Merry Moments

As We Journey Through Life Let Us Laugh
by the Way

Not Any More.

They were gazing out of the window of the Pullman car. The thin man was rapturously admiring the sunset.

"Ah, nature is a real artist," exclaimed the thin man, addressing the fat man who sat in the opposite seat. "Have you never gazed at her wonders? Have you never watched the lambent flame of dawn life leaping across the dome of the world? Have you never watched the red stained islets floating in lakes of fire? Have you never been drawn by the ragged, raven's wing, sky phantoms as they blotted out the pale moon? Have you never felt the amazement of these things?"

"Not since I swore off," replied the fat man as he prepared to hunt another seat.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Still So.

He—I have had some very trying experiences in my time. I was struck senseless once.

She—And when do you expect to recover?—Philadelphia Press.

Suitable For Umpires.

"Ball players are going into vaudeville right along."

"They are."

"I'm an umpire. I wonder if I couldn't break in?"

"Why not? You'd be just the man to open the bill while the orchestra is tuning up and the audience is banging the seats. It's a thankless job."—Washington Herald.

Consolation In Defeat.

"Is it true that both your husband and the man who lives next door to you have failed in business?"

"Yes, but Ned's failure isn't nearly so bad as Mr. Naylor's. He failed for 50 cents on the dollar, while my husband failed for only 10 cents on the dollar."—Boston Transcript.

Getting Her Money's Worth.

Mrs. Gimp—Don't you find Dr. Soakum's charges rather steep?

Mrs. Simp—Yes, I do; but, then, he always gives such dignified and impressive names to the most ordinary ailments that it is really a pleasure to be ill and go to him for treatment.—Springfield Union.

Exchange of Courtesies.

The Creditor—I trust that you will honor me with a check today.

The Delinquent—Sure thing! But who'll honor the check?—Chicago Daily News.

A Calculating Person.

"I know a man who never takes a step without consideration of the weight attached to it."

"He must be a remarkably thoughtful man. Who is he?"

"A convict with a ball and chain."—Baltimore American.
