A Brave Deed

Last Thursday about noon, Geo Morrow was at the flour mill after feed, his team being hitched to a mud sled, when the horses left alone for a moment, decided to take a spin. Donald, the little son of Roe Shelton, was playing in the road with a toy wheelbarrow, unaware of danger and the frightened animals were bearing down upon him, when Mrs Lulu Pope who was working in her yard nearby, saw the situation and ran into the road, snatching the child literally from under the horses feet. Eye witnesses say the team only missed them by a few inches, and the wheelbarrow was made into match wood. Many people are wearing Carnegie medals for deeds less brave than Mrs Pope performed.

Church Federation

A Federated church is a body of Christian people who take Christ as their personal Savior, who desire to follow Him and His teachings, obey and strive to help Him build up His kingdom.

There is no church joining, because Federation does not mean a new church or any branch of the old churches. It means coming together of the different denominations. There is no severing of church connections whatever.

Whatever denomination they belonged to before coming into the Federated movement, they still have a right to continue to that faith and belief. No one gives up his religious opinions in Federation any more than a man gives up his political opinions when joining the grange or any farmers union organization. It is on the same principles, joining ourselves with others that we may be stronger in the battle of right.

Any conversion coming out of the effort of federation has as much right to any church of their choice as did their forefathers in the movement and it should be the duty of the pastor in charge to see that they are safely and satisfactorily located in their spiritual homes as it is for him to strive to enter them into the denomination or sect to which he belongs. And we know that all things that work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to his purpose, Rom. 8, 28. I believe to be according to God's holy will, word and law, because he has mentioned such in so many different places in the scriptures, viz: Psa. 133, 3; Jon. 15, 5; Jon. 17, 22-23; Acts 2, 42-47; Rom. 12, 4-5; I Cor. 1, 10-13; I Cor. 10, 16-17; I Cor. 12, 12; II Cor. 13, 11; Eph. 2, 19-22; Eph. 4, 13; Eph. 5, 25-27; I Pet. 2, 4-6; I Pet. 3, 8.

H. B. ILLER.

Kelly-Jones

Last Saturday at high noon, Miss Gladys Jones and John L Kelly were united in marriage at the home of the bride's uncle, L F Jones, Rev H B Iller officiating.

Aside from the host and hostess, Mr and Mrs L F Jones, only the immediate families of the contracting parties were present, Mr and Mrs Jack Jones of Stayton and Mr and Mrs Mike Kelly who live between Scio and Jefferson, parents of the bride and groom, respectively.

The bride was charmingly arrayed in a gown of pink silk, while the groom wore blue serge, a ring being used in the ceremony. A sumptuous dinner was served to which all did ample justice after the knot was tied.

Both Mr and Mrs Kelly have a host of friends here, who admire them for their many fine qualities, and whose best wishes will follow them to their new home at Albany, where Mr Kelly has a position as a pharmacist with the Burkhardt & Lee drug store.

School Notes

Many of those who have had the measles have returned to school. Among those who have come back to High School are Inez Hiron, Reva Tindall, Victor Lyons and Delbert Long. We hope others will return soon.

Don't forget the basket social to be given by the Senior class Friday, April 14. This social was to have been given some time ago, but was postponed on account of the measles. The proceeds are to help pay for the roses which the class has given to the school.

Miss Smith has only nine pupils in the primary room.

There are eleven pupils out with the measles from Miss Jackson's room.

The teachers training class took observation work in the Grammar room Monday.

A picnic was enjoyed by the High School Friday afternoon. The school divided and a hare and hound chase was given to the picnic grounds. The hares arrived first and unharmed. Later refreshments and a general good time was enjoyed by all.

Perhaps you don't know that we have some literary geniuses in our Sophomore English class, but we have. Following is a theme written by one of them on "A Mule's View of Intervention in Mexico."

"Eee aaw," brayed the Mule and he balked. His master could go if he wanted to, he wouldn't. He hadn't seen any corn yet though they were nearly to Mexico.

"Giddap, you old jack-ass," bellowed the driver, "We are going to Mexico."

"Eee Aaw," brayed the stubborn Mule savagely. "Mexico is full of black things that try to kill you."

A jerk on the reins and the Mule alighted astride the torque. He kicked and caught one hind foot on the dashboard.

"Eee aaw," groaned the Mule.

"Eee aw, you say. I'll teach you," howled the driver as he jumped up and threw a bushel of potatoes at the mule. Ker-flump! Down went the old donkey and broke his neck.

"Wall I swan," the man ejaculated. "The old Mule knew he'd die anyway."—Lizzie Smith, '18
