

THE SCIO TRIBUNE

VOL. 5, NO. 13.

SCIO, LINN COUNTY, OREGON, SEPTEMBER 7, 1916

$1.25 THE YEAR

Facts Emphasized By President Wilson In His Acceptance of the Nomination

Democratic Record—I have no disposition to boast of what the democratic party has accomplished. It has merely done its duty. It has merely fulfilled its explicit promises. Constructive action must be weighed against destructive comment and reaction.

Republican record—The republican party was put out of power because of failure, practical failure and moral failure; because it had served special interests and not the Progressive Principles—We have in four years come very near to carrying out the platform of the progressive party as well as our own, for we also are progressive. Fought by Big Interests—There is one circumstance connected with this program that ought to be plainly stated. It was presented at every step by the interests which the republican party had catered to and fostered at the expense of the country, and these same interests country at large.

The Tariff—The tariff has been revised, not on the principle of repelling foreign trade, but upon the principle of encouraging it.

Federal Reserve Act—By the Federal Reserve Act the supply of currency at the disposal of active business has been rendered elastic, taking its volume from the liquid assets of daily trade, and these are assessed by bankers who are in touch with local conditions.

Merchant Marine—Effective measures have been taken for the re-creation of an American merchant marine and the revival of the American carrying trade indispensable to our emancipation from the control which foreigners have so long exercised.

Helping the Farmer—For the farmers of the country we have virtually created commercial credit by means of the federal reserve act and the rural credit act. They now have the standing of other business men in the money market.

Helping Labor—The workingmen of America have been given a veritable emancipation by the legal recognition of a man's labor as part of his life and not a mere marketable commodity. We have effected the emancipation of the children of the country by releasing them from hurtful labor.

are now earnestly paying for a reaction that will save their privileges.

Foreign Affairs—In foreign affairs we have been guided by principles clearly conceived and consistently lived up to. We have been neutral. Where the rights of our own citizens became involved this was our guiding principle: Property rights can be vindicated by claims for damages. The loss of life is irreparable. Neither can direct violations of a nation's sovereignty await vindication in suits for damages.

Disloyalists in America—I am the candidate of a party, but I am above all things else an American citizen. I neither seek the favor nor fear the displeasure of that small alien element amongst us which puts loyalty to any foreign power before loyalty to the United States.

The Mexican Problem—We believe that the people of small and weak states have the right to expect to be dealt with exactly as the people of big and powerful states would be. We have acted upon that principle in dealing with the people of Mexico. They are entitled to attempt their liberty and so long as I have anything to do with the action of our great government I shall do everything in my power to prevent anyone standing in their way. I know this is hard for some persons to understand; but it is not hard for

WILSON TO BEGIN ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

The President is Enthusiastic Over the Reception in Kentucky and Virginia

Washington, Sept. 5.—President Wilson returned today to Washington from Hodgenville, Ky. and immediately began work incident to the adjournment of congress. Friday he goes to Atlantic City to address the National American Suffrage Association.

After that the president plans to go to his summer home, Shadow Lawn, at Long Branch, N. J. and remain there during practically all of the presidential campaign. The executive offices will be moved to Asbury Park, N. J., Friday.

President Wilson was enthusiastic over the reception accorded him in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia yesterday.

With the present session of congress practically over, the president considers the campaign on from his standpoint. Last night he passed through the territory in which Charles E. Hughes, the republican presidential nominee, spoke today. At Lexington a crowd of several thousand persons with a band cheered him continuously until his train pulled out.

Today the president continued to refuse to make political speeches on the trip because he went to Hodgenville, Ky. to honor Abraham Lincoln. He expressed his attitude last night to a crowd at Winchester, which demanded a speech.

Oregon and Washington Troops Are at Home

The Mexican crisis is now regarded as being past and all differences between the two governments will be adjusted by the joint commission now in session.

The Oregon and Washington regiments are now in their home camps and, doubtless, will soon be discharged. Their two months stay on the border, with the other national guard regiments has, evidently, convinced the Carranza Mexican government that the United States were in earnest. General Pershing and his troops will be recalled from Mexico and again assume border duty. Let us hope that with the Mexican election now about to be held, that peace will be established in that unhappy country.

It is a matter of congratulation that our Oregon boys have acquitted themselves in an honorable manner and that the show of force on the border, of which they were a part, has had the desired effect.

the plain people of the United States to understand. * * * The unspeakable Huerta betrayed the very comrades he served. The men who overcame him and drove him out, represent at least the fierce passion of reconstruction which lies at the very heart of liberty, and so long as they represent, however imperfectly, such a struggle for deliverance, I am ready to serve their ends when I can. I am more interested in the fortunes of oppressed men and pitiful women and children than in any property rights.

WILSON SIGNS BILL FOR EIGHT-HOUR DAY

Permanency of Peace Now Up to Courts if the Railroads Decide to Test Law

Washington, Sept. 3.—The Adamson eight-hour-day bill, exacted from congress last week by the railroad brotherhoods as the price of calling off the Nation-wide strike ordered for tomorrow, was signed by President Wilson today in his private car at the Union station, where he stopped on his way from Shadow Lawn, N. J., to Hodgenville, Ky.

That there may be no question of the legality of the measure as a result of its having been signed on Sunday, the president will affix his signature again on his return to Washington next Tuesday.

How long peace shall reign as a result of the bill is dependent on developments in the proposed test of the constitutionality of the act. Should the railroads take no action, but await the beginning of an investigation of the workings of the eight-hour day by the special commission for which the measure provides, the brotherhoods will remain intact.

The employees' leaders declare, however, that should the law be held unconstitutional and the railroads attempt to restore the 10-hour day on their lines a strike will follow immediately.

Senator LaFollett was the only republican senator who voted for the eight-hour bill. Senators Clarke, of Arkansas and Hardwick, of Georgia, were the only democrats who voted against the measure.

Misses Keith Van Winkle and Audie Liska came over Friday and are guests at the Liska home near Scio.

paign than any living politician in the Pine Tree state can remember. Monday, Sept. 11 is election day and both the republican and democratic organizations, prior to that date, will have unloaded their heaviest thunder through the medium of their best speakers and most commanding figures.

Intensive field work is being done in every section of the state on behalf of the republican state committee. This field work virtually amounts to a house-to-house canvass and personal missionary work among the individual voters.

Republicans admittedly are more hard up than ever for issues.

The democrats are meeting the big republican drive with a campaign of unprecedented velocity and completeness, in which several members of President Wilson's cabinet, several democratic governors and a score of United States senators and congressmen are taking part.
