The Ladies Aid will give a social at the Baptist church Saturday evening, March 25, commencing at 7:30 p m. Everybody invited, admission ten cents.

J H Glass of Brownsville, republican candidate for the office of county treasurer, was in town last Thursday getting acquainted with the voters. Mr Glass is a clean cut, businesslike appearing man, and is no doubt qualified to fill the office which he seeks.

Several new cards among the political announcements will be noted in this issue. Ralph Thom, who is seeking the office of county recorder, is the present deputy sheriff, has had wide experience in clerical work, is a young man of clean habits and undoubtedly is in every way well fitted to fill the office. Sheriff D H Bodine, who is asking for the republican nomination for re-election, points to his record the past four years in the sheriff's office, as a fitting recommendation of his work and ability. Mr Bodine modestly lays claim to having made a success of his own business before seeking an office at the hands of the voters. Mrs Ida Maxwell Cummings, who is a candidate for the office of county school superintendent before the primaries, is well fitted by education and training to competently fill that office. Chas. H Leonard, republican candidate for county surveyor, has wide experience in this line of work and feels that he can demonstrate that he is the man for the place if given a chance.

H C Pyle went to Corvallis again Tuesday to confer with some of the Agricultural College men in regard to the strange disease that is causing his sheep to suddenly go blind. When he was over to see them last Wednesday the college men told him that it was something new to them, but they thought they could soon cope with the malady and prescribed medicine to use. Mr Pyle took over with him this time two heads of sheep that had died with the disease. He finds that 71 out of his 350 sheep have been stricken blind, and there are ten or twelve new cases during the past day or two. One has died after being treated for a few days.—Lebanon Express.

CHATTER BOX

The Southern Pacific has recently issued a handsomely illustrated book, "Oregon Walnuts." The cover plate shows a collection of Oregon walnuts in natural colors. The interior pictures are taken from various walnut orchards throughout western Oregon and show in addition to general views technical illustrations of grafting, pruning, budding, etc. Prof C I Lewis of O A C has covered the Walnut industry very thoroughly in this book and it should be in the hands of every walnut grower in this state. Although Oregon produces but a small portion of the walnuts grown in this country, nevertheless over one fourth of the young non-bearing walnut trees of the United States are right here in Oregon. Copies can be obtained by addressing John F Scott, General Passenger Agent, Southern Pacific Company, Portland, Oregon.

Rodgers--Shannon

Miss Alta Shannon and Jesse L Rodgers were driven over to Albany last Friday by Mr and Mrs Geo. Rodgers, where they celebrated St Patrick's day by being quietly married by Rev M Howard Fagan at the Christian church in that city.

Mrs Rodgers is the youngest daughter of Mrs David M Shannon of Davenport, Nebraska and has been a popular and successful teacher in the Scio schools the past two years, while Jesse was raised here, being the son of George Rodgers, and is one of the most prominent and substantial young men in this part of the county. They will make their home on the farm of Mr Rodgers southeast of town.

Mr and Mrs Rodgers friends are numbered by their acquaintances, whom the News joins in best wishes for a long, prosperous and happy wedded life.
