PUBLIC LOVE LETTERS.

They Make Nice Reading in the Papers of Southern Italy.

The advertising columns of newspapers in southern Italy contain much curious matter of a personal sort. The printed love letters that are published in this way always fill the foreigner with wonder, although he may have a respect for the sentiment that prompts a lover to pay for the publication of his sentiment. To understand them one must understand the character of the people.

The following letter, which was published in the Ora of Palermo, contained 174 words, which, at the advertised rate, would cost $1.74, a fair sum for a poor lover to pay. The letter translated runs:

"Dearest Little One—What have I done to thee? Why this silence after thy promise? I experience from it a grief so violent that it renders me helpless.

"Thou art good, my Santuzza, as good as dear. Thou knowest that this makes me suffer. Why dost thou do it? Thou knowest how I love thee—that thou art my reliance. Have I offended thee?"

"I seek intense occupation to keep me calm, but a thousand thoughts gnaw my soul. Perhaps, while you amuse yourself, you do not know how your silence agitates me. Dear madonna mine, darling, my best joy, do not forget me. Thou art my life, all there is for me, my good Santuzza.

"I could not longer live without thee. Forgive me if I have offended thee in any way, blessed little bird. Here all is as if thou wert to arrive at any moment. I seek to create for myself this most beautiful illusion, ever speaking to thee, vainly expecting news from thee with every post with a violently beating heart.

"Do not believe me bad; I love thee so much. I am insane to hear once more thy dear, enchanting voice."

In the issue of the paper mentioned there were eleven letters of this kind, about the average number for a Palermo paper. Such letters are found in all Italian papers, but as one proceeds north they become more and more brief, until, in Milan, one line in the "agony column" suffices to express the lover's anguish.

A style which to Americans seems theatrical to a degree is perfectly natural to an Italian. He will, it is said, write exactly this sort of love letter in private.

Warwick the Kingmaker.

The Earl of Warwick, commonly called the "kingmaker," from the faculty with which he created and deposed monarchs during the contest between the houses of York and Lancaster, lived in a style of magnificence and hospitality of which no other period furnishes an example. No less than 30,000 persons are said to have lived at his board in the different manors and castles which he possessed, and the military, allured by his hospitality as well as his bravery, were strongly attached to his interests. This distinguished warrior fell at the battle of Barnet in 1471, when, owing to the mistake of one part of his army falling upon the other during a fog, he was defeated by Edward IV.

Whist Hands.

Every person when he takes up his cards at a game of whist holds one out of 635,013,559,000 possible hands. As for the total number of variations possible among all players, it is so enormous as almost to exceed belief. Mr. Babbage calculated that if 1,000,000 men were to be engaged dealing cards at the rate of one deal every minute, day and night, for 100,000,000 years they would not have exhausted all the possible variations of the cards, but only one one-hundred thousandth part of them.

The X Ray.

It was on the 8th day of October, 1895, that Professor W. C. Roentgen, while experimenting with a Crookes vacuum tube, electrically excited and enveloped in a black covering, observed that some of the rays proceeding from the tube passed through the black paper and affected a fluorescent screen at a distance of some six feet away. That was the beginning of our knowledge of the powers of the so called X ray—a knowledge that has been of such incalculable value to us in so many ways.

Your Farm Needs this Outfit

The combination of a Sterling thresher with an I H C gasoline engine, both mounted on one truck, is one of the biggest expense-reducing and labor-saving combinations ever brought to your attention. With this outfit, you can do your threshing practically alone, so little help is required. You can also do small jobs for your neighbors and in this way pay for the outfit. When threshing is over, you can dismount the thresher and mount a saw in its place. Or, you can belt the 4 or 6-horse power engine to a pump, corn sheller, grinder, etc., in fact, use the engine for a large variety of purposes.

The Sterling thresher is so practical and easy to handle that a boy can attend to all duties connected with the threshing operation.

IT WILL THRESH

Wheat, Rye, Oats, Barley, Buckwheat, Kaffir Corn, Sorghum, Flax, Grass Seed, Beans, Cowpeas, Soy Beans and Peanuts.

The Sterling is built with the following sizes of cylinder and separator respectively: 21 x 28", 21 x 33", 26 x 33" and 30 x 37". It is supplied unmounted; mounted on an individual truck, except 21 x 28" and 21 x 33"; or mounted on a combination engine-thresher truck, except 26 x 33" and 30 x 37" sizes. Get a special Sterling thresher catalogue for full particulars.
