LETTERS FROM OUR COUNTRY CORRESPONDENTS

SANTIAM FARM TOPICS.

The continued rain of the past week is becoming somewhat monotonous as it is now doing more harm than good, although it it is fine on late sown spring ...

... milk wagon had to put on four horses Sunday to make the trip as the road had become so wet and muddy.

Some good hearted neighbor of M C Gaines, to amuse himself and interest M C, while the latter was away from home, administered a dose of strychnine to each of his fine stock dogs which soon finished them, as M C found them dying on his return home. He was half mad and pawed the air with both hind feet and I would not be surprised if he got some of the English language a little mixed with his prayer for his friend's kindness.

Uncle Tom Smail is now converting all his crop of strawberries into wine, as the price will not justify selling. He is putting up 40 gallons for his own use. Mrs Smail is still laid up with her back which was injured a few weeks ago.

Geo Glass' daughters of Grass Valley who have been down on a visir with their grandmother Mrs Turner the past week returned home Saturday. They reported a pleasant time while in the valley.

John Smallman who has been visiting among us the past week returned to Stayton to visit friends for a week before the 4th when he will return to his home at Astoria.

The Pie Eater was over Sunday afternoon visiting with his son M C who is making some repairs on his barns in the way of getting ready for harvest.

The old man who lives on the Santiam Farm robbed his three stands of bees Monday and took out 75 pound of the finest honey he has had for years. It is not bad to take for breakfast.

PIE EATER.

All Checks Up To $5.00 Count

If you fail to bring in your checks on July 1, do not get sore if someone gets the fireless cooker for 50c or $1, worth of checks when you have $25. or more of them, for the checks have to be returned on that date and the largest amount returned gets the Cooker. Have your checks added up so you will know how much you return.—N I Morrison.

Moving picture show Sunday evening at Wesely-Cain Hall.

Take Plenty of Time to Eat.

There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow suicide." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and insalivated. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.

SHELBURN ITEMS.

Rev E Blair was entertained at the home of W H McLain over Sunday. He is the new minister on this work and intends to preach here the third Sabbath of each month.

Mr Hoagland made a business trip to Bandon last week.

Clair and Gertrude McLain returned home Monday from a two weeks' visit in Benton county.

Mrs Porter received a very pleasant surprise Monday when her brother arrived to visit her.

Glen Shilling is putting in new telegraph poles along the C & E track.

Mrs Carey went to the Hub Monday.

Earnest Brant now intends to rebuild his mill which burned not long ago, as soon as he can do so.

Wm Churchill sawed wood for Mr Shilling and Asa Hirons the first of the week.

Lewis Meier broke his left arm Thursday by being thrown from a ho se,

Mrs Meizer and children returned from Albany Monday.

Mrs Shelley and children, excepting Lawrence and Jesse went to Albany Wednesday to visit Mrs Hornbach.

Moisture, Heat and Mildew In India.

The rainfall in India, which all takes place within four or five months, contributes largely in giving to the climate its peculiar character. The effect of heavy and continuous rain in the tropics is to produce a dampness in the air quite unknown in Europe and which is very destructive to many articles of European manufacture. The moisture and heat combined set up all kinds of fungoid growth and decay in goods which are quite unaffected by the climatic conditions of Europe. Mildew attacks textile goods, leather, books and stationery. Arms, cutlery and metal work require constant supervision to preserve them. European furniture of wood is soon spoiled by swelling and shrinkage or by borer worms. Perishable goods soldered up in tin lined cases are not safe if they have been packed in Europe in wet weather. The heat of the ship's hold in the Red sea or that of a closed iron wagon on the Indian railways, when the iron may acquire a temperature of 160 degrees in the sun, will start mildew in the case by the aid of the moisture within it.—New York Post.

Enlivened the Scene.

One night the father of Kitty Stephens, who afterward became Countess of Essex, went on the stage between the acts and was standing close to the drop scene, with his back to it, when the stage manager gave the signal for the raising of the curtain. Slowly the cloth went up, and as it rose the coattails of Mr Stephens became involved in the roller, and, feeling himself caught, he began to struggle for freedom. His efforts were unavailing, however, and when the roller reached the top there was he in full view of the audience, suspended by his coattails, his head and feet downward, his figure resembling a half open knife. Then the stage hands became alive to the situation and the drop scene was lowered again amid the boisterous merriment of the audience, the sounds of hilarity increasing as the victim, almost black in the face, landed on his hands and knees on the stage and crept into the wings.—London Mail.

Queer Eskimo Customs.

Every ten years the Eskimos hold the dance to the dead, when ghosts are supposed to come out of their coffins and visit the Kos-ga, where they are given a feast, and retire well filled for another ten years. Sometimes the food is taken to the burying ground to save the spirits the trouble of moving. When a child is born among the islanders it takes the name of the last deceased member of the family, and on it devolves the duty of feeding its foster father's spirit. The Eskimos have a horror of being childless because their spirits will languish and their name be forgotten. As they say: "S'pose no mik-a-nina (children)—ghost plenty hungry." Often an Eskimo will beggar himself, giving a great feast in honor of his illustrious ancestor, but he gains great renown thereby and places all his visitors under lifelong obligations to him.—Wide World Magazine.

The Poor Little Girl In the Story.

"Time was," said Lucinda, "that the poor heroine in the story when she had a bid to a party got out her one poor old white dress and wore that. It was old, and it was worn and shabby, but she let out a tuck or two, cleaned it and pressed it and put on a new bow, and in that poor dress thus refurbished she was the belle of the ball.

"But the poor girl couldn't do that now. No, no. In these days she would simply have to be in the fashion, and everybody nowadays, rich and poor, seems to have good clothes, too—good, as well as in the style. I don't know how they do it, but they do. Oh, my, no! The poor girl couldn't ... old dress now. But I ... about her in the story." ... Sun.

An Eye to Safety.

"Captain," said a wealthy passenger, who was about to take his first trip across the ocean, "I understand this ship has got several water tight compartments."

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"Captain," the passenger went on, decidedly, "I want one o' those compartments, I don't care what it costs."—London Telegraph.

Handel's Retort.

A vocalist of the eighteenth century called Gordon accused Handel of accompanying him badly and said if he did not change his style he would jump on the harpsichord and smash it. "Let me know ven you vill do dat," was the reply, "and I advertise. I am sure more people vill come to see you jump dan to hear you sing!"

Troubles of an Amateur.

"I thought you had gone to raising bees," said the man from the city. "I don't see any sign of them around here."

"I had half a dozen colonies of the finest bees I could get," answered the suburbanite, "and a whole library on bee raising, but they swarmed one day, and while I was looking through my books to find out what was the proper thing to do when bees swarmed the blamed things flew away, and I've never seen 'em since."—Chicago Tribune.

Leprosy.

Sir George Turner is reported to have said that, though leprosy is usually spread by contagion, most lepers are not nearly so dangerous to the public as a person suffering from consumption.

Very Judicious.

"They tell me he's a tightwad."

"Not exactly that, but he's judicious in his expenditures. He's prompt about paying the carfare, and that puts it up to you to pay for lunch."—Pittsburgh Post.

Better Still.

"No woman knows how to drive a nail."

"And what of that? Every woman knows how to drive a man any way she wants him to go."—Washington Herald.

It's Pretty Hard.

Teaching a calf to drink out of a pail is an elementary performance compared with some others. The most difficult feat is that of matching up a half worn coat with a new pair of trousers. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Our readers will notice the first of a series of advertisements to be published in the Santiam News by Albany College. During the last year this institution was successful in raising an endowment fund of $250,000, the worth of the college having been recognized by James J Hill, who promised $25,000 as his own personal gift. As the growth of this institution is of advantage to the whole of Linn county, our young people are recommended to consider what it offers in the way of higher education.
