Eighteen measures will be found on the ballot next fall when the Oregon voter goes into the booth to vote.

It is quite time to get action with our rock crusher. In a short time it will be difficult to get hands to operate it.

Geo. Morgan says the rock in the new quarry on the Munkers hill is about the hardest rock which he has ever worked.

Infantile paralysis has become epidemic in New York City. Death claims a baby for every hour of the twenty-four.

We make a specialty of Friendship, Engagement and Wedding Rings. F. M. French & Son, Albany, Oregon.

Miss Nita Bilyeu went to Lebanon Saturday. From there she with friends, started on Sunday for an auto trip to Hood River.

The outlook for a rousing good fair in Scio next fall is excellent. The fruit and vegetable exhibit should be unusually good.

Paving talk for the south side has resulted in bringing all north side property owners together with a determination to pave as well.

Let us hope when we let our paving contracts we do not place ourselves in the clutches of some paving company as has some of our neighboring towns.

Mr. and Mrs. John Compton, of Independence, came up Friday for a few days visit at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Compton, of this city.

Prineville, which has been the county seat of Crook county since the county was organized, may lose the same. Bend is endeavoring to capture the county business.

Too much time must elapse from the primary to the general election. It is equivalent to two campaigns in one year. This with the school and city elections, requires so much time that voters lose interest.

Mrs. Rose Wesely returned from Portland last Saturday evening, where she had been for six weeks taking medical treatment. She returned greatly improved with the assurance that in time she will completely regain her health.

Major McAlexander, formerly military instructor over at O. A. C. has been promoted to lieutenant colonel. He will take command of the 3rd Oregon regiment down on the border about August 1, by request of Governor Withycombe.

Mr. Prosek, a relative of the Wesely and Young families, who has been visiting in Scio for the past month, returned to his home in San Francisco, starting yesterday evening. Mr. Prosek says he has been having the time of his life while here.

Clarence Wiley, of Sweet Home, was in town a short time yesterday.

John Wesely, and his uncle, Mr. Prosek, of San Francisco, drove to Albany Friday morning.

Pete MacDonald and party were up to Bilyeu creek Sunday and brought home good baskets of trout.

Mrs. Lizzie Sutherland and her sister, Miss Cary, of Berkeley, Cal., are visiting relatives and friends in Scio, their girlhood home.

When the election pamphlets are sent out voters should scan them closely. There are several measures upon which voters should sit severely.

Perry Bilyeu, who lives on the Lebanon-Scio road near Crabtree, comes to Scio so seldom that his visit yesterday is worthy of personal mention.

Haying is in full progress in this locality. With the favorable weather which we have been having, a good crop in first class condition is being harvested.

The K. of P. lodge had work in the first and second ranks, Tuesday night. Installation of officers for the semi-annual term will occur next Tuesday night.

The Potter lumber and shingle mill of near Mill City, was completely destroyed by fire about midnight Tuesday. The loss is placed at $40,000. The capacity of the mill was 65,000 feet of lumber and one car of shingles daily.

Lebanon Mill Burns

The Lebanon Planing mill and sawmill burned Tuesday afternoon, the mill and the stock being almost entirely consumed.

The loss is fixed at $10,000 and was partly covered by insurance.

Just how the fire started is not known. The flames spread rapidly as a result of the dry condition of the roof and soon enveloped the entire structure.

Was Buried in Portland

Lieutenant Henry C. Adair, who was killed in the massacre at Carrizal, Mexico and which battle came near bringing on war between the United States and Mexico, was buried in Portland yesterday with all the pomp that could be given to a military funeral. The United States, the state and the city of Portland, all taking part in paying the last tribute of respect and honor to the brave soldier.

Wool Pool Sold

Last Saturday the annual wool pool, consisting of about 4000 fleeces was sold at auction to M. Senders & Co., of Albany, for 34½ cents per pound. Several bidders were present, so that any idea of a combination of bidders is not tenable.

This sale should distribute among our growers, which includes about all of our farmers, a sum near $7000.

Charged For Finding Tire

About one month ago E. C. Peery had an auto tire repaired in Albany. The repairers placed it so carelessly on the tire rack of the auto that it was lost before he arrived at the Jefferson bridge. A Jefferson man found it, but made no effort to find the owner. Mr. Peery accidentally got on track of it and Tuesday went to Jefferson after it. The finder had the gall to charge $3.50 for picking the tire up in the road. He stated he could have sold the tire for more money. Some people do not steal because of the consequence but this finder was evidently not anxious to find the owner.

HOLLEY ITEMS

We are having a few clear days now and everybody is rushing in his hay. You can hear the hum of the mower in the field, which tells us harvest time is here.

Mrs. Wilda King and Paul Hicks were married at Albany and went to Moro, Sherman county to work.

Willie Robison has gone to Washington to work through harvest.

Saturday night the friends of Roy Thompson gathered at his home and had a bonfire party to celebrate his birthday. They all enjoyed themselves fine until midnight, when they all departed for home.

Alfred Blatchford returned from a trip to Portland in their auto last Monday evening.

Most of the farmers are busy in their hay these warm days, which are most welcome.

We understand the county court has ordered the grading done on the ferry site landing.

A. Shanks and wife and Calavan Trollinger and mother went to the Turner Christian convention Sunday and report a very small crowd for opening day.

Mr. Adams, a Portland buyer of hogs, sheep and cattle, bought two car loads of stock in this vicinity the past week and all report him a good buyer to sell to.

A. Shanks, our station agent, has been bothered with his eyes and believe he is almost blind, for he was on our streets at 1 p. m. Monday with the head and tail lights on his Ford burning.

Carl Follis, of Kingston and Miss Mae George, of Shelburn, motored to Salem Sunday.

Trollinger Bros. are loading a car of ties this week.

Mrs. Francis Marmon is camping at Salem, picking loganberries.

Grandma Gibbons stays about the same, gradually growing weaker.

Heard Victor Murdock

Tuesday evening E. C. Peery, Roe Lindley, J. F. Prochaska and The Tribune editor motored over to the Albany chautauqua to hear the much talked of Victor Murdock, of Kansas, deliver a lecture.

Mr. Murdock is rather under medium size and is somewhere above 50 years of age. By occupation in civil life he is a newspaper man, though he has been a member of congress from Kansas for several years. The subject of his lecture was "The Tomorrow of the United States."

Last year Mr. Murdock visited the war zone on the side of England and France and his description of the same was most interesting. The speaker then paid his respects to congress and particularly to the senate branch thereof. His reference to "senatorial courtesy" was most amusing and compared the same to a species of "dry rot." He then referred to the exposed condition of Oregon's coast line and urged the wisdom of preparing to resist a possible attack from European nations and Japan, sometime in the near future.
