Sized Them Up.

A well esteemed preacher in a community that was rather notorious for the stinginess of its inhabitants, according to Lippincott's, suddenly announced his resignation, and the deacons immediately sought him out for his reasons.

"My decision has been brought out by the negligence of my congregation," announced the divine.

"Why, sir," protested one of the hearers, "I can't see how you can accuse us of negligence. The church is crowded every Sunday."

"Oh, yes," agreed the preacher, "but what I accuse them of is contributory negligence."

They All Write.

"The Rousmittens are a literary family, aren't they?"

"Yes, they have a common genius."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Well, the son writes plays that nobody will act; the daughter writes poetry that nobody will print, and the mother writes novels that nobody will read."

"Does the father write anything?"

"Sure! Papa writes checks that nobody will cash."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Identified Himself.

The great tenor Mario once had to give a free exhibition of his magnificent vocal power in court in order to gain freedom for himself. He had been arrested in Madrid in mistake for a mischievous political agitator and in vain proclaimed his identity to the powers that be. Finally he was told that if he really was the famous singer his voice was a certain means of convincing the court of the truth of his claim. For seven or eight minutes Mario held all within hearing spellbound, and he was then allowed to take his departure, with profuse apologies for his arrest and detention.

The Poor Little Girl in the Story.

"Time was," said Lucinda, "that the poor heroine in the story when she had a bid to a party got out her one poor old white dress and wore that. It was old, and it was worn and shabby, but she let out a tuck or two, cleaned it and pressed it and put on a new bow, and in that poor dress thus refurbished she was the belle of the ball."

"But the poor girl couldn't do that now. No, no. In these days she would simply have to be in the fashion, and everybody nowadays, rich and poor, seems to have good clothes, too—good, as well as in the style. I don't know how they do it, but they do. Oh, my, no! The poor girl couldn't wear that old dress now. But I love to read about her in the story."—New York Sun.

Gasoline Evaporates Rapidly.

One pint of gasoline left in an uncovered basin in a room at a normal or average temperature will entirely evaporate within twenty-four hours. As gasoline vapor is denser than the surrounding air, unless disturbed by active air currents, its presence in the room may be detected for many hours. One pint of gasoline will make 200 cubic feet of explosive mixture, and this mixture is seven times more powerful than gunpowder.—Popular Mechanics.

Touching.

Mr. Newtlywed (reading letter from his wife at seaside)—My own darling—a thousand kisses—could you send me $50 at once? Thank you so much. I won't ask for any more until I write again. I will try and make that last until I need some more. If you could send me $75 instead of $50 it would save me writing before next week. I have to pay 2 cents for every stamp I use. The extortion of these hotel keepers is something frightful. Good-by, lovey.—Brooklyn Citizen.

Scared Her.

"Why has your wife decided to give up the European trip she was contemplating?"

"She happened to hear somebody say that traveled broadened one."—Chicago Record-Herald.

It Often Comes.

In a Scotch Sunday school the lady teacher, after speaking on the subject of death, asked, "And what comes after death?" Instantly a bright little girl called out eagerly, "A fight about the money."

BE THOROUGH.

Rare as epic song is the man who is thorough in what he does. And happily so; for in life he subjugates us and makes us bondmen to his ashes.—George Meredith.
