

LETTERS FROM OUR COUNTRY CORRESPONDENTS

SHELburn ITEMS

Mrs Alfred Blatchford spent the week end in Portland with home folks.

Mrs Steidel went to Albany Monday to work for Mrs Stanley Taylor.

The people of this district are going to work the river road Friday. The ladies will serve lunch and hot coffee in Bennett's grove. Everyone is invited to be present and help make the affair a success.

Alfred Blatchford visited in Albany Sunday with his parents. His father has been ill for some time with blood poison, but now seems to be recovering some what.

The infant child of Jim Trolinger and wife was quite ill the first of the week.

Asa Hirons took a load of men to Albany Tuesday on business of this road district.

There will be preaching at the Presbyterian church Sunday, both morning and evening.

We were all very glad to know that our friend and neighbor, R M Russell, received the nomination for County Clerk in this county.

Mrs Claude Churchill was taken very ill last Friday. It seems that an operation is the only hope for her permanent recovery.

Mr Prescott of Lebanon came up Sunday to visit his uncle, Fred Gooch.

Miss Gertude McLain went to Mill City, Wednesday to visit with Miss Nelda Wendt who is ill.

Sick Headache

Mrs A L Luckie, East Rochester, N Y, was a victim of sick headache and despondency, caused by a badly weakened and debilitated condition of her stomach, when she began taking Chamberlain's tablets. She says "I found them pleasant to take, also mild and effective. In a few weeks time I was restored to my former good health." For sale by all dealers.

When in need of printing give the News office a call. First class work and prices right. We make a specialty of letter heads, envelopes, statements, bill heads, sale bills, business cards, ladies calling cards, and in fact commercial printing of all kinds.

For a Torpid Liver

"I have used Chamberlain's tablets off and on for the past six years whenever my liver showed signs of being in a disordered condition. They have always acted quickly and given me the desired relief," writes Mrs F H Trubus, Springfield, N Y. For sale by all dealers.

SANTIAM FARM TOPICS

Tom Smail was over to attend the grand rally of the Masons at Stayton Saturday night.

I learned through Art Gaines who is building and engineering a flume from a sawmill some two miles east of Eda Bilyeu on Roger Mt that he will complete the flume to the Billy Arnold farm about June 10.

Strawberries—At the old reliable Santiam berry farm after Sunday, the 10th, at reasonable prices—20c on the vines, 25c picked. All are assured good measure and first class Oregon berries. So come and be assured of good treatment and fair dealings.—S W Gaines.

Mrs M C Gaines is nicely improving from her severe sickness and has dismissed the nurse.

G A Griffin made a killing Sunday by selling ten head of yearling calves at $37.50, which is a fair indication that cattle are getting scarce.

Mrs Geo Bilyeu and daughter Jessie drove over Sunday for a visit with Mr Bilyeu's son Eda and family.

Fred Sturges says they are jerking some 300 cords of wood out of Thomas creek each week.

David Horseburgh is improving his farm in looks and for stock raising by slashing off his brush land, making the wood pay all the bills, and as he is long headed on stock raising, all look out for your calves, as a $10 calf well cared for is worth from $40 to $50 in two years. You can't beat it at anything else.

As some of the Scio people are bucking the Pie Eater and swear vengeance on him, saying they will buy nothing of him, the old man is as independent as a hog on ice, as he never wishes to sell to people who can do better elsewhere. I will sell strawberries after the 23rd inst in the patch at 15c per gallon; 20c picked and delivered. Always good measure.

PIE EATER.

Whooping Cough

"About a year ago my three boys had whooping cough and I found Chamberlain's cough remedy the only one that would relieve their coughing and whooping spells. I continued this treatment and was surprised to find that it cured the disease in a very short time," writes Mrs Archie Dalrymple, Crooksville, Ohio. For sale by all dealers.

FREAK OF A WRECK AT SEA.

Singular Drift of a Ship That Was Cut Completely in Two.

In June, 1892, the German steamship Trave and the ship Fred B. Taylor were in collision about 100 miles southeast of Nantucket, and the Taylor was completely cut in two, so that the bow and the stern parts floated apart. That was a singular thing in itself, but the subsequent behavior of the divided halves was more singular still. Since they floated in a part of the ocean that is much frequented each section of the Taylor was sighted more than a score of times by passing vessels within a few weeks after the accident, and the compilers of the pilot charts at Washington took advantage of that fact to trace the different courses carefully.

Contrary to all probability, the severed parts of the wrecked ship immediately began to drift in opposite directions. The bow started off toward the southwest, while the stern drifted toward the east. Finally the bow began to follow the outline of the coast, keeping about 100 miles away, its course turning rapidly southward to correspond with the sharp bend in the shore line at New York bay. On Aug. 26 it was 100 miles east of Cape Henlopen, at the entrance to Delaware bay, and some 400 miles from the spot where the collision occurred.

In the meantime the stern, after starting toward the east, turned northward, passed Boston 100 miles off the coast on July 9, and having approached within a few miles of Matinicus island sheered off to the west and went ashore at Wells beach, on the coast of Maine, on Aug. 7. The length of its wandering course was about 450 miles.

Why did two parts of the same ship thus move in nearly opposite directions? It appears that the shape of the stern portion of the wrecked vessel was such as to present a much larger area to the wind than the bow portion offered. The latter was little influenced by the wind, but obeyed the drift of the ocean water. Between the gulf stream and the American coast there is a current of relatively cold water that flows from the north, and it was this current that carried the bow of the ship along the coast toward the south.

The stern, on the other hand, rising higher out of the water, was seized by the winds, whose general course was from the southwest and south. They prevailed over the ocean current and sent the stern drifting farther and farther north.—Youth's Companion.
