LETTERS FROM OUR COUNTRY CORRESPONDENTS

SANTIAM FARM TOPICS

Mrs Ida Graham and daughter of Monitor returned home Saturday.

Mr Elliott of Scio was out in this section one day last week taking pictures as an advertisement for some publication. The Pie Eater had a picture of his fine span of matched buggy colts taken.

This section barely escaped a serious forest fire Friday afternoon, as a thresher engine was pulling up the Franklin Butte hill it set fire to some grass near the cemetery which got a fair start, but was soon extinguished by the prompt rally of the neighbors, without doing any serious damage.

Mrs Jennie Lovejoy is expected home Tuesday or Wednesday as she and her sister Bell Alvord have thrown up the hotel business in Stayton.

The Portland Union Meat Co has their agent out among our farmers blowing up blood and old waste from the slaughter yards as being the stuff to fatten hogs. I do not consider such carrion should ever be fed to an animal intended for immediate use, as it is very offensive which tends to ruin any pork.

Our old time neighbor uncle Thomas Crocket was buried at Providence Monday, aged up in the 80's.

The Case of L. L. Cantelou

The case of L. L. Canteloo, Clarendon, Texas, is similar to that of many others who have used Chamberlains colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy. He says, "After trying a doctor for several months and using different kinds of medicine for my wife who had been troubled with severe bowel complaint for several months, I bought a 25c bottle of Chamberlains colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy. After using the second bottle she was entirely cured." For sale by all dealers.

SHELBURN ITEMS

Trollinger Bros began threshing Tuesday on the Mike Kelly place with a full crew.

A representative of the German American portrait company was in this part of the county Tuesday.

Mrs Prichard of Lyons visited with Mrs Earl Russell Monday.

Mrs Steidel made a business trip to Albany Friday.

Miss Inez Hirons returned Saturday from a two weeks visit visit at Dundee.

Miss Inis Russell of Macleay spent the latter part of the week visiting friends and relatives of this place.

Virgil Shilling is visiting with his parents.

Lawrence Shelley of Tidewater arrived here the first of the week to work through harvest and hop picking.

Several from here attended church and the baptizing at Kingston Sunday.

The Myers family of Stayton visited with relatives here the first of the week.

Notice For Publication

Department of the Interior
U. S. Land Office at Portland, Oregon, June 5, 1914

Notice is hereby given that Harry Toresen whose postoffice address is 407 Fairbanks Ave., Portland, Oregon, did on the ninth day of August 1913, file in this office sworn statement and application No. 05289, to purchase the n w ¼ of n e ¼, sec 26, twp 10 S, R 1 west, W M, and the timber thereon, under the provisions of the act of June 3, 1878, and acts amendatory, known as the "Timber and Stone Law," at such value as might be fixed by appraisement, and that, pursuant to such application, the land and timber thereon have been appraised, the timber estimated 300,000 board feet at $ 40 per M, and the land $20; that said applicant will offer final proof in support of his application and sworn statement on the 25th day of August, 1914, before the Register and Receiver, U. S. Land Office at Portland, Oregon.

Any person is at liberty to protest this purchase before entry, or initiate a contest at any time before patent issues, by filing a corroborated affidavit in this office alleging facts which would defeat the entry.

H. F. Hiney, Register.

How to Cure a Sprain

A sprain may be cured in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlains liniment and observing the directions on each bottle. For sale by all dealers.

Annoying Both Ways

A New York society woman at a recent benefit of the Authors' society in New York said to a reporter:

"I like to see authors work together in harmony. Authors are prone, you know, to be a little bit unfriendly. I said once to a noted playwright, 'How is it I never see you at any of your confreres' first nights?'

"'Well,' he replied, 'I'll tell you. If the play is bad it annoys me, and if it's good it annoys me too.'"—Washington Star.

Time to Quit.

Two old Scotch fishermen, having imbibed overmuch, were on their way home, and, being overcome with a great desire to sleep, they accordingly stretched themselves on the warm beach sands and were soon slumbering heavily. The tide crept in, awakening the one nearest the water as a wavelet dashed a quantity of the salty liquid into his mouth. Half asleep, he started to arise, saying, "It's time we wis awa' oot o' this house. 'They're changin' the drink on us."

Cheering Him Up.

There is a young lawyer in a town which shall be nameless. He has little or no practice and is at present feeling discouraged. On leaving his office the other day he placed a card on the door on which he had neatly written:

"Will return in an hour."

When he came back he found written on the card the words, "What for?"—Chicago News.

Brides and Wet Weather.

A Breton bride rather likes to have a wet wedding. It is held to signify that all her tears are now shed and that she will therefore have a happy married life.

The Ezra of Simbirsk call the day before the wedding the weeping day, and the bride and her girl friends weep all they can, with the idea, it would seem, of getting the mourning of life over so that only joy may remain.

The Badagas of the Neilgherries attain the same end by sousing the bride with water. Some Greek tribes have a similar belief in the virtue of a drenching bringing good fortune.—London Globe.

Brittle Lizards.

Some kinds of lizards break in two when suddenly startled. In the bush in Australia the traveler often comes across a number of these little silvery reptiles basking on a log or piece of old bark. As soon as they perceive the invader there is a great commotion. They dart hither and thither so quickly that the eye can scarcely follow their movements. The effects of the shock are evident from the quantity of wriggling tails lying about which have been cast off in a hurry, while the mutilated owners may be seen scurrying away to safety still wagging the stumps that remain.

THE LIFE CAREER

"Schooling in youth should invariably be directed to prepare a person in the best way for the best permanent occupation for which he is capable."—President C. W. Eliot.

The Twenty Year Test

"Some 20 years ago I used Chamberlains colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy" writes Geo W Brock, publisher of the Enterprise, Aberdeen, Md. "I discovered that it was a quick and safe cure for diarrhoea. Since then no one can sell me anything said to be 'just as good.' During all these years I have used it and recommended it many times and it has never disappointed anyone." For sale by all dealers.
