Best Diarrhoea Remedy

If you have ever used Chamberlains colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy you know that it is a success— Sam F Guin of Whatley, Ala, writes, "I had measles and got caught out in the rain, and it settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time, and had it not been for Chamberlains colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy I could not possibly have lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy I am now well and strong." For sale by all dealers.

OLD CHARTER OAK.

Bells Were Told and Funeral Dirges Played When It Fell.

The charter oak of Hartford was a white oak. The story goes that when James, duke of York, ascended the throne of England and sent Andros to take away all colonial charters Connecticut alone refused to surrender hers. Andros was furious over this defiance, and Oct. 31, 1687, he returned to the assembly hall of Hartford with a body of soldiers and demanded instant surrender of the charter, which lay in a box on the table. A hot dispute followed.

Finally Andros stretched out his hand to seize the disputed paper. Then the candles were suddenly extinguished, and the people who had gathered on the street outside rushed in a disorderly crowd into the hall. There was a period of wild confusion in the dark, and when the candles were finally re-lighted no charter was to be found. It had been removed by Captain Wadsworth and concealed in the oak, which ever afterward bore its name.

The oak was even then old. When the first settlers were clearing their land the Indians begged that it might be spared. "It has been the guide of our ancestors for centuries," they said, "as to the time of planting our corn. When the leaves are the size of a mouse's ears, then is the time to put seed into the ground." The Indians' request was granted, and the tree, afterward becoming the custodian of the lost charter, became famous for all time. It fell in a windstorm Aug. 21, 1856, and so deeply was it venerated that at sunset on the day of its fall the bells of the city were tolled and a band of music played funeral dirges over its ruins.

At the time of its fall its circumference one foot from the ground was twenty-five feet, and it was estimated to be over 600 years old.—Kansas City Star.

Silent Auctions.

Japanese auctions are noiseless affairs. In many parts of Japan an odd little booth serves as such a room. The auctioneer holds aloft the object offered for sale in order that all may see it. To the stranger it appears that the object is not desired by anybody, although all seem to examine it closely. Not a word is said by any prospective customer, but a number of them march off to a little box in the corner, wherein they deposit certain little slips. If one's curiosity be aroused by this procedure a Japanese will explain the method of conducting the sale. The lots of paper represent the bids, and when all have been deposited the box is opened, and the highest amount offered buys the article. These noiseless auctions are much patronized by the Japanese.

The Rich Turkish Beggar.

Beggars are never suppressed in Turkey. The story is told (and they say it is true) about an American lady who by mistake gave a beggar of Constantinople a gold piece. The man had left his post when she returned, but one of his colleagues told her where he "resided." It was a fine house, and at the door was a servant, who politely informed the lady that "my master is dressing. He will be down soon." And then the well groomed beggar, dressed for dinner, appeared and gladly returned the gold piece, explaining in the meanwhile that such mistakes were highly embarrassing.

Remember Benefits Only.

To have a memory for benefits, not for offenses—these are the two pivots on which friendship may rest—strong and abiding, friendships which pass to the greatness of noble minds. Be not like those who are more hurt and offended by an unkind word or by a word meant in fun and which escaped, as it were, from a cloister, unlocked for a moment by the tongue—yes, more hurt than they ever were pleased and comforted by a thousand renewed proofs of loving friendship.—Petrarch.

Humor From the Judge.

"A solicitor's toil is like a builder's," said the magistrate at Woolwich police court. "When first you look at it you think you have been robbed, but when you go through it carefully you feel sure you have."—London Mail.
