

SANTIAM FARM TOPICS

The old Santiam farm is moving along like a leaf on the stream and the old Pie Eater is not dead but heavily loaded for chipmunks. The old man feels highly elated to know his crop is in the barn.

Last Sunday we had a nice basket dinner for our Sunday school and a fine sermon by Rev Her of near Scio, which made quite an interesting afternoon. Our neighborhood seems to be enjoying life immensely and all happy over their crops and good health.

Mrs Bell Alvord of Seattle was down visiting with her mother, Mrs S W Gaines for a few days, returning last week.

Mrs Rebecca Morris is out from Scio visiting and recruiting up for the fair with her sister, Mrs S W Gaines.

Elmer Griffin a former oil timer of Scio has sold his farm in the John Day country and returned to the valley. He is now visiting his mother, Mrs S W Gaines, and contemplates buying a farm and living among white folks.

M C Gaines is on the sick list with sore throat, stomach and kidney trouble, but is still on foot although so poor he hardly makes a shadow.

The county road near the Santiam Farm is being blasted out and graded and will soon show up equal to the streets of Scio, so the autos can go by head and tail up snuffing equal to a bear in a hornet's nest.

The old man's Sudan grass is fine, from 6 to 8 feet tall and will make a fine lot of seed. Also his Himalaya berries take the cake, as hundreds of gallons are falling and rotting on the vines and they will bear until the heavy frosts come.
