Orvel Edwards is visiting relatives in Salem this week.

Albany garages are selling gasoline at 20 cents per gallon.

Prof. O. V. White was looking after business matters in Albany Tuesday.

Farmer Fred Jones says he is well pleased with the change from city to country life.

New clover hay sells at $5 per ton in the field. Frank Thayer has a large crop of it.

Prof. O. V. White expects to spend a part of his vacation season in looking after politics.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Arnold and little son, of Albany, spent Sunday in this city with relatives.

The Oregon department of the Grand Army of the Republic, is in session this week at Eugene.

For Sale—Fancy Burbank seed potatoes. Inquire of M. Kelly, Jefferson, Ore., Phone, Home 1x6, Bell, 8 F 34.

School Supervisor Joseph Benner has filed his resignation as school supervisor with the county board of education.

Hiram Parker, of Albany, formerly engaged in the saw mill business up Thomas creek, passed through town Tuesday.

We make a specialty of Friendship, Engagement and Wedding Rings. F. M. French & Son, Albany, Oregon.

P. H. MacDonald was unlucky enough to get his new Studebaker car smashed down at the Portland rose carnival.

Anybody desiring to butcher an animal can have the use of our slaughter house and tools, free of charge, if they desire. Sanitary Market.

Ira Bilyeu was brought down from the Dennis O'Brien wood camp, Friday, seriously ill. He was taken to the home of his brother, Walter.

Fred Bilyeu went to Portland the first of the week to have one of his new Ford cars nickel plated. He added several new Fords to his stock of cars last week.

Mrs. Turek and sons Rudolph and Oscar, of Oakland, Cal., arrived in Scio Saturday, expecting to make a two-months visit with her sister, Mrs. Albert Young, of south of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bilyeu and Mr. and Mrs. Varde Shelton, all of the upper Thomas creek and Bilyeu Den countries, were Albany visitors Saturday. Roe Shelton took them over in his autobus.

M. C. Gaines, one of our leading farmers of south of town, added his name to The Tribune's list of subscribers last week. Coaly has not forgotten that this editor assisted in his election as sheriff of Linn county back in the '90s.

Preparations for the celebration of July 4th are under way, a fall program of the exercises will be published next week. All of the exercises will be held at the fair grounds which will be of interest to all during the entire day.

Perhaps many of our citizens do not know that the remonstrance not only blocks street improvements under the councilmanic plan, but blocks all improvement for the year. The council can now do nothing for the period of six months, according to the provisions of the charter, which means nothing until next year, unless the property owners petition the council to permit them (the property owners) to make the improvement.

T. J. Munkers, of Portland, was looking after business matters in Scio yesterday.

People are now desirous of a good warm rain. It is needed for the late grain and gardens.

Velma Edwards is visiting her little friend, Bernadean Shumaker, in Jefferson this week.

Most of the business houses and residences of Scio were decorated with the national colors yesterday.

Bill Young and Ot Alexander returned from a trip to Ranier, Ore., and the Portland rose show, Saturday.

For Sale—A Harley - Davidson motorcycle, in good condition, ready for use, cheap. Inquire at The Tribune office.

The road from West Scio to Munkers has been surfaced with gravel, shipped from Albany. It will be in fine condition for next winter.

The south side commenced street improvement yesterday. The boys over there say they will make the north side ashamed of themselves for lack of public spirit.

The Scio Dramatic troupe played an engagement at Sublimity last Friday night. Roger Cain carried the troupe and paraphernalia over in over in his auto truck.

Wm. Brenner tore up his board walk last week, preparatory to replacing the same with a cement walk. He will also grade the street in front of his property.

Ex-State Senator A. J. Johnson of Corvallis, was on our streets yesterday. Mr. Johnson was a former resident of Scio but is now at the head of a large banking business in Corvallis.

The cripple brigade has a new recruit. Harry Johnson appeared on the streets Monday morning with his left foot out of commission, caused by a heavy log falling upon it when sawing.

Joe Young says that he was too busy during his young manhood days to get married and now, in his mature years, he is so fixed in his habits of life, that he does not wish to change them.

Miss Grace Gill, who has been having her eyes treated by a Portland specialist, came up home last week. One eye is all right but the other is still on the sick list, requiring her to remain indoors.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Miller are the proud parents of a daughter, who came to their home on June 11. The new comer is a lusty 10-pounder and makes her wants known in a way which will not admit of denial.

The Tribune is indebted to F. J. Denny, a prominent farmer and hop raiser down Jefferson way, for a pleasant call last Thursday afternoon. He was having his buggy horse shod, presumably to let his auto rest.

It is now planned on the south side, to go ahead with street improvement, though not in exact accord with the city engineer's plans. The property owners, with the aid of road district funds, purpose doing the work.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Snyder, of Sand Ridge, recently celebrated their golden wedding. A report of the same with their pictures was published in last Sunday's Oregonian. They are acquaintances and friends of The Tribune family, which extends congratulations.

Why not organize a non-partisan political association in Scio before which all county candidates will be invited to speak, especially the legislative candidates? The people are deeply interested in the work of our next legislature and have a right to know the views of the candidates of all parties.

The south sides are beginning already to invite the people of the north side to move over into the progressive part of town. They sure have the call on us.

The MacDonald-Morris party returned from the Portland rose show Tuesday evening. Pete says the party who ran into his auto and smashed it, paid for all repairs, replacing the injured parts where the finish had been scratched, with new parts.

V. L. Calavan, of Linn City, came over from Albany yesterday morning, bound for his old home in Bilyeu Den, for a few days visit with relatives and incidentally, piscatorial diversions. Prof. Calavan is principal of the schools of Linn City. He also owns a half interest in a drug business in Albany.

Petty Politics Avoided

Washington, June 14.—Efforts to insert a plank in the democratic platform favoring a law to prohibit federal judges from leaving the bench to accept an elective office will not be countenanced by President Wilson.

Administration officials let it be known that the president had sent word to St. Louis that he did not want any petty politics played.

An Excellent Cuisine

Wm. Ehlert, who is now proprietor of the Russ house, in Albany, invites all of his old friends and the traveling public in general to sample the splendid meals he is now serving. Good well prepared, served as you get it at home and without attempting any unnecessary display, is the rule at the Russ house. If you desire a good wholesome eat and plenty of it, the Ehlert is the place to go. tf.

Mark Weatherford's Chances Good

If Mark Weatherford, of Albany, candidate for congress, gets the full democratic vote, which he will and the prohibition vote which is promised him, and the republican voters who are weary with the fossilized stand-pat ideas of Mr. Hawley, he is sure of election.

It is Mr. Weatherford's plan to campaign the outlying sections of this congressional district very thoroughly, to get acquainted with the people and their desires.

Mr. Weatherford is an excellent speaker and possesses a personality which leaves a favorable impression wherever he goes. Being just in the morning of the prime of life with a desire to benefit people rather than to advance his personal interests, The Tribune predicts that Mr. Hawley will have all he can do to maintain the prestige which he has been able to hold among the people heretofore. When a public official, especially a congressman, gets into a rut, the time for his retirement has arrived. Mr. Hawley has reached the rut stage and it is but just to the people that he gives way to younger and more active blood. Mr. Weatherford supplies every thing desirable in a congressman.

Wanted at once—Two cords of 16 inch big fir wood, free of large knots, at The Tribune office.

A WALL PAPER STORY

A merchant once decided to go into the wall paper business, so he placed an order with an affable, honest appearing young salesman and soon had the goods in stock to sell.

Being an honest merchant and ignorant in the wall paper business, added to the cost of the goods only a fair profit plus the cost of doing business.

By the end of the second year he began to wonder why he lost so many sales on wall paper and discovered that his stock was so depleted that his customers had no choice in designs. He tried to buy new stock for those numbers that were short and was advised by his wholesaler to purchase an entire new and up-to-date stock. He decided to do so, and tried to sell the remnants of his old stock, but discovered that he didn't have enough of any one kind to paper a pantry. Surely, if he stayed in the wall paper business, he had to throw out his old stock and buy new, so he sat down tired to absorb the idea. The stock he had on hand (a total loss) had cost him more than he had gained in profit on the goods sold, so he was really behind the game. He spent the next few days trying to figure out how he could stay in business under the throw-it-out-and-buy-more system and by the end of the week he decided it couldn't be done.

Having a few old fashioned scruples about fair profit and honest business, he quit. BUT THAT ISN'T THE WAY WE DO BUSINESS.

Uhl Bros. have a system in the wall paper business which rivals the perfection of the Rexall drug store system. Each year we will receive thirty-six or more designs and place them on sale at a fair profit. At the end of the year Uhl Bros' agent collects the remnants and ships them back to the wholesaler where they are sorted and rebound into new assortments and sold to second class trade. No loss because we receive credit for goods returned. In our store you will find as many of these designs displayed as the length of the building will permit, and if it is inconvenient just now for you to call at the store, please ask us by telephone or post card to mail you a catalog.

Price to price, and quality to quality, we guarantee to meet all competition, including mail order houses.

Yours for service

THE ARM OF A SETTEE

It was hollow. In cleaning house mother discovered it. She thought it was a good place to keep her money. She gathered together $150 in bills and hid them in the hollow arm of the old settee. The other day she went to add some more bills to them, when she found mice had made a nest of her $150. The Bank is a good place to "hide" your money. It is safe, and so is your money.
