OREGON WILL LOSE REGIMENT MONDAY

Parade to Be Formed at 9:30 and Service Completed, After Which Men Will Be Paid

The Third Oregon Infantry will be mustered out of service next Monday at 9:30 a. m.

That is the date set yesterday by Captain Williams, of the United States army, chief mustering officer. Following this ceremony the old Third Oregon, as such, will cease to exist. Those who have not volunteered for service in the new regiment to be formed under the new army regulations, will be free from further military duty.

Absentees from the regiment have been ordered to report at camp for the muster out except those detained by illness.

The troops will form for parade on the target range at 9:30. After the muster-out the men will be paid.

Salem Editor Drowned

Leland G. Hendricks, managing editor of the Salem Statesman, was drowned last Friday while bathing in the Willamette river at or near Salem.

It is said Mr. Hendricks was unable to swim and, getting beyond his depth with no assistance near, the drowning resulted.

He was an exceptionally bright young man and of promise in his chosen career. The murmur occurred Monday.

Now that the necessary repairs for the rock crusher located on the Munkers hill have been received and that harvest will be concluded this week so that the necessary power for the crusher can be obtained, it is expected that the West Scio road and North and Main streets in Scio will be in a state of repairs, etc. in a few days.

Special Mission Services

Next Sunday Father Lane will hold services at the Catholic church in this city at 11 a. m. Special music by the Augmented choir will be rendered. A basket dinner will be served and at 3:30 p. m. Father Lane will speak on the subject of "Two Standards." Services will be held at 7:30 p. m. and continue on each evening at the same hour during the week. Subjects discussed will be Salvation, Sin, The Cure of Sin, The Eucharist, and the Bible. There will also be a question box. The public is cordially invited.

A Successful County Fair

E. H. Rhoten, who represented the Pacific Homestead at our late fair, gives the same a very thorough writeup, of which the following are the first two paragraphs:

"The annual Linn County fair was held at Scio last week. It was a success. It was on an average all that one should ask for or expect. It was a good county agricultural fair—some points extra strong, others not up to what one had a right to expect; but on an average it was good.

It would not be right to pass over this fair without commenting on the general management and the friendly spirit that was shown by those in charge. The writer is reminded of an incident that happened at a certain fair many years ago when a certain officer of the fair was trying to enforce a certain rule, which it was evident had never been made to apply to this particular incident. Some superior officers were called to settle the dispute and ruled against the other, when he responded that all he was doing was simply obeying orders. The superior officer replied: "You should obey orders, but also you should have some sense." The officers at the Scio fair obeyed the rules of the fair, but had some sense in applying them. There was apparently the best of feeling throughout."

SWEET HOME ORIGINATES AN IDEA

The Despised Evergreen Blackberry is Made the Central Idea For Important Civic Stunt

Linn county has some important public functions. Albany has her chautauqua, her monthly public sales day, besides such other stunts as Brother Fisher can think out; Lebanon her strawberry fair and chautauqua; Brownsville her pioneer picnic; Harrisburg her potato show; Holley her agricultural fair and Scio the Linn county fair.

Sweet Home, one of the most enterprising little towns in the valley, with railroad expectations has been content with an occasional 4th of July celebration. But she is not content with something every other town in the valley has had. She wanted something original—something new and some bright mind originated the Evergreen Blackberry fair idea. The originator deserves, at least, a silver medal for the idea.

The most prolific evergreen blackberry is generally regarded as a pest and is dreaded by most farmers. But the Brownville cannery tried the experiment of canning the berry and it won out. Now there is a demand for all the evergreen berries which can be canned and many people supply their winter clothing through this channel. The berries will grow in any old place and without care and a crop failure has not yet been known. Our Sweet Home friends propose to make this regarded pest a public benefactor. And it is, for it gives our boys and girls pocket money and rivals the hop picking camps for an outing for many families who have to hustle to pay the family grocery bill.

So on September 30, our Sweet Home friends propose to introduce the evergreen blackberry into good society. Hereafter this heretofore ignoble berry must be classed along with the aristocratic strawberry and Sweet Home has every right to be dubbed the "Evergreen Blackberry" city.

The Tribune hopes that the Sweet Home idea will take, for something useful and profitable is being emphasized. This roundup business which our Albany friends will stage, simply attracts because it is unusual. The riding of a bucking horse or the bulldogging of a wild steer is not elevating and is of no benefit to society whatever.

But the advertising of the lowly evergreen blackberry, is a lasting benefit to society. So go to it, Sweet Home, and make your Evergreen Blackberry fair a success and The Tribune man will endeavor to be there to congratulate you for your success.

Are Thankful

We sincerely wish to thank the many kind people in Scio and surrounding vicinity who have so kindly contributed to us and who have helped supply our many needs during Harry's sickness, who now is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Iler and son, Harry.

Will Live in Portland

Sunday morning O. B. Cyrus departed for Portland, expecting to reside there temporarily, at least. "Cob" said he hardly expected to be satisfied in a village after residing in the city of Scio for so many years. He thinks it is a difficult matter to teach an old dog new tricks.

Mrs. J. S. Morris and daughter, Miss Bessie, accompanied him for a visit with Portland relatives.

Salem Eolks Here

A. F. Wheeler, of Portland, C. P. Bishop, Dr. W. A. Cusick and D. F. Wagner, of Salem, were automobile visitors in Scio Tuesday. Messrs Wheeler and Cusick were boyhood residents of the vicinity of Scio and attended school near here of which Rev. Wm. Bishop, father of C. P. Bishop, was the teacher.

Mr. Bishop is one of Salem's leading merchants and, because of the new Shelburn free ferry, is considering the propriety of making a drive to turn Scio business Salemward.

The party returned by way of the new ferry to view out the possibilities.

Buckaroos Reach Albany

Albany had its first Round-up excitement Tuesday when a delegation of the genuine buckaroos from Pendleton who had been doing some exhibition stunts at the Eugene show last week arrived with Clarence Adams, who will have charge of the ring at the show.

Three carloads of lumber that will be used in constructing the bleachers for the round-up grounds are now on a siding near the grounds waiting to be unloaded.

Special Rates to State Fair

BRITONS PROPOSE TO GRADE TARIFFS

Four Classes Provided For—Ally, Friendly Neutral, Neutral, Enemy Come In Order

Washington, Sept. 17.—Division of the world into economic strata separated by tariff walls and classified as allies of the British empire, friendly neutrals, unfriendly neutrals and enemy countries, is urged by the London Chamber of Commerce. To clear the ground for this world reconstruction the Chamber concludes in a special report, a copy of which has just been received here, that abrogating of all "most-favored-nations" treaties, including that with the United States, is inevitable.

Free trade would be abandoned and a series of graded traffics proposed in line with the present war groupings of the nations.

All imports would be divided as follows:

Wholly manufactured goods, semi-manufactured goods and articles solely used as raw material in industries, manufactured foodstuffs and raw foodstuffs. All parts of the British empire and its allies would pay minimum duties; friendly neutrals which allow the United Kingdom most favored treatment would pay twice as much; other neutrals, giving preference to other powers and including neutrals which might be swung into the Teutonic commercial system would pay a still greater tax; and all "enemy" countries would pay the maximum duties, running up as high as 30 per cent.

Roughly it is estimated in the report that this change from free trade to protection would net a yearly revenue of about $375,000,000.
