The store in the Calf Ribs neighborhood made an assignment this week. The assets consist of four cans of oysters and a sack of bologna sausage. The liabilities are not known, but it is believed that they are much more than that.

The Postmaster has installed a clock in his store and set the alarm to go off at noon and closing up time.

Miss Gondolla Henstep went to Tickville Thursday to buy a hat like the one worn by Miss Flutie Belcher.

The water in Gander creek is getting so low it is feared that some will have to be hauled there from Gimlet creek, to allow the fish enough to travel in.

Fit Smith got after a snake the other day, but could never overtake it.

Yam Sims left for Tickville this morning to enter his standing collar in the steam laundry.

The Tin Peddler's horse ran away with him just this side of Rye Straw the other day. He had on board a heavy load of feathers, and as the wind was blowing they became so scattered it took him some time to get them all together again.

Tobe Moseley hitched up his wagon Sunday and took his family to preaching at Dog Hill. The team had such a heavy load that Tobe had to assist them up the hills by grunting right loud.

The teacher of the Wild Onion school gives it as his opinion that the moon is not inhabited, because it is so round and slick nobody could stand up on it.

Yesterday the Deputy Constable was approached by a stranger who broke down and confessed and wanted himself arrested for stealing a mule but the Deputy became suspicious and refused to comply with his request.

Sim Flinders, who is very fond of goose eggs, became the champion egg eater the other day when he ate a setting at one sitting.

After having read so much about bank robbers, the cashier of the bank at Tickville plays safe by taking all the money home with him at night and putting it under his pillow.

A baseball team is being organized in Hogwallow. Tobe Moseley, who has full, bushy whiskers, will be appointed backstop. The ball players here have just recovered from their defeat of several years ago, by the Tickville nine, when the score stood 28 to 64 in favor of the visiting team.

PROF. SAP SPRAULEN

It is with deep pleasure that we write to our readers about Prof. Sap Spradlen, the Wild Onion school teacher. Last summer, before departing for the teachers' institute at Tickville, he ate a lot of grape nuts and other brain food, and then reached his hair straight up, so that prominence would be given his forehead when the teachers had their pictures made in a group. He had himself placed on the program at the institute, and delivered a talk on "The Effect the Brain has on the Mind." His argument was that if a person hasn't any brains he is a fool. His talk which extended over an hour, received much stumping when he finished and sat down with a great deal of satisfaction over himself. For seasons Prof. Spradlen has by his shrewd political manipulations, got himself elected unanimously as teacher of the Wild Onion school. He renders great assistance in the cause of education and besides was instrumental in having the school house turned around so that the map would hang north and south. Prof. Spradlen is a firm believer, of late years, in the theory that the world is round and teaches it daily to his pupils. While Mr. Spradlen is not a candidate for any office at the present time he desires to get his uncle elected trustee again so that he can continue to hold the job at Wild Onion.

Statistics show that more fuel is used in winter than in summer.

Lame Back.

Lame back is usually due to rheumatism of the muscles of the back. Hard working people are most likely to suffer from it. Relief may be had by massaging the back with Chamberlain's Liniment two or three times a day. Try it. Obtainable everywhere.
