

LOCAL BREVITIES

The O'Brien wood camp were floating papermill wood down Thomas creek the first of the week.

Miss Ruby Yates, of Wasco and Miss Daisy Pollock, of Eugene, were guests over last Sunday of Miss Grace Gill.

Have you tried any of the home product sausages made in a clean kitchen at the Sanitary market?

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bryant, of Shelburn, are the proud parents of a bouncing baby boy, which arrived August 18.

Judges of exhibits at the fair will cost the association $10 each this year. Heretofore their services have been free.

We make a specialty of Friendship, Engagement and Wedding Rings. F. M. French & Son, Albany, Oregon.

The MacDonald party returned from Belknap hot springs Sunday. They report it rained nearly all the time they were there.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Peery and daughter, Miss Edress, left yesterday on an auto trip to Newport and other beach points.

Oregon now has 30,504 automobiles. To see them on the road and in the cities, one would think there were double this number.

Found—A container for headlight glass of an automobile. Call at this office and pay for this notice and get your property.

John Wesley and Dr. Sanderson who, with their families, were camping up near Jordan on Thomas creek last week, had their outing cut short by rains. They returned Thursday evening.

Reports from nearly all points in Linn county and from mouth of and including Salem in Marion county, go to show that we will have record crowds at the fair. It is probably the Salem Cherrians will attend as a body in uniform.

Main street on the north side is now said to be properly graded and is ready for the pavers. Because of red-tape slowness, no further work will be done until after the fair. Early winter rains may find the work incomplete.

Scio people who are early risers report a light frost was observed on the walks last Friday morning. Frost in August is something hitherto unheard of in Scio, say our residents who have lived in Scio almost from the time the first house was builded.

Our free ferry across the North Santiam near Shelburn, is slow in materializing. We are told the roads on both sides of the river are ready. The boat only is lacking. Commissioner Butler promised that it should be in operation by the time our fair was on. Mr. Butler, get busy!

Mrs. Rebecca Morris returned from a several weeks visit to relatives in Portland and Albany. She says that Portland and Albany are all right and are good sized villages, but they fade into insignificance when she thinks of Scio, for Scio is the home of her friends and the place around which her girlhood memories cling.

For Sale—120 acres of land two miles southwest of Scio, good new and modern 8 room house, bath, pantry, fair large barn, family orchard, berries, etc. Will sell either the whole or subdivide into 40 and 80 acre tracts. Title good. Will sell for cash or take other land for part payment, if suited. Very reasonable price. E. F. Titus. tf

County Commissioner Irvine was in town a short time Saturday afternoon.

Elmo Sims, who has been taking his annual layoff from R. F. D. No. 2, resumed his duties today.

One of the hay baling force working with the Arnold baler, was overcome with the heat yesterday.

Miss Britta Powell, after a most enjoyable visit with home folks, is on her return to place of duty at Sacramento, Cal.

Leonard Gilkey's team ran away Wednesday evening drawing the wagon over Leonard and severely bruising his head.

The Coos bay jubilee is drawing crowds from both Oregon and California. Miss Coos Bay is getting the biggest advertising she ever had.

The Frank Thayer thresher was started up yesterday for its first run. Starting so late, the run may be continuous until the spring crops are taken care of.

Our old G. A. R. friend, W. S. Carpenter, returned from his Portland visit Friday evening, fully convinced that Hughes would win the election in November.

If you have not an exhibit for the county fair, why not? Almost everyone has something of superior quality which is worthy of exhibition. Why not try for a premium?

The coarse gravel which has been scraped to the center of Main street and which will have to be removed before paving, should be removed before the fair for appearance sake.

C. W. Wallace, who is time clerk over at Bremerton navy yard, with his family was visiting Scio relatives. Mr. Wallace was formerly Rural Route carrier on Route 5 out of Albany.

Pay cash for your groceries and you will not get a cigar. Buy them on credit and when you pay the bill the cigar is forthcoming. This is a peculiar feature in that a premium is offered for credit purchases.

Next Saturday afternoon is the Albany monthly sales day. The sales day is growing into a success. Such would be a good plan for all towns to pursue. It is simply a means to bring buyer and seller together.

Uncle Jim Hassler, of near LaComb, nevertheless he is 84, was in town Saturday. Uncle Jim begins to show the decrepitude of age, but is as cheerful in spirit as when he was younger. His general health is fairly good.

Dr. I. E. Bellinger, of Sweet Home, was a caller at The Tribune office Saturday afternoon. Much to be regretted, the editor was absent temporarily and failed to extend the hand of greeting. Call again, Doctor and we will try to be at home.

M. E. Roth, one of the prosperous farmers of Goltra station, was in town Tuesday morning. He reported harvest progressing nicely with satisfactory grain yields. Clover, while not yielding over heavily, the quality of the seed is first class.

The fight for sheriff in Linn county is getting warm. Both candidates, Parker and Bodine, are natives of the county. Parker is a member of that pioneer bedrock democratic family headed by his grandfather, "Uncle Tom" Umphrey. We know he is educationally qualified and he sure would not be invisible in a hunt for criminals. His friends are confident of his election.—Jefferson Review.

ELKHORN ITEMS

The Silver King superintendent, Mr. Traver, is kept busy sharpening steel and getting out plans for a new plant.

The crew at the Crown are working three shifts on the new vein they have recently discovered and the boys expect to make a rich strike at every shot.

The Cedar Creek Milling and Mining company is rushing the building of the cook house and cabins, as they are looking for the machinery to arrive every day.

Messrs Mahoney, Parks and Jones have made a strike on Stack creek. Their first load of ore left camp this morning for the smelter at Tacoma for a mill test.

The Electric people have about 600 tons of ore blocked out, waiting for repairs on the machinery.

Fishing is reported to be very poor on the Little North Fork for the time of year.

A. T. Powell, one of the heavy stockholders of the Crown property, had a narrow escape from death, when at the Crown mine last week. He was cutting a footlog across the river when he slipped and fell into the water where it was eight feet deep and was forced to swim about 30 yards in the ice cold water to get out. Despite his age, 82 years, he made the bank in safety. Messrs Peery and Erickson claimed they found an empty bottle and a plug of tobacco on the bar below the place where the accident happened.

The long promised rock crusher, drawn by six horses, passed through town yesterday morning. It will be set up for work at the rock quarry on the Munkers hill. Road Supervisor Riley Shelton is master of ceremonies.
