Strong Emotion.

Five-year-old Billy was swinging on the front gate. "How's mother this morning?" asked a passing neighbor cheerily. Billy looked serious. "I don't think she feels very good. Mrs. Brown. Her bestest roo-bush is dyin' and she had to use lots of emotion."

Mrs. Brown looked sympathetic, but puzzled. "Poor mother! Did it really make her cry?"

"No!" with scornful emphasis. "She just putted some soapuds on her nose on the book to kill the bad little bugs."

"Oh, yes, emotion?" said the questioner as the light dawned upon her. "That's what I said," explained Billy patiently. "Kerosene emotion."—Los Angeles Times.

Beethoven's Oddities.

Beethoven used the smallest for a toothpick. It was one of his peculiarities that he never allowed his servant to enter his study. He insisted that this room should remain exactly as he left it, no matter how deeply the dust lay on the precious musical manuscripts. He seldom looked in the glass when he tied his stock. Half the time he forgot to brush his hair. Every morning he carefully counted out seventeen beans from the coffee canister. These served for his breakfast. When he composed he would pour cold water over his hands, and often people below him would complain of the water that soaked through his floor.

Describing a Railroad.

The Pall Mall Gazette in 1880 asked its readers to name the worst railway in England. And one English kicker answered thus: "Sir—The Southeastern railway is the very worst railway in the world. The engines are automatic. Its lamps are trimmed by foolish virgins. Its fares are excessive. Its carriages let in the snow in winter and are furnace in summer. Its motto is unpunctuality. Its principal station is approached through the neck of a bottle. It ruins the temper, destroys the digestion and enables one to realize the horrors of Dante's 'Inferno' I am, sir, yours obediently, the Worm Who Turns."

The First Gas Tubes.

William Murdoch, a Scottish mining engineer, appears to have been the first to suggest that gas might be conveyed in tubes and used instead of lamps and candles. He made a very ingenious gas lantern for himself, with which he used to light his way over the Cornish moors at night. This lantern consisted of a bag filled with gas and fitted with a tube, at the end of which the gas could be lighted. Carrying the bag under his arm, Murdoch used to light his way home at night. On meeting any one he would give the bag a squeeze and thus send out a long tongue of flame. This led to his being looked upon as the demon of the Cornish moors.

LOOK TO TODAY.

Know thou, my heart, if thou art not happy today thou shalt never be happy. Today it is given thee to be patient, unselfish, purposeful, to be strong, eager and to work manfully. If thou dost these things, and doest them with a grateful heart, thou shalt be as happy as it is given man to be on earth.—Havergal.

His Impression.

"What were her reasons for refusing you?"

"Well, it sounded like an essay on eugenics, genealogy and finance."—Judge.

Charity.

The kind of charity that should be seen at home is not the kind that cuts slits in being kind to yourself.—Phil delphia Ledger.

The secret of success is constancy of purpose.—Lord Beaconsfield.

Dear Sir:--

We have a "Liver Salts" that has given such universal satisfaction in such trouble as sick headache, sour stomach, constipation, sleepless nights and all those ailments caused from indigestion, that we want to call your attention to them. First let us assure you that these salts are absolutely harmless; nothing like the strong cathartics that in many cases do more harm than good. They are a simple remedy for a common trouble, but wonderful in their results.

If you are ever bothered with any of the above ailments we feel sure it would pay you to try a bottle. We have had such wonderful reports regarding the benefit derived from these salts that we do not hesitate to recommend them to our patrons, and to absolutely guarantee them to give satisfaction or we will refund your money.

Unlike the ordinary salts they are very pleasant to take. A tablespoon-full in a glass of water before breakfast makes a delightful, refreshing drink and tones up the whole system. Remember they are absolutely harmless. Price 50c per bottle.

Thanking you for past favors, we remain,

Yours very truly,

E. C. Peery
