The Worlds Closest Skimmer

Holds the World's Record in the greatest skimming contest ever held

The U. S. not only won the World's Record in the greatest of all separator contests, but has continuously retained and strengthened this wonderful record at all important International and State events from the beginning of this century, in the Agricultural Colleges and in actual every day work right on the farm under all conditions.

In competition the United States has been able to prove that it can always skim closer than any other cream separator, one great reason for this superiority being, it is the only well-known separator that is designed to skim according to Nature's laws—cream from the top, milk from the bottom—therefore, no conflicting bowl currents. As yet we have never heard of anyone who has improved on Nature. Have you?

At "finish of the run" do you know that most cream separators lose considerable cream? The U. S. never does, for it flushes perfectly clean. The vertically arranged skimmer and open center of the bowl render it impossible for cream to lodge in the bowl.

We shall appreciate further chance to prove these facts to your satisfaction.

Best Thing for a Bilious Attack.

"On account of my confinement in the printing office I have for years been a chronic sufferer from indigestion and liver trouble. A few weeks ago I had an attack that was so severe that I was not able to go to the case for two days. Failing to get any relief from any other treatment, I took three of Chamberlain's Tablets and the next day I felt like a new man," writes H. C. Bailey, Editor Carolina News, Chapin, S. C. That Suit Again

Our Choleric friend of the Tribune, formerly of Lebanon, more recently of Sweet Home, at present located in Scio, crowded out a half column of European war news last week to take a shot at the News over our innocent allusion to some one having a new suit. He is positively unkind in alluding to "the usually newsless News." That's all right, brother, as you are the only one out of several hundred in this locality that gets the News without paying cash for it and as this is the first complaint we have heard, we will do as that far-famed gentleman did when the mule kicked him—and forgive you this time.

Alas, too true the saying that "Them as has, gets." Mr. Tribune glories in the fact that the suit was bought of a heavy taxpayer. Why not patronize the small dealer who really needs the money.

By a strange coincidence, we also bought a new suit in Albany about two years ago, and will probably buy several more there in the next few years, and while we do most of our trading in Scio, we are not as strong as some to advocate buying everything at home, no matter how hard the price is stuck on, so our conscience is clear and our sleep sweet and peaceful.

All of our subscribers who have received the magazines seem to like them. Some have told us they don't see how we can do it. When renewing your subscription to the News don't forget to ask about the magazines.

Whooping Cough.

"When my daughter had whooping cough she coughed so hard at one time that she had hemorrhage of the lungs. I was terribly alarmed about her condition. Seeing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy so highly recommended, I got her a bottle and it relieved the cough at once. Before she had finished two bottles of this remedy she was entirely well," writes Mrs. S. F. Grimes, Crooksville, Ohio. Obtainable everywhere.

Judge Skipworth decides that employer, contractor, or subcontractor cannot recover damages for injuries under Workingmen's Compensation act.
