A man in Iowa was soundly thrashed by his wife last week for not paying his newspaper subscription after she had given him the cash to do it. May her crown be trimmed to order and her harp have an extra string.

Do you know what kills a town? Here it is: It is when some poor, miserable, dwarfed soul tries to put it in his pocket. While it looks foolish many good towns are run right into the ground by just such parties.

If, perchance, a copy of this paper should fall into the hands of any who are in search of a new location—a place where you can live out your allotted number of years without the fear of pestilence or famine, we say like one of old, "Come thou with us and we will do you good," with emphasis on the "do."

If your neighbor is prosperous let him prosper. Don't grunt, growl or grumble. Say a good word for him and let it go at that. Don't be a knocker. Your turn will come. No one man is the whole show. If you see that the town is moving along nicely, feel good about it. Help things along. Shove a little. Try to get some of the benefit yourself. Don't stand around like a silly old cadaver. Don't waste your time feeling sore because some fellow has a little more sand and sense than you have. Do a little hustling yourself. Don't be a knocker.

Don't be a chump. Give your trade to the merchants who keep store the year round. Buy of the man who stands at your side at the tax collector's counter. Buy of the man who is your neighbor, your acquaintance, your friend. Buy of the man who is a factor in the town you live in, who helps to make a market for the things you have to sell. Buy of the home merchant that advertises in the newspaper.

Newspaper advertising tends to lower the cost of living, according to the consensus of opinion voiced by speakers at the luncheon given by the Hawkeye Fellowship Club in Chicago. If it were not for advertising the public would be bankrupt as the result of soaring prices, it was asserted. The relation of newspaper advertising to the high cost of living was summarized by the speakers as follows: It decreases living expenses. It increases the volume of sale. In increased sales to the consumer, lower prices. Advertisements tell people where to buy cheapest. Bargains would go begging were it not for advertising. Advertisements are cheaper than high-carried drummers.

Page licenses were issued to Nickolas A. Oppel and J. H. Metz, both of Scio, and of Mill City.
