

Stop, Look and Listen!

We have been contemplating a change for some time, but owing to circumstances have just completed the transfer on November 1st. The Densmore-Wade Co. is out of the business of the Produce house entirely.

Having just purchased the produce business, I will give you all that the markets will justify me in paying.

We are in the market for practically anything you have to sell, having an Hazelwood cream station working in conjunction with us in the same building.

Bring us your eggs, poultry, hides, veal, dressed pork, casaca bark, CREAM, etc.

O. R. TURNER

Successor to Densmore-Wade Co.

In the Good Old Days

Nothing is as it was in the good old days. Then a boy wore overalls and always was dressed for work. He had a half day's work to be done before going to school and another after his return, and you could kick him ten feet and he would bound back. Now a boy is a "kid." When he gets ready for school he can't bring in a pail of water for fear of spoiling his clothes. If he gets home before the evening meal is done something is wrong, and if you keep him at home after 8 p. m. you will require a gatling gun. Then his clothes were made at home and the only way you could tell which was the front or rear was to watch the frontispiece for the day. The clothing was so loose that he could turn around in it after putting it on and thus fool his best friends.

Our sisters worked then and helped to cook, wash and mend and do all kind of work. Now they have good luck if they get their duds on in time to eat breakfast and go to school. When the visitors came the boys and girls were expected to sit up straight as a cob and speak when spoken to. Now they are brought to the front and put through paces. The girl must knock a few bars out of the piano and the boy must speak his "piece," and look like a sick monkey begging for raisins. Everything is progressive.

They used to get married for $2 and begin housekeeping on $50. The bride made her own clothes and the groom's mother made his. One suit a year for good and two for every day. They rocked the baby to sleep in a sap trough, and had a chunk of salt pork for dessert. The whole community would work sixteen hours and then go to a "sawdig," and old and young danced until daylight. They had no brain worms, heart failure, or appendicitis. Brain storms were cured with water elm clubs, heart failure was called fits and appendicitis was called "belly-aches." They rolled the sufferer on a barrel or applied a hot brick and no one knew he had a vermiform "dufficker" that was liable to get full of cherry stones or ground cherry seeds. We used to eat soup and have "sass" of all kinds. Now we eat fruit salad and "consomme" and have biscuits made with baking powder that looks like some one had sat on them. We used to have bread made with "risin" that smelled like a glue factory when it was "risin," but tasted better than anything made from XXXX roller process flour ground into nothing but dust. One suspender was enough for any boy. And if girls chewed gum they had to climb a tamarack tree and dig it out with a screw driver. Progress doesn't always mean betterment. Those old pioneers were as happy as any people on earth; they needed less than a quarter of the luxuries of today and had six times the necessities.

Fred T Bilyeu will have a Ford reel at the picture show Saturday, December 23, showing the construction of a car from start to finish. This will be interesting as well as instructive.

If I Were a Millionaire

(Original)

If I were a millionaire, I would go to college and get a good education. Then I would be a merchant for a few years. After I had run the store a while, I would travel around the world.

Then I would go back to an electrical engineering school. After that I would be an inventor and get some patents.

I would spend the summer at the coast. I would invest my money in a farm. I would buy pigs, chickens, ducks, sheep, goats, cows and horses. The farm would have an orchard, garden, and good fences. It would have all sorts of good improvements. I would buy a car. Here I would live the rest of my life.

Farmers Attention!

I am still in the market for all lines of fat stock, hogs, beef and mutton. I handle hogs within 75c of the Portland market. Phone me at Scio between 6 and 7 a. m. and 6:30 and 9 p. m. —Thos. Large. tf

Don't miss the free show on Saturday, December 23, given by Fred T Bilyeu and N I Morrison. Most all the Scio merchants have a nice line of holiday goods, so if you can't find what you want at Morrison's store you will be able to get what you want some where else. Everyone try and make Saturday, December 23, your shopping day for Christmas. Morrison will give you 10 per cent off on that day.

Dr Turner, formerly of Lowe & Turner, the well known eye specialist of Portland will be in Scio again Thursday, December 14, at Hotel Scio. Headaches relieved, cross eyes straightened, satisfaction guaranteed. You could not make more appropriate Christmas presents than to have your father's, mother's, sister's or brother's eyes examined by a specialist of experience and standing and if needed, present them with an up to date pair of glasses which will be durable and lasting and at the same time preserve their eyesight, which is the most precious sense they have. Dr Turner makes no charge for consultation or examination and most positively will not recommend glasses if they are not needed. You can order them and have them delivered at Christmas time if desired. Consult him. Don't forget the date.

Her Son Subject to Croup

"My son Edwin is subject to croup," writes Mrs. E. O. Irvin, New Kensington, Pa. "I put in many sleepless hours at night before I learned of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mothers need not fear this disease if they keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and use it as directed. It always gave my boy relief." Obtainable everywhere.

Be sure and see the Scio Dramatic Club in Pierre of the Plains tonight at the Peoples Theatre. Big dance after the show at the Wesely hall.

Typewriter ribbons 60c at the News office.

Curious Custom.

In Friesland, it seems, there is a custom that the news of a birth or death is announced verbally by a man who calls at every house in the village for that purpose. If he brings the news of a birth he wears white gloves; if of a death they are black. One day a child was born dead in a Friesian village. It was necessary that the usual announcement should be made, but in what colored gloves? The harbinger was a man of resource. He went his rounds wearing one white glove and one black one.

Echoes.

All echoes have some one place to which they are returned stronger and more distinct than to any other, and that is always the place that lies at right angles with the object of repercussion and is not too near nor too far off. Buildings or naked rocks re-echo much more artistically than hanging wood or valves, because in the latter the voice is, as it were, entangled and embarrassed in the covert and weakened in the rebounds.

Now Lookout

When a cold hangs on as often happens, or when you have hardly gotten over one cold before you contract another, lookout for you are liable to contract some serious disease. This succession of colds weakens the system and lowers the vitality, so that you are much more liable to contract chronic catarrh, pneumonia or consumption. Cure your cold while you can. Chamberlain's cough remedy has a great reputation. It is relied upon by thousands of people and never disappoints them. Try it. It only costs a quarter. Obtainable everywhere.

Green beef hides are worth 15c per pound at the Sanitary Market.
