad as they were 20 years ago.

Oscar Filpot, wife and children of Racoon Hollow went to Jefferson Saturday on a visit over night with old time friends and neighbors.

Miller Curl of Vale, 15 miles northwest of The Dalles, is now visiting among his relatives and old time friends. He used to be a resident of this part some 20 years ago.

Miss Leone Montgomery gave the young people of our neighborhood a nice social gathering Saturday night with a nice crowd present. They enjoyed themselves with all sorts of social games and plays, and all felt grateful for the good time and thank Miss Montgomery with all their hearts.

George Bilyeu and wife of Fairview Farm were over Sunday for a good old fashioned visit with his old pardner at the Santiam Farm. I assure you they had a time equal to the inaguaration of Pres. Wilson.

Miller Curl stayed over night at the Santiam Farm which was originally his father's old donation claim. The house was built in 1852 which Miller thinks looks very natural and home like, as he moved in when 3 years old and lived there until 21.

Mrs Smail is on the sick list this week.

NEW YORK STREET NAMES.

Many of Them Stand For Old Warriors and Churchmen.

Many of New York's city streets were named after the war of 1812 in honor of warriors who were prominent in that conflict.

There is quite a batch of these 1812 war hero thoroughfares on the east side, according to the New York Board of Brokers Bulletin, including Forsyth, named for Colonel Forsyth, wounded in Canada; Chrystie, for Lieutenant Colonel Chrystie, killed at the Niagara frontier; Eldridge, for Lieutenant Eldridge, scalpel in Canada; Allen, for Lieutenant William H. Allen, wounded in the naval fight between the Argus and the British ship Pelican; Ludlow, for Lieutenant Ludlow, killed in action between the Chesapeake and the Shannon; Pike, for General Pike, killed in the attack on Toronto in 1813. Worth street was named in honor of General Worth, killed in the Mexican war. It supplanted the earlier name of Anthony, after Anthony Rutgers, through whose farm it ran.

Were it not for the policy long ago adopted by Trinity church to give the names of its wardens and vestrymen to many streets as they were laid out from time to time through the broad acres of its church farm more than one of the great leaders in the early mercantile and social life of the city would now be forgotten.

These commemorate the activities of Gabriel Ludlow, Matthew Clarkson, Colonel Bayard, John Reade, Joseph Murray, John Chambers, Stephen De Lancey, Robert Watts, Elias Desbrosses, Edward Laight, Dr. John Charlton, Humphrey Jones, Anthony Lispenard, George Morgan Lewis, Thomas Barrow, Jacob Leroy, Frank Dominick, John Clark, Rufus King, the Rev. Dr. Beach and that worthy old Dutchman, Rip Van Dam.

Imagination.

That imagination often lights the way to discoveries that would never be made by matter of fact plodding has proved true over and over again. Illustrations of this in the history of chemical science are quite as numerous as in other fields of discovery. In this connection the Journal of the American Medical Association calls to mind that oxygen was merely a principle to Lavoisier in 1777 and that when, a century later, it was produced in liquefied form "the metaphor had become a reality." When Harvey was writing of the blood he wondered whether there might not be motion, as it were, in a circle, the Journal says "he expressed in metaphoric language what only later became the fact of the circulation which was given visible demonstration by Malpighi," and adds, "the fabric of progress is woven from legitimate dreams to a greater extent than the practical man is wont to realize or is willing to admit."

Renan's Chance.

Claire de Pratz in her book, "France From Within," brings out a new story of Renan. Mme. Aubernon at her Friday dinners had a rule that every one at table should take part in the conversation. Renan tried to interrupt the speech of one of his fellow diners. "Wait, wait!" cried Mme. Renan, "you will have your turn." Renan was silent until near the close of the feast. "Now, dear master," said Mme. Aubernon, with a smile, "will you tell us what you were going to say just now?" "Oh," said Renan, "it was quite unimportant. I merely wished to ask you for another helping of green peas."

Humidity.

Humidity is a term which is often used without a definite understanding of what it means. It refers always, of course, to the moisture in the atmosphere, but does not always mean the same proportion. There is at all times some moisture in the air, and the amount expressed in the number of grains to the cubic foot of air is the absolute humidity, a term seldom used. When we speak of it we usually mean the relative humidity, which is the difference between the amount of moisture in the air and the amount it could hold at the present temperature if it were saturated.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Diamond Polishing.

Diamond polishing was invented by Ludwig von Berkem, a Belgian, in 1475.
