

LOCAL BREVITIES

Commissioner Tom Butler was in town Monday.

It is both pleasant and comfortable to see the street mud again.

Mrs. Ollie MacDonald made a shopping trip to Albany last Saturday.

Loss of stock up in the vicinity of Gates is reported with about all the feed exhausted.

Rev. Iler and family are stopping at the Scio hotel, pending the vacation of the parsonage.

Frank McDonald will move to his ranch, near Mehama, as soon as the weather will permit.

Mrs. Edess Cox, of Springfield, is a guest at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Ollie MacDonald, this week.

Jesse Rodgers is reported to have lost about 50 head of sheep, owing to the severity of the weather.

We make a specialty of Friendship, Engagement and Wedding Rings. F. M. French & Son, Albany, Oregon.

Mrs. F. M. Arnold and little son, of Albany, came over Saturday for a short visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Gill.

While an accurate measurement has not been kept, it is thought the snow fall for the winter has not been above 12 inches.

Portland newspapers of Wednesday evening and Thursday morning gave a large amount of their news space to storm stories.

Frank Shelton, who has been spending the winter in Scio, started on the return to his mining claims near Yreka, Cal., yesterday.

The tail end of the Portland storm switched as far south as Scio, Wednesday night, covering the ground with near an inch of snow.

The Tribune family is indebted to Frank Thayer for a small pail of excellent sausage. There is some sense in having friends of his class.

L. R. Allphin, of Albany, came over Tuesday evening to take A. E. Edwards' place in The Tribune composing room, pending the severe illness of Mrs. Edwards.

Another inch of snow was added to the blanket then covering the earth in this locality last Thursday night, but was followed by a sunshiny snow melting day Friday.

Leonidas Lodge No. 36, K. of P., is flourishing nicely. Some four candidates are ready for initiation, who have been delayed by the disagreeable weather and sickness.

Don't forget that Gov. Withycombe is billed to speak in Scio on February 19. It is desired that everybody will bring a well-filled basket of good things to eat at that time.

Governor Withycombe's activities in arranging the State Fair board to suit his particular English notion, has not earned him any friends. It has placed his administration in an attitude to attract criticism which was wholly unnecessary.

O. T. Porter, a once business associate of this editor, died at his home in Albany last week; aged 79 years. Mr. Porter had been the editor of the Harrisburg Bulletin, the Albany Herald and the Albany Bulletin and at one time wielded a considerable influence in state politics.

Dr. J. G. Turner, formerly of Lowe & Turner, the eye specialists of Portland, will be in Scio again Friday, February 11 at Hotel parlors. Headaches relieved, cross eyes straightened. No charge for consultation or examination. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Yesterday was the Chinese New Year day.

Mrs. N. I. Morrison was in Portland last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gooch were Albany visitors last week.

Thirty-five ewes for sale. Enquire of C. U. Sangog, Scio, Ore.

The Ford Motor Co. expect to trebble the size of their plant this spring.

The deepest snow of the winter in Scio, fell last Friday night, being near six inches in depth.

C. C. Simons of Sweet Home, was looking after business matters in Stayton and Scio last week.

Dr. Dale, of Harrisburg, was in town Tuesday called here in consultation in the case of Mrs. A. E. Edwards.

As the far-famed groundhog could not see his shadow yesterday, the country may now be regarded as being safe, with an early spring in prospect.

Quite a number of Scio people have been feeding the birds. So far as we can learn, small birds have been well cared for. Bobwhites and pheasants have not fared so well.

Hon. Sam'l. M. Garland, of Lebanon, came over Monday morning and delivered an excellent address to our public and high schools. Quite a number of school patrons were present.

Strange, but a fact nevertheless. When a man gets a taste of a court-house job he can scarcely be persuaded to let go. He seems to think the people need him one place or another right along.

Mrs. A. E. Edwards, who has been sick for the past two weeks, was taken bad Tuesday morning, necessitating her husband, A. E. Edwards foreman of The Tribune office, to be at her bedside.

Everybody should insist on W. P. Elmore of Brownsville coming out for the legislature again. He proved himself to be valuable to the people at the last session and with the experience he has had, can be more valuable than ever at the next session. Mr. Elmore, the people need you.

Eagle Dynamites Barn

Sutherland, Or., Feb. 2.—Ike Gervais, a rancher and hunter of the Wild Horse region, has abandoned a sure method of exterminating the American eagle. He has been troubled by the birds preying on lambs.

Catching an eagle in a steel trap Mr. Gervais wired half a stick of dynamite to the bird's foot, lighted the fuse and turned the captive loose. Sticks and profanity failed to dislodge it from the roof of his log barn, where it alighted.

The roof disappeared in a cloud of smoke and feathers.

SCHOOL NOTES

The second semester was opened Monday morning with a selection by the Glee Club and a heart to heart and inspiring address made by Senator Garland of Lebanon. He also spoke separately to the High school, and especially for the benefit of the teachers' training class. Mr. Ewing was a distinguished visitor.

An Athletic Association has been organized and officers for the same have been elected as follows: President, Delbert Long; Vice president, Clair McClain; Secretary, Sylvia Gooch; Treasurer, Gene Bowman.

A taffy party will be given by the Senior Domestic Science class, which finished last semester, to the Domestic Science classes 1 and 2, on Groundhog's night.

The girls' class teams for basketball were organized Monday and will soon compete in contests for the entertainment of the public as well as for physical exercise.

The boys' basketball has arrived lately and they are anxious to try a game with the girls.

During Senator Garland's visit he offered a second medal for the best English essay written by High school pupils. The High school certainly appreciates his kind and liberal offer.

The senior play is being decided on and will be ordered in due time to be practiced by those who will take part.

The representatives appointed last Friday for the decision whether or not the idea of an Athletic Association could be carried out were: Orville Gilbert, Delbert Long, Victor Lyon, Clair McClain, Gene Bowman, Tedmela Kukacka, Loreen White, Sylvia Gooch, Bertha Smith.

If you want any of the daily papers, The Tribune will get them for you at Bargain Day rates, providing you pay for The Tribune one year in advance.
