SCIO, LINN COUNTY, OREGON, NOVEMBER 9, 1916

WILSON AND MARSHALL PROBABLY RE-ELECTED

West and South For the First Time in History Wield the Balance of Power

The election, though returns are not in from all of the pivotal states, seem to have gone to Woodrow Wilson, president and Thomas E. Marshall, vice president. This is the first time in the history of our nation when both president and vice president have been elected to succeed themselves in office. It is, also, the first instance in our history when the west and south has elected the president. Though the eastern states except New Hampshire, gave with 3, both favorable to Wilson and Minnesota with 12, which has probably been added to the Hughes column. This would give Mr. Hughes 259 electoral votes or 7 short of the 266 necessary for election. Adding California with 13 and New Mexico with 3, to the Wilson column, gives him 272, or six more than necessary to secure the election. Oregon has probably given Hughes a majority of 7000 to 8000. Hawley has won over Weatherford for congress.

a heavy vote for Hughes, the western states gave Wilson and Marshall such splendid support that the east and especially New York, can no longer wield the balance of political power.

It now appears that Wilson and Marshall have carried the following states:

Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, and Wyoming, with a total of 256 electoral votes.

The doubtful states are California with 13 electoral votes, New Mexico

Judge Kelly is reelected by an emphatic majority and Judge G. G. Bingham has won over his two democratic competitors. Gale Hill was elected prosecuting attorney.

Linn County

W. P. Elmore, Charles Childs and Frank Porter have been chosen as legislators. R. M. Russell, county clerk; Velma Davis, county recorder; D. H. Bodine, sheriff; W. W. Frances, treasurer; E. L. Fisher, assessor; T. J. Butler, county commissioner.

Scio Precincts

Election day in point of weather was all that could be desired. Probably 80 per cent of the vote was polled.

The vote for North and South Scio precincts, follows, North Scio being in the first column:

AN OLD SETTLER PASSES AWAY

J. W. Compton, An Early Pioneer, Died at His Home in This City Last Saturday

Our pioneers are rapidly passing away. This writer, as a matter of duty, has chronicled the death of many of them since beginning newspaper work here 26 years ago. At that time Uncle Jim Compton was one of Scio's most rugged and staunch citizens.

Farming had been his life work and, after gaining a competence, bought a house in Scio and moved thereto in 1889. Since when he has been one of our substantial citizens.

James W. Compton was born in Washington county Mo., November 17, 1831, where he lived until he reached manhood. In 1852 he was married to the faithful wife, who now mourns his loss. In 1853 the Comptons emigrated to Oregon and settled in Benton county. After four years residence there, they moved to Linn county, having bought a farm five miles southeast of Scio. Here they lived until their final move to Scio.

Mr. Compton joined the Baptist church in early life, of which he has ever remained a consistent member. His pastor and friend of pioneer days, Rev. John Osborn was able to come up from Folk county and conduct the services of respect and love for his former neighbor and friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Compton were the parents of 14 children, four of whom preceded their father to the Great Beyond. Those living are: George, of Lebanon; Mrs. E. A. Bishop, of California; H. C. and J. A., of near Independence; Mrs. Mattie Arkison, of Baker City; Albert, of Alberta; Otto, of Spokane, Wash.; Thomas, of Colfax, Wash. and Charles D. of Scio.

Mr. Compton had lived to a ripe old age. His sterling and upright character, made him one of our most respected citizens. Unassuming and humble, he was content to pass through life without official honors or preferment in any of the walks of life. He was content to be one of the pushers of the wagon of progress. As such his opinions and counsel has guided many of our citizens in the path of both business and moral life.

While the community bows to the mandate of the Master of Life, they feel that his death leaves a blank, not easily replaced. The Tribune extends sympathy to the bereaved companion of a long and well spent life and to the large family of children.

6 SLAIN IN I. W. W. FIGHT IN EVERETT

Sheriff McRae and Twenty Others of His Party Were Shot Down on Forbidden Landing

Everett, Wash., Nov. 5—At least six men were killed and 46 others wounded today in a pitched battle at the Everett city wharf between 250 members of the I. W. W.s who came here from Seattle on the steamer Verona, and a posse of 150 citizens, headed by Sheriff McRae.

The coming of the Industrial Workers of the World invaders had been previously announced in insulting messages sent to Everett from Seattle headquarters.

A call to I. W. W. members from all over the state had been issued earlier in the week and the citizens of Everett, at a meeting held Saturday night, planned to meet the invaders and deny them privilege of landing.

When the Verona reached the city wharf, Sheriff McRae, who was backed by a posse of deputy sheriffs and citizens, stepped forward and informed the men on the boat that they would not be permitted to land.

One of the men, evidently spokesman for the party, began arguing with the sheriff and then made a speech. Apparently as a signal, the man dropped his hand and armed men on the steamer opened fire on the posse assembled on the wharf.

The first man to fall was Sheriff McRae, seriously wounded. One man was killed instantly and in a moment the crowd on shore was panic-stricken. Deputy sheriffs on the wharf quickly rallied their forces, however, and returned the fire of the invaders on the Verona. Fully 1000 shots

ARMY BILL IS BEST NATION EVER HAD

Defending it, Baker Talks of "Treason of Peace" by Those Who Shame U. S. Institutions

Washington, Nov. 6—In an interview today Secretary of War Baker came to the defense of the new army bill.

"I insist" he said, "that the new army bill is an honest answer to the public demand for an adequate land defense. It provides, as far as can be foreseen, for the need in men and material, and it has been pronounced by all who are competent to judge as the best military legislation that the country has ever had.

Take in conjunction with the new bill, the United States may pursue its destiny in tranquillity, assured of a defensive strength meet for any emergency.

"There is a treason of peace as well as a treason of war," he concluded, "and those who harass and shame American institutions by false and reckless statements are no less traitors than the soldier who sells his country. That their actions are governed by no higher motive than a mere greed to for office adds to the ignobility of their conduct. The general staff tells me that the army was never so efficient and that in character, ability and training it is quite equal to the best in the world.

"We are adding to its strength wisely, building on the solid rock. The national guard is showing growth and greater efficiency, and the new system of citizen training will increasingly fit our youth the high obligation of national defense."
