LACOMB NEWS ITEMS

A little more of this gentle rain and every one can plow.

Several stock buyers were in the neighborhood last week.

Mrs Joe Burton visited with her sister at Crabtree Friday.

Rev. Wright, State Missionary for Oregon, preached at the Baptist church Sunday.

Mrs Lee, wife of Prof W H Lee of Albany College, is visiting at L J Gaines'.

Mrs B F Raines left last week for Pendleton to see the annual Roundup.

Mr and Mrs C T Craft and daughter Willia visited Sunday with the Nolan family.

The young people enjoyed a party after the business meeting of the Farmers Union Saturday night.

M W Yeoman and family are enjoying a visit from Mrs Jesse Wells of Beuna Vista. She was formerly Norma Yeoman.

W C Shelton has rented the corner property, recently bought of Mrs Sarah Waddle, to a man who will open a harness and shoe repairing shop.

Word was received here last week of the birth on September 20, of a son to the Rev and Mrs D Loree, formerly of this place but now of Redmond.

A mule sold at Geo. Kohler's sale Saturday for $9.75. He had been owned and worked on the same farm since he was broken twenty years or more ago and has had seven different owners. Who says a mule can't outstay a man.

At the regular meeting of the Lacombe Local Saturday night the farmers placed a good sized order for flour.

A number of the members of the Union met the first of the week and made the concrete foundation for their hall, the building of which will be let by contract.

Worth Their Weight in Gold

"I have used Chamberlains tablets and found them to be just as represented, a quick relief for headaches, dizzy spells and other symptoms denoting a torpid liver and a disordered condition of the digestive organs. They are worth their weight in gold," writes Miss Clara A Driggs, Elba, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.

CRABTREE NEWS

The Union Hall dance on the 24th was o k and was well represented by people from all parts. Crabtree has a good hall, good music and good people and why should she not have good dances.

H J Smith is reported to be quite poorly at his home.

Guy Mankins has returned from his every fall goose chase.

Some of the jerrys are laid off for a few days for repairs.

A Simpson has moved on the Bastik place on the corner at Beaver creek.

Mrs Geo. Dorr, who has been at the Albany hospital for over five weeks, is to be brought home this week.

The Crabtree school district has leased the Union building to hold school in for the grades from fifth to eighth.

A few people from here are going to take in the state fair.

Our new postoffice is going up in fine shape.

Mrs S Furth is up from Portland to see her little Willie at Crabtree.

Born to the wife of Mart Freeman on September 20, a boy.

HAPPY DICK

None Equal to Chamberlain's

"I have tried most of the cough cures and find that there is none that equal Chamberlain's cough remedy. It has never failed to give me prompt relief," writes W V Harner, Montpelier, Ind. When you have a cold give this remedy a trial and see for yourself what a splendid medicine it is. Obtainable everywhere.

SANTIAM FARM TOPICS

Mrs M C Gaines returned from Albany Saturday where she has been the past week taking medical treatment. The rest has done her some good.

Ernest Reproad of Roseburg came Sunday morning to see Mrs Frances Crabtree, his former mother-in-law, who is quite ill with cancer of the neck.

J F Kukacka had a time Saturday with a little fire which got the start of him and went wild through the fences and brush, and as help was scarce he called out an auto load from Scio to help subdue the flames, which did but little damage.

The Crabtree Farmers Educational Union dedicated their new hall Friday night with a full house, a good time and a way up dinner.

The famous woodsawer Harry Johnston of Scio came out Thursday and rounded up a few odd jobs. He sawed some 20 cords of pole wood for S W in 7 hours, and it took four good men to keep him in wood. The old man did not like the way he crowded the hands, however, as he had no chance to light his pipe.

Our Sunday rain was highly appreciated as it was long overdue, but will no doubt make up for lost time.

The Santiam Berry Farm has been doing some heavy pruning among his berries the past week by slashing down his Logan, red and black cap raspberries as they were not paying expenses and was getting tired of giving them away for his health.

A pie social and program will be given at the school house near the Santiam farm Friday-evening Oct 1. All are cordially invited to come and have a good time.

Our school which commences next Monday will be taught by Prof Lytle who has moved into the Horsburgh house nearby. His wife will teach the Richardson gap school.

Anyone wishing to subscribe for the Anti-Catholic paper, send me 25c and I will forward your name at once as I am sending new clubs every week.

PIE EATER.

A FAMOUS VIOLINIST.

Paganini Was a Nervous Wreck After a Night of Concert Work.

The following account of Italy's greatest violinist, Paganini, is condensed from the article which appeared in a London newspaper in 1831:

"He has long legs and arms, and his hands in his playing often assume the attitude of prayer, with the fingers pointing upward. After a piece by the orchestra he entered upon his celebrated performance on a single string, introducing the air of 'Nel cor piu sento,' in which he imparted a tone so plaintive and desolate that the heart was torn by it. In the midst of this he was so outre (so comic) as to occasion the loudest bursts of laughter. This feat was uproariously cheered. He then retired to put on the three other strings and ended this miraculous performance with the richest arpeggi and echoes, intermingled with new effects, that no language can describe. Though he withdrew amid a confusion of huzzas and bravo that completely drowned the full orchestra, yet he was called for to receive the homage of the audience and was so affected that he would have dropped had he not been supported by Lablache and Costa.

"There was no trick to his playing. It was all fair, scientific execution, opening to us a new order of sounds, the highest of which ascended two octaves above C in alt. With a weak organization Paganini is one of the most forcible examples of the almost superhuman strength which results from the exaltation of the mind produced by genius. When he seizes the violin it seems that a star descends upon him and inspires him with fire from heaven. He instantly loses his weakness. A new existence opens to him; he is another creature, and during the musical action his strength is more than quintupled. After having performed a concerto his symptoms are those of a man under an attack of epilepsy. His livid and cold skin is covered with a profuse perspiration, his pulse is scarcely to be felt, and when questioned on any subject he answers only in monosyllables. The night after his concert he never sleeps and continues in an agitation which sometimes lasts for two or three days."

Amazing Marches.

In the matter of brilliant and rapid marches the record seems to be with Napoleon. In 1805 he crossed the Rhine on Sept. 26, was in Vienna on Nov. 13 and on Dec. 2 crushed the united armies of Russia and Austria at Austerlitz. Almost incredibly swift was Napoleon's sweep on Prussia in the following year, when, crossing the Saale on Oct. 9, he defeated Hohenlohe's army at Jena on the 14th and was in Berlin on the 15th, with all Prussia at his feet. Three years later he broke even these records by returning from France to Spain on April 17, rushing to the Austrian frontier, defeating the enemy five times in as many days and entering Vienna on May 13.

Modern.

"Can I get a haircut," inquired the man, with a belligerent emphasis on the singleness of operation, "without any shampoo, sea foam, crude oil, scalp massage, singe or any kind of tonic or hair restorer?"

At the barber's thoughtful nod the customer sank with a heavy sigh of relief into a chair.

Twenty minutes later a voice purred in his ear:

"The old methods are out of date here, sir. Wouldn't you like a nice electrodermal stimulation, a digital convection of the cranial surface, or a telepathic induction of the hair follicles?"—Life.

Good Luck.

Mrs. Winkle (meeting him at the door)—Oh, John, I'm so glad to see you! Baby isn't well, I think there is a bad leak in the boiler. I have the bill for the taxes, the clothesline fell down in the mud, the cat has eaten up the goldfish and Walter has sprained his ankle, so you must go for the doctor at once. Anything new happened to you today, dearest?

Mr. Winkle—Nothing worth mentioning except that on my way home I found a four leaved clover.—Woman's Home Companion.

Biliousness and Constipation

It is certainly surprising that any woman will endure the miserable feelings caused by biliousness and constipation, when relief is so easily had and at so little expense. Mrs Chas Peck, Gates, N Y, writes, "About a year ago I used two bottles of Chamberlains tablets and they cured me of biliousness and constipation." Obtainable everywhere.

To the Public

"I feel that I owe the manufacturers of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy a word of gratitude, writes Mrs T N Witherall, Gowanda, N Y. "When I began taking this medicine I was in great pain and feeling terribly sick, due to an attack of summer complaint. After taking a dose of it I had not long to wait for relief as it benefited me almost immediately." Obtainable everywhere.
