This office was honored last Saturday by a call from E E Brodie, editor of the Oregon City Enterprise and Phil Bates, editor of the Pacific Northwest of Portland, president and secretary, respectively, of the State Editorial Association. They were out in the interest of a bill to be submitted to the next legislature by the newspaper men of the state for a legal rate to be established for all papers. Surprise Party

About seventy friends and neighbors of Miss Elsie Bartnik gave her a surprise party on her twentieth birthday last Saturday night. After she recovered from her surprise the evening was spent in a most pleasant way. Old familiar games such as "The Farmer in the Dell" and "Miller Boy" being the chief pastime. At a wee sma' hour it was discovered that each one had brought a basket of eats which they all did full justice to. Miss Bartnik received a number of pretty and valuable gifts which goes to prove that good friends aren't quite as scarce as hen's teeth.

School Notes

The students as well as the faculty are glad to see so many of the people return who have had the measles. Among those who returned to High School are: Franklin Gilkey, Harvey McLain, Gertrude Shimanek, Gail Jones, Neva Thayer and Russell McDonald.

Although the basket ball season is over the High School students do not think that will be the end of their fun for the school year. The Glee Club girls put their money into the athletic association and by both funds a tennis court is being made. The boys also expect to fix up their baseball grounds.

Prof White was a Salem visitor Saturday.

Erol Sims and Uriah Pruitt were visiting school Tuesday. Some of the sophomore girls say that the boys came to see Prof White; you can believe that if you want to.

The social last Friday night was well attended. After the program the baskets were sold and the rest of the evening was spent in playing games.

Misses Johnson and Jackson went to Albany Saturday evening with Mr and Mrs Fred Bilyeu.

Little Gladys Shelton was a high school visitor Tuesday afternoon. Perhaps she wanted to go to the primary room but thought the other would do as well.

Some of the people are very glad they have had the measles because they have a splendid excuse for poor lessons.

We call your especial attention to what N I Morrison has to say this week on page 4. His ad is good reading matter because it contains so much that is helpful to know. In this connection do you realize how universal the ad reading habit is getting? Good honest descriptions, such as most advertisements now have to be, are certainly about the best guide to wise buying that anybody can have.

UPPER SANTIAM EVENTS

Peach, cherry and pear trees are in bloom.

Stock of all kinds look pretty thin after the hard winter. The mite louse has been causing much trouble. It causes the hair to come off and feeding heavily does but little good. It may be well to take into account his majesty, the louse, in accounting for the leanness of stock. Some kind of disinfectant should be applied along the back bone and around the head and ears. The louse cannot be seen except with the aid of a microscope. It is not a mange louse but it sets horses, cows, calves and all kinds of critters to scratching.

Billy Stitz, formerly of Jordan, and partners have entered into logging operations with teams. Some logging can be done more cheaply with teams than donkeys.

Miss Verna Geddes, who has been working for the Oregon Power and Electric Co at Eugene, has begun work in the office of the Hammond Lumber Company. Increased pay influences changes. She once upon a time was enrolled in the Scio school and was a pupil of that delightful teacher, Mrs Prill.

During an all winter compulsory service on the Federal jury, the writer met several old time friends in Portland. Among them were T J Munkers and family, Mr and Mrs Frank Gill, Dr Jones and wife (Mae Morris), Mrs Gill's sister, Dr Cole's daughter, Mrs E C Peery and others. It is a delight to know such people. They play the glad game. How many others play it?

The Hammond Co is building several miles of new road into the timber. It takes two trains running on schedule time to carry the logs besides a train load each day that comes down from Detroit.

Charles Sullivan, who is known to many of the readers of the News, has invented a pipe wrench which cannot slip. The pipe will twist apart before it will let go. A stock company has been organized to manufacture the logging hook that he has had patented. Marine companies are finding that it is just what is wanted in towing and trawling. Mr S will go to Portland soon to take charge of the work. A concern took advantage of him and began to exploit his hook; he brought them into court and got damages. Another suit is pending for infringement.

A large surveying party has been at work between Mill City and Mehama locating the electric line from Salem to Bend. They surveyed to the center of the Geddes ranch, set the last stake and returned down the line to make corrections. It is "done tole" that the S P has lost its right of way from Detroit through the mountains. The time limit erded and the Hill interests "gobbled it up" and have made it theirs. The surveyors are taking the best route to Niagara. They are evidently aiming to utilize that water power. About every other man you meet can tell you when, where and how the road is to be built. A fine chance for speculation; the reader may figure it out and I'll lend you paper and pencil with which to do it.

No signs of hard times up here. Your scribe is the only man wearing patched pants. It is a fine thing to live with an old fashioned lady who can do such work with neatness and dispatch.

Com. Butler has had new piers placed under the Linn end of the bridge. He sent a lot of lumber up to the Mad Creek bridge.

Candidates are numerous now. It is right to become acquainted. Voters need to see them.

Considerable talk about the Crown mines up here. It seems to be forging ahead in the confidence of the people.

Have you noticed how the European war is fulfilling prophecy? Some day I'll tell you about it. It was to be.

Have you noticed how those kings and emperors keep off the firing line?

Did you notice that one of the Kaiser's sons told what a fine spec-

New Drug Store Is Prospect

Mr and Mrs C A Everett and Cecil Baird of Monroe were here last Sunday visiting at the S E Lowry home. Mr Everett is a druggist and was looking over the town and interviewing a number of business men and others while here, with a view of moving his drug store to Scio if he decides it would be a paying move. Many with whom he talked are of the opinion that he could not lose by taking such a step. One merchant who has around $15,000 or $20,000 invested here stated that he would start a drugstore himself if he could dispose of his other interests, as evidence of the faith he has in the opening.

Mr Everett has another location in prospect which he will visit this week, but the probabilities are that Scio will be his choice, from remarks he dropped Sunday, in which event he will move his stock here within the next few weeks.

Ira Abbott, Deceased

Ira Abbott died at his home at Myrtle Point last Saturday and was buried Sunday afternoon at that place, according to a telegram received by his brother, Will Abbott, Jack, as he was familiarly called, had many friends in Scio, who have watched with pity and admiration the brave fight he put up against tuberculosis the past two or three years, and their sympathy goes out to the bereaved wife and two little ones, who are left to face the world alone.

McKnight & Daley bought seven head of tubercular cattle at the sale recently held south of town, but of course will not sell them here. These cattle are all branded and have to be accounted for to an inspector who will be present when they are killed and who will tag and ship them himself. Any that are unfit for shipment will be cooked for hog meat, the inspector lighting the fire under the meat. This information is given for the benefit of some who might be under the impression that these cattle would be placed on the block at the home market.

Mohair Sale

The Scio annual mohair pool consisting approximately of 8,000 pounds, will be sold at the Secretary's office in Scio, Friday, April 21.

tacle it is at night to see men being butchered? Thus emperor Nero fiddled while Rome burned.

Did you understand that the war will close when the big financiers say stop? It will.

Are you letting the war get on your nerves? Quit it.

Is so much war talk putting the U S in the minor key? It seems so.
