Beats Up Child

Several of our citizens were treated to a sight Tuesday afternoon that made their blood boil, when I Hoagland, who is doing the foundation work for the new concrete buildings on Main street became displeased with his 12 year old son over some trivial matter and commenced beating the child over the head and shoulders with a board about three feet long. The boy's screams could be heard for a block.

Chas. Wesely who witnessed the brutal action from his store went over and told Hoagland in a gentlemanly way that he would be held accountable before the law if he ever repeated such actions on the street, whereupon Mr Hoagland turned the vials of his wrath upon Mr Wesely and cursed him, without seriously frightening the latter gentleman, however.

It has been a matter of adverse criticism for several days among some of our people, the way Mr Hoagland makes the boy work, as it is contrary to the child labor laws of the state.

Horses Take Spin

R W Clark and Mr Young of West Scio were the victims of a runaway on Main street Monday morning when the former's team behind which they were riding, became frightened and took a spin up the street, winding up on the gravel pile, where the concrete buildings are going up between the bank and the drug store. The buggy was overturned and pretty badly demolished and both old gentlemen were severely shaken up in the spill, but fortunately, neither was seriously injured.

A chicken dinner will be served Sunday at the Scio Hotel.

Florsheim shoes for men are in a class by themselves

Mr and Mrs L H Rice and baby came up from Portland Sunday evening for a visit at the home of his father, David Rice. Mr Rice is an engraver, having drawn the maps for the Oregon Almanac which was issued by the state immigration board a few months ago.

A Good Investment.

W D Magli, a well known merchant of Whittemound, Wis, bought a stock of Chamberlain's medicine so as to be able to supply them to his customers. After receiving them he was himself taken sick and says that one small bottle of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy was worth more to him than the cost of his entire stock of these medicines. For sale by all dealers.

STARTING IN BUSINESS

AN eminently successful man gives as a basis of modern big business success three words, "Organize, Deputize, Systemize." There is no question but that success could be thus attained in any line of business.

When a man has determined to embark in a retail business he will know several things if he is wise. He will know how much he intends to invest in business, what his expenses will be, what his margin of profit will be and the amount of business he may reasonably expect to do. The better he knows each of these the stronger will be his organization, the surer and more certain will be his success.

After he has acquired a knowledge of his business and is open for business, the first great problem that confronts him is how to get business—in fact the problem of getting and holding business is the greatest problem in the retail world today.

The problem of getting business looks easy to the inexperienced but is in fact most difficult. A merchant may start out personally to drum up business, but he soon finds this very expensive. The enterprising merchant will soon find this very expensive. The enterprising merchant will soon learn it is far cheaper and more feasible to deputize someone or force to assist, under his careful supervision, in the task of getting business.

What medium to use is a matter for each merchant to settle for himself, but if we are to judge future success by past success there is no question that the local newspaper is the cheapest and best medium to use in getting and holding business, all things considered.

Chas. Warner and Dr A G Prill of Scio, F J Stickley of Albany and R C Winter, Dr Campbell and Oscar Overbeck of Portland will leave Saturday morning for a ten days outing at Camp Prill in the Cascade mountains.

Sixteen head of goats for sale at $1.50 per head; six wethers and ten nannies—six kids go with nannies.—A Groulick. 1

Surprising Cure for Stomach Trouble

When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs G Stengle, Plainfield, N J writes, "For over a month past I have been troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate upset it terribly. One of Chamberlain's advertising booklets came to me. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and can now eat almost everything that I want. For sale by all dealers."

Your Right to Stop a Paper

Every man has a right to take a paper or stop it for any reason or for no reason at all, but at the same time there is a certain responsibility attached to all actions, even so trivial as stopping a paper because the editor says something one doesn't agree with. There is a complaint that editors lack fearlessness and honesty, that newspapers are too generally mere partisan organs that disregard the claims of truth and justice when political interests are at stake. There is too much truth in the charge! But let us ask how it is possible for a fearless, honest, outspoken journal to live if every man is to cry out "stop my paper" whenever he reads something that does not accord with his views? The men that insist that the paper they read shall never say anything contrary to their views are the ones who, in a large measure, are responsible for the craven cowardliness and the weather cock propensities of modern journalism. In a community composed entirely of these "stop my paper" people, true independent journalism would be an impossibility. When you are convinced that a paper is dishonest and deceitful, stop it. When convinced that it is unclean, stop it. When it lacks enterprise and fails to give you news, stop it. But don't stop a paper that you believe to be honest, enterprising, clean and courageous, simply because the editor has written his own sincere views instead of yours or some other person's; for if you do, you are putting a premium on insincere journalism and serving notice on an editor that the way to succeed is to write what he thinks will please his readers instead of what he thinks is honestly the truth.

Call and see that new Fountain Pen that Hagey, the jeweler, has just received. It is an automatic filler and is non-leakable and is one of the best that we have ever seen.

Causes of Stomach Troubles.

Sedentary habits, lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient mastication of food, constipation, a torpid liver, worry and anxiety, overeating, partaking of food and drink not suited to your age and occupation. Correct your habits and take Chamberlain's tablets and you will soon be well again. For sale by all dealers.

I have a car of buggies, hacks, surreys and wagons that has just arrived. Call and examine them. They may be just a little foxy for you, but the price is right.—N I Morrison, Scio, Ore.

The Best Medicine in the World.

My little girl had dysentery very bad. I thought she would die. Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy cured her, and I can truthfully say that I think it is the best medicine in the world, writes Mrs William Orvis, Clare, Mich. For sale by all dealers.

Ladies Calling Cards printed or blank for sale at this office.
