PLANNING FOR BEST FAIR YET

Dates Set for September 18,
19 and 20

As usual the oldest and first established county fair in the state will be held at Scio, on September 18, 19 and 20. This will be the eleventh annual fair held by the association, and promises to excel any previous one. An entirely new line of amusements and attractions will be brought forward this season for the benefit of the many visitors.

At the recent annual meeting an entire new board of directors was elected with one exception, Dr Prill, the originator and head of the fair for the past ten years, being retained, much against his wishes. The new board of directors consists of I A Munkers, Geo M Bilyeu, J L Calavan, N I Morrison and Dr Prill, all of Scio, and D W Rumbaugh of Albany. The organization of the board has been completed by the election of the following officers:

Dr A G Prill, president,
I A Munkers, vice president,
Jennie Shelton, secretary,
R V Shelton, assistant secretary,
E D Myers, treasurer.

The following superintendents have been appointed, who are all well qualified in their respective departments:

Dr E H Hobson, Scio.

The premium list has been revised and special premiums added and the book will be ready for distribution at an early date.

The school fair premium list will be more complete than ever, and this department, with the assistance of Mrs Ida M Cummings, county school superintendent, promises to be one of the most complete features of this year's fair.

A fine new barn for the housing of the cattle exhibit will be ready for the fair this fall, being 200 feet long and 30 feet wide.

With the liberal assistance of the Linn County Court and the generous help of the citizens of the Forks of the Santiam, the 1917 fair will be a record breaker.

Green beef hides are worth 17c per pound, veal hides 23c at the Sanitary Market.

Mrs. A. R. McDonald Deceased

Mrs Alex McDonald died at their home southwest of town Tuesday night after an illness of several months, and interment was made today, Thursday in the Miller cemetery. She leaves beside her husband, several children and grandchildren and a host of friends to mourn her departure. Probably not another couple in these parts has had more warm personal friends outside the family than have Mr and Mrs McDonald.

Prince Charming A Success

The Operetta, "Prince Charming," which was given at the high school auditorium last Saturday evening, was well received, over $60.00 being taken in at the door. About ninety of the pupils of the schools participated and much hard work was evidenced by the splendid manner in which the participants took their parts. The student body and the faculty deserve much credit for the play.

PAPER OVER CENTURY OLD

Contains Account of Death of
"Father of His Country"

J F Parker left at the News office a few days ago, a copy of the Ulster County (New York) Gazette, which he prizes very highly. It bears the date, January 4, 1800, consists of four pages of four columns each, and is a little smaller than this paper.

The first page is taken up with an account of the proceedings of Congress, and reprints from the London papers of October 19, 1799, which had just arrived on the "Hamburgh mail," giving an account of the battle of Zurich.

Pages two and three have the column rules turned in mourning and are largely given over to an account of the death and funeral rites of "General George Washington, who departed this life on the 14th December, 1799." Also messages of condolence from the Senate, the House and from Pres. John Adams, from the latter of which the following

A new project for the Coquille river harbor has been outlined by the Port of Bandon and approved by the United States engineers, which will mean the immediate expenditure of $100,000, and $10,000 a year for an indefinite period. The aim of the port is to maintain a 15-foot channel from the mouth of the river to Parkersburg and a 12-foot channel from that point to Coquille, making it possible for ocean-going steamers to dock at Coquille.

An irrigation system is scheduled to be installed in the Crane section, the water to be derived from Malheur lake, five miles southwest of Crane. Surveys are now being made for the main ditches and a pumping plant on the shore of the lake, electric power to be developed on the Malheur river above Drewsey. It is learned that sufficient water will be taken from Lake Malheur to irrigate 54,400 acres of land, located between Lawen and Crane, and east and south of the lake.

David C. Keeles, wealthy timberman and railroad owner, of Ogden, Utah, and head of the Oregon Lumber Company, which recently purchased 27,240 acres of choice Oregon timber land from the DeBois Lumber Company, has announced that the $4,000,000 purchase was made for the purpose of operation and not for speculation. Oregon jackrabbit furs have been accepted as satisfactory for making hatters' felt by six large eastern manufacturers. Another eastern firm has placed a test order for 1000 skins with R. A. Ward, United States assistant biologist, who has sent several sample bales to eastern hat firms. Mr. Ward, who is conducting an anti-jackrabbit campaign in Klamath county in cooperation with the county agent, reports a standing order for all skins that can be furnished at 5 cents apiece. The fur is satisfactorily taking the place of former Australian and Belgian importations that have been interrupted by the European conflict.
