Sweet Home Items

Dr. E. F. Warner and wife, of Colorado, are visiting relatives and friends in this city. Mrs. Warner is a niece of W. B. Thompson.Mrs. I. E. Bellinger returned home the fore part of last week.Children's Day exercises were well attended last Sunday. The children did nicely in their work.H. R. Slavens made a trip to Salem Sunday in his auto.Two Gentlemen of Eugene, were working up trade in the egg crate and chicken coop business in Sweet Home Saturday. We notice W. B.
Thompson has some of the crates.Mr. White, of the firm of White & Knapp, of Brownsville, was in town Friday, showing out the beauties and virtues of the Overland car.Mr. Wilson, of Salem and a gentleman from Lebanon, were doing business in the life insurance work in town last week.Chas. Lyon is quite sick at present and has been ailing for about two weeks.W. S. Swink is preparing to build a new house soon. He has a barn under headway now.L. K. Geil went to Albany Tuesday where he will work in a brick yard during the summer.

Elkhorn Items

The Crown mines road will be completed, except the wagon bridge across the river, this week.Ogle Mt. Mines are preparing to commence operations. Several men have passed through Gates on their way to Mt. Ogle.Silver King company have purchased a 4½ foot Pelton water wheel for their power plant and will install same as quickly as possible.
They may furnish power for the nearby mines.Rex Peery returned home Thursday on account of a lame back, secured from rolling heavy logs in the Crown roadway.Mr. Baker has been doing some further work on his new gold property and exhibits some extremely rich ore.Preparations are being made to drive two large tunnels in the western end of this district. One by the Silver King company and one by the Crown. They will be located on opposite sides of the river, but the portals will be plainly in sight of each other. The Crown tunnel will be driven nearly due south, into Elkhorn mountain and the Silver King nearly due north into Heneline mountain. Should the success be met with as anticipated by the two companies, the canyon lying between will, in the not distant future, be the sight of a busy mining town.
Water power and timber are both available, making easy the erection and operation of reduction mills.If you want any of the daily papers, The Tribune will get them for you at Bargain Day rates, providing you pay for The Tribune one

Corn as Food.

Corn is really a food for the gods. In nutritive value it is but little behind whole wheat flour, containing within 6 per cent as much carbohydrates and within 3 per cent as much protein.
Much of the food value of wheat is lost in preparation of flour, to the end that our dainty appetites may be pleased by the snowy whiteness of the bread. Thus bulk for bulk good cornbread is quite as nutritive as is the wheat loaf. Many ways of cooking corn are known, but the simplest are the better. A sturdy race of pioneers throve on mush and milk and corn pone and hoe cake. Civilization and luxury have led the children of these pioneers to look with disdain on corn and to prefer to secure its great health giving properties through other mediums. We have been taking our corn by way of pork and beef.—Omaha Bee.

Hatful of Pearls.

The wit of Jenny Lind was as charming in its way as her voice.On the occasion of her second rehearsal at the Paris Opera House La-blache, the famous singer, was entranced with her voice. Hurrying up to her, he said enthusiastically:
"Give me your hand, mademoiselle!
Every note in your voice is a pearl!""Give me your hat," replied Jenny Lind, with a playful smile.Lablache handed the hat to her. Putting it to her mouth, she gave one of her matchless trills and birdlike snatches of song."Here," she said, smiling at the delighted Lablache as she returned his property, "is a hatful of pearls for you, monsieur."

The Retort Legal.

The judge did not seem to appreciate the remarks of the lawyer for the defense. Several years before they had had a fight over the question of religion. At last the judge interrupted the lawyer and said, "Do you not know that everything you are saying is going in one ear and out the other?"The lawyer turned to him and replied, "Your honor, what is to prevent?"—Argonaut.

Tit For Tat.

Porter—Miss, your train is— Precise Passenger—My man, why do you say "your train" when you know it belongs to the railway company? Porter —Dunno, miss. Why do you say "my man" when you know I belong to my old woman?—Exchange.

The Pessimist Says:

I don't see why folks should have any difficulty in believing in love at first sight. To me that sort of love seems more natural and better fortified than the variety that is supposed to follow extended acquaintance.—Richmon Times-Dispatch.

Feminine Courage.

"Don't you think women are naturally more courageous than men?" challenged the champion of her sex.
"Of course," said the horrid cynic.
"No man would ever dare to get off a car the way the average woman does."

Keeps Putting 'Em Up.

"I won't bet with you," said the baker. "You haven't the dough."
"Oh, I guess I can put up the stakes!" replied the butcher.—Boston

Wit of the Force.

The policeman had a gambler by the arm and was waiting for the patrol wagon to arrive."What are you doing?" asked a friend of the officer who happened to be passing."I am holding a card party," replied the cop.—Boston Transcript.

Romeo and Juliet.

"Was Rome founded by Romeo?" inquired a pupil of the teacher.
"No, my son," replied the wise man.
"It was Juliet who was found dead by Romeo."Careworn man has in all ages sown vanity to reap despair.—Goethe.

Curious Cannon.

Not only uniforms, but even cannon have been made of paper in the past.
This experiment was once tried by Krupp's, field pieces of small caliber being composed of a metal core surrounded by a compressed paper pulp.
The idea at the back of this was that guns made of paper would, of course, be far lighter and easier to carry about than guns made of metal.All kinds of substances have been tried for the manufacture of cannon.
Weapons of wood and stone were once quite common. The Swedes in former times used leather cannon, while in India cannon of almost pure gold have been discovered. When Cortes left Mexico the Mexicans attempted to copy his guns in china.Perhaps the most extraordinary guns ever manufactured were the six employed for the firing of salutes at a winter fete in Petrograd in the year 1740. These had an effective range of about sixty yards, successfully withstood the test of firing without bursting and were made of—ice!—London

How to Take a Sun Bath.

To get the maximum benefit from sun baths a regular formal routine should be followed.The first exposure to the sun's rays should not be longer than 10 minutes.
The head should be shaded, while as much of the rest of the body as possible should be bared to the healing rays.
The best time is about two hours after a meal. On the next day and on succeeding days longer exposures are allowed, increasing as tanning takes place. With little care all acute burning or blistering of the skin is avoided.After the skin has been fully tanned two or more baths a day may be taken.
While sufferers from chronic tubercular disease and anaemia make up the bulk of the patients at the numerous established sun cure sanatoria on the continent, the treatment will be found to have a noticeably bracing and invigorating effect on those generally run down and debilitated.—London Mail.

Relic of the Romans in England.

A farmer brought about the discovery of a mysterious house in Somerset, England. In plowing he turned up several pieces of pottery and some coins.
Men were set to digging on the spot and uncovered the charred ruins of an immense house. It was about 180 feet long, 35 feet wide and contained nineteen rooms. The outer walls, still standing, are of heavy masonry, and the floors are of concrete. Some of them were formerly covered with tiles.
Quantities of charcoal over the ruins showed that the building was destroyed by fire. The house has been examined by scholars, who say that it was built in the days when the Romans were in possession of England, about 2,000 years ago. The occupants have left many relics scattered about the ruins—pottery dishes and utensils, a grindstone, a small whetstone and other objects. Buried in a corner were several pieces of window glass and the neck of a small glass vase.

Man and Labor.

Lady Russell in her volume "Swallowfield and Its Owners" points out that in 1820 the Berkshire estate came into the hands of Sir Henry Russell, who had been a friend of Dr. Johnson.
It was at Russell's table that one day the doctor maintained that "no man loved labor, no man would work if he could help it." Reynolds objected and gave Pope for instance. But Pope's inspiration, said the doctor, "was the love of fame and not the love of labor. Leander swam the Hellespont, but that doesn't prove that he loved swimming."

some one he thinks more fortunate.—
