Mrs. Mary Powers, an Albany pioneer of 1853, died at her home in that city Monday. This is the fourth death in the family within a year.

Buffalo Bill is dying at the home of his sister in Denver. His physician informed him Monday night that he could not live more than 36 hours.

Chas. Wesely shipped about 6000 pounds of garlic to San Francisco. He will get 4 cents per pound for the odoriferous vegetable delivered in that city.

Services will be held at the Catholic church in this city next Sunday at 11 a. m. Father Henry will officiate and preach. The public is cordially invited.

Good printing can be obtained only where the proper types, presses, material and expert workmanship is found. The Tribune office possesses all of these requisites and the prices are right.

Mrs. Ollie MacDonald went to Portland yesterday morning for a week visit with her sisters, Mrs. May Jones and Mrs. Annie Eckhart. Pete says this orphan business is not what it is cracked up to be.

R. T. Smith, who returned from a sort of general tour of the southern and middle western states about two months ago, left Monday morning for Spokane, Wash., where he has been employed as superintendent in some construction work.

The hen man over at Corvallis seems to be able to educate hens in their particular line of duty. But notice what the cost of the education of these hens is? When eggs cost, say ten cents each, the average Oregon rancher will scratch his head.

Cashier Smidtt, of the First National bank of Albany, is pretty smooth and represents a bunch of money. He evidently thought his standing and what he represents, would enable him to pull the wool over the eyes of the Scio people. But it won't do Mr. Smidtt. Some of us have lived about as long as you have and such German diplomacy does not fool us a little bit. If you want the fair, come through with a respectable offer. Be fair and many of us will support your fair when you get it.

The annual telephone meeting was held Saturday.

A lot of tubers, two car loads, were sent out of Scio Saturday. John Leffler and Wm. Knoff were the shippers.

John Shindler and family will move to Scio some time next month and occupy their new home, which he purchased from C. C. Wade this week.

Holacek Bros. will reopen their meat market at the old stand on Main street Thursday, January 18. They purpose keeping first-class meats and to treat the public fairly.

If our cotemporary, the Santiam News is somewhat short in its news columns this week, the editor has a lawful excuse, for a new baby girl arrived at their house early yesterday morning.

C. C. Wade, who recently purchased a business in Oregon City, came up and closed a deal with John Shindler for his home and holdings in Scio. 22½ acres of land are embraced in the deal. The purchase price is reported to be $3750.

Scio's cross walks on Main street are conspicuous because of their absence. The city council may as well order them replaced for the material we have used in surfacing the finished portion will always be too muddy in the winter time to cross with comfort.

Miss Helen Crawford, who was selected as assistant school superintendent, has decided not to accept the appointment, owing to the fact that her business affairs requires a large portion of her time and she could not give to the office the service required.

W. Wilson, of Jefferson, comes to Scio every January, without fail. He is always the representative of his telephone line and was for several years, the secretary of the telephone association. Mr. Wilson was on hand, last Saturday for his annual visit and, as a matter of course, called at The Tribune office. He may make an occasional visit to Scio during the year, but the January visit is always a surety.

It ought to be an easy matter to find 300 men or women in Scio and vicinity who will contribute $10 each rather than see the fair go down or be sold to Albany for a song and allow the bunch over there to sing it. Be here Saturday and express your opinion about the matter. Should the fair be sold to Albany, your financial loss will be more than $10 each. Then why not spend it at home and keep a splendid utility in our community?

George Gibbons Dies in a California Hospital

George Gibbons, of Shelburn, father-in-law of J. W. Miller, formerly county clerk, died yesterday in Providence Hospital, at Oakland, Cali. He was well known in Albany.

He was born in Scotland, 63 years ago, and was the husband of Helen Harrington, whom he married in the United States where his parents brought him when he was a boy. The family lived in California, then for 26 years in eastern Oregon then for about eight years here. Mr. Gibbons, who had been in California for about three weeks prior to his death, was a member of the Catholic church.

Surviving members of the family are George, of Scio, John of Shelburn, T. J. and L. J. and Mrs. J. W. Miller.—Albany Herald. The burial occurred at the Miller cemetery Saturday.

bunch of cotton 18 inches back of his ears was floating in the air and the dogs singing a tune I never heard in church, they did not even say good bye.

I am informed that Walter Miller, Pruitt's son-in-law, contemplates a trip to eastern Oregon with the idea in his head he can take up fairly good land. But of course he will be disappointed the same as others have been and will be glad to get back on his little farm.

We are all anxiously waiting to help cut and blast a channel to straighten the creek above Crabtree bridge, so as to prevent the creek from undermining the bank and ruining the road this side of the bridge, which should be done at once.

We had a surprising wedding a few days ago. Byron Bilyeu took himself a cook and stole the hardware mans daughter and took her home with him and called her his own. So Byron steps as high as a blind dog in a Canadian thistle patch. Best wishes.

A NEW DEAL

On November 1, I purchased the Densmore-Wade Produce business and have been in charge of the same since that date.

I am in the market for your Eggs, Chickens, Geese, Ducks, Turkeys, Dressed Hogs, Veal etc., for which I will pay the highest market price. My weights are right and I will treat you fairly. I want your Cream as well. Bring it to me in good condition, you will be satisfied with the tests and the price. I am at my place of business from 5 a. m. until business closes in the evening, so that you will always find me on hand. Give me a trial and if I don't treat you right, go elsewhere.
