Editorial Comment

Bryan butts, Wilson tuts.

Watchful waiting maketh woeful wanting.

Candidate Hughes doesn't talk like a tut-tutter.

Hughes is hammering and the Democrats is yammering.

The Wilson Administration stands for taxes, and more taxes.

The Hughes trail will be cold by the time the Democrats strike it.

As a party leader, would it be fair to refer to J. Ham Lewis as J. "Pork" Lewis?

Bryan says Mr. Hughes' talks aren't judicial. No. The people can understand 'em perfectly.

Can the folks on the Democratic band wagon continue to play by the President's notes?

Hughes says the country can't be saved by letting it drift. That's where he and W. Wilson differ.

Washington reports that a new apology has been sent to First Chief Carranza. Looks like a habit.

Mr. Bryan is mistaken when he says Hughes is "vitriolic." The candidate is merely applying the acid test.

A messenger of President Wilson found out that Colorado women were for the administration. No messenger, of course, can be blamed for making good.

Political opponents are beginning to find that why Mr. Hughes kept silence so long wasn't because he had lost his tongue.

Another encouraging feature about our new navy is that when it is completed, Mr. Daniels will not be Secretary of it.

NO ONE WAS AFRAID OF HAITI.

Haiti did not behave as badly to us as Mexico behaved; but Mr. Wilson intervened, fought the Haitians, shedding their blood and the blood of our troops, took possession and now has our armed forces in control of Haiti and directing its government. His course of action in Haiti can be defended only if his course of action in Mexico is unqualifiedly condemned; for such action was far more needed in Mexico than in Haiti. But there was a difference in the two cases; and to Mr.
Wilson it was a vital difference.
Haiti was weaker than Mexico.
No one was afraid of Haiti.—
From the speech of Colonel Roosevelt delivered at Lewiston, Maine, in behalf of Charles E. Hughes.

DR. HARVEY W. WILEY TO VOTE FOR HUGHES.

He Says Wilson Has Failed to Enforce Pure Food Law.

"I favor the election of Mr. Hughes to the Presidency for entirely different reasons than those held by most of his supporters. It is not because of the Mexican policy nor the foreign policy of the Administration nor by reason of its domestic policies. It is because of the apparent indifference of the Administration of President Wilson to the cause of pure food and drugs. Practically all of the abuses which were injected into the Pure Food Law by the preceding Administrations are still in force. Benzoin of soda is still rampant. The fumes of burning sulphur are marching along undisturbed. There is evidently a lull in the activities of the Administration of the law. A well-known beverage, declared by the Supreme Court misbranded and amenable to the Food Law has not been molested. No attempt has been made to enforce the law in regard to the bleaching of flour. The repeal of the mixed flour law, that splendid safeguard to the purity of our bread, has been tacitly approved by the Treasury Department.

"Mr. Hughes in his activities on the Supreme Court has stood like a stone wall for the proper Administration of the Food Law. I believe his election would see a radical change in the attitude of the government towards pure food and pure drugs, so vital to the welfare of our people.
For this reason, I sincerely hope that Mr. Hughes may be chosen as our next President.

"I should expect Mr. Hughes as President to have the same attitude toward the pure food and drug law that he had as a Judge on the bench and to appoint a secretary of agriculture with subordinate officers who would be enthusiastic and earnest in the enforcement of the pure food law for the benefit of the physical, mental and moral welfare of our people."

Congress, representing 100,000,000 people, is not particularly dignified in passing a law at the crack of the railroad brotherhoods' whip.

SURGERY BY WIRELESS.

How a Human Life Was Saved by Long Distance Treatment.

A perplexing medical problem was picked up one day by the wireless man of the steamship Parismina while crossing the gulf of Mexico. A bad accident had befallen the patient in this case, his foot was crushed and nearly severed from his leg, and only a surgical operation could save his life.

The wireless call came from the island of Suma, well out of the path of regular ships and hopelessly far from any shore station. Here lived a small colony, Crusoe fashion, engaged in mining phosphates. An occasional tramp steamer was their only means of traveling to and from the mainland, and there was no doctor in less than a week's sail. Suma, luckily, had one modern convenience—a powerful wireless station—and this had flung the call for help far and wide across the gulf. The patient meanwhile was rapidly growing weaker from the loss of blood.

The officers of the Parismina held a hasty consultation. The island was just 110 miles away and off the course, and it would mean loss of time and money to turn about.

"Leave this case to the wireless operator and me," said the ship's doctor.

A wireless message was thereupon sent out, signed by Dr. C. S. Carter of the Parismina, asking for all details of the patient's condition. All this was but the work of a few minutes. The doctor transferred his office to the wireless room in order to save time in communicating with his case. The reply came back directly. The toes were held only by a few ligaments, and the patient was weaker. His pulse was given and his temperature. Then the doctor set to work.

A long wireless message told the amateur surgeons just how to prepare a strong antiseptic and wash the wound. This was done, and the island station stood by for further orders. A still longer message was then clicked off, describing just how to cut away the injured part and to bind the arteries with a ligature to prevent the loss of blood. There was an anxious interval in the wireless booth awaiting the reply from Suma. The next message to the ship told that the hemorrhage had ceased and immediate danger was over.

There remained, however, the danger of infection, and the doctor of the Parismina directed that regular readings be made of the patient's temperature and his condition reported at frequent intervals.
He was thus able to watch his patient closely for any symptoms of blood poisoning. The wireless treatment went on continuously until the steamer was 170 miles away, when Dr. Carter was able to dismiss the case.—From "The Wireless Man."

Lightning's Akinity For Oak.

Electricity in the clouds, like its companion lower down, loves to seek the earth, the great reservoir of all electricity, and it seeks the most available way to do so, choosing always the best conductor, conspicuous among which are the much na-guined lightning rods, the high trees or the elevated steeples. It has its choice of trees as well as other things and will leap over half an acre of trees to find an oak, for which it appears to have a special attraction, and it will pass a high point to find a building that has metal about it.

Remorse at Last.

A young man had lost his aunt.
He seemed so dejected thereby that a friend, aware of the true situation, asked:

"Why do you look so sad? You never appeared to care for the old lady?"

"I didn't," said the youth dole-fully, "but I was the means of keeping her in a lunatic asylum for a number of years. She has left me all her money, and now I have got to prove that she was of sound mind."

Why It Is "Carnation."

The carnation was cultivated by ancient Greeks, who gave it the name of Dianthus, flower of the gods. They used it for making chapelets, whence the name "carnation" was derived. It was partaken of at great banquets as a kind of salad, and during the reign of "herb" II, it was used in the making of a liquor.
