

SANTIAM FARM TOPICS

M C Gaines made a trip to Corvallis Saturday to see a specialist. After a thorough examination he found but little the matter with M C, only he does not work quite hard enough nor expose himself in the storms and rain enough to keep his blood in good circulation.

Scott Turner had his Sunday clothes on Monday swinging his best gal in his one horse auto, cutting a swath through the mustard a rod wide, and I had to give him all the road.

Our school in Dist 77 closes Friday. We have the most satisfactory school under Prof Geo Lytle that has been taught here for years.

There are a few cases of measles in this section, but seems to be in a light form.

Mr Kirkwood was here the past week doing some grafting on old trees for the Santiam Farm. He went to Shelburn Sunday as he has some work ahead there.

Mr Archibald of Albany in taking a drummer from Scio to Crabtree Monday night in a Ford, encountered a mud hole near the Santiam Farm where they stuck with the wheels under mud in a quicksand hole, and it took five men four hours to dig it out. The hole is safe now as young Archibald had most of the mud on him when he left at 11 o'clock for Crabtree.

The Court of Last Resort

Around the stove of the cross roads grocery is the real court of last resort, for it finally over-rules all others. Chamberlain's cough remedy has been brought before this court in almost every cross roads grocery in this country, and has always received a favorable verdict. It is in the country where man expects to receive full value for his money that this remedy is most appreciated. Obtainable everywhere.

BURGEN HOLLOW NOTES

A few days of nice weather would be appreciated by many of the farmers.

Miss Daisy Davenport, who has been working in Scio for the past two months, returned to her home last Monday.

Mrs Will Hollis and little son Delbert went to Portland last Saturday for a months visit with relatives.

Miss Mary White visited with Miss Audie Bartu the latter part of the week.

Frank Holub and John Costello made a business trip to Scio Monday.

Mr and Mrs Joe Bartu visited with the latter's sister, Mrs Chas Chrz near West Scio last Sunday.

Mrs Henry Nolan is spending a few days with her parents, Mr and Mrs C T Craft.

Will Hollis and Allie Robbins were Scio shoppers Monday.

Ed Stepanek spent Sunday with his wife, who owing to the sickness of her sister-in-law, Mrs Chas Chrz, has been lending a helping hand with the housework the past few weeks.
