

LOCAL BREVITIES

Guaranteed poisoned wheat at 35 cents per can at Peerys.

We have the most complete line of stationery in town at Peerys.

Farmers are more than anxious for seeding weather to arrive.

Everybody is getting out of wood and the war (?) has materially increased prices.

Workmen commenced the erection of the Fred Bilyeu garage, on the south side, Monday.

Uncle Mat Gill has so far recovered from his sickness, that he made a trip to the store Monday.

We make a specialty of Friendship, Engagement and Wedding Rings. F. M. French & Son, Albany, Oregon.

Germans are horrified at air raids over their unfortified towns. They kick against taking their own medicine.

Gail Jones and Russel McDonald left for Salem Monday, where they enlisted in the cavalry of the regular army.

For Sale—Close in acreage to Lebanon, acre tracts, highly developed. Easy terms, interest 6 per cent. Write Helen V. Crawford, Lebanon.

Deputy Sheriff Ralph Thom and Miss Lois Robin Henderson, a teacher in the Lacombe schools, were married in Seattle, Wash., last Saturday.

Ed Rackless, of Florence, Ore., is visiting his stepson, Thomas Laird, of the Peery drug store. Mr. Rackless is a grocery merchant in his seacoast home city.

Mike Bilyeu, of "The Den" was in town Monday. Mike says the people in his locality are getting anxious for spring to come, so that they can get busy at their crops.

The bids for Oregon's rural credit bonds, all being below par, were rejected by the state board this week. This may be considered as a pointer by the $6,000,000 road bond enthusiasts.

The Portland Telegram was forty years old last Monday and that paper celebrates the anniversary by publishing illustrated stories of the industries of Oregon. It is a splendid number.

Scio now has four boys in the army, two in the regulars and two in the Albany Coast Artillery. Dr. Hobson expects to leave Monday for Vancouver and will probably be assigned to some regiment or ship.

If the English and French continue to be successful with their great drive on the western battle front, the end of the war is only a few weeks distant. A victory for the Germans is now absolutely necessary to pacify her own people.

It is said the Scio schools will undertake school gardening this spring. It is a little late for the project, as the ground should have been prepared last fall. "Better late than never" will apply in this case and quiet a bit may be accomplished late as it is.

Lee Bilyeu, of Lebanon, was looking after business matters in Scio, Monday. Lee says these Oregon boys are taking away his girls from him rather too rapidly, but that he has one left yet. When she becomes a victim of Cupid, Lee will be like some of the rest of us, childless and alone, and he and "the old woman" (Mrs. Bilyeu please excuse) will take their places among the has-beens, but not without hosts of friends, and complete the journey of life alone, let us hope, pleasantly and prosperously.

Paints, Calsomine, Wall Paper, etc., at Peerys.

Fred Bilyeu is making rapid progress in the construction of his garage.

Robert Daniels has purchased a house and lot from R. M. Cain and is moving thereto this week.

Mrs. Thos. Laird and Mrs. Fred Ohlmeier were passengers for Albany on the motor, this morning.

Chas. Faltus went to Portland this morning. From there he expects to go to California to engage in railroading as a fireman.

Scio Bohemians have sent a telegram to Senator Chamberland pledging their loyalty to the government and urging the freedom of their native land.

For your reading for 1917, consult The Tribune. We can give you bargain day rates for all of the leading daily and weekly newspapers and magazines.

Many farmers are making inquiry for hay. They have been compelled to feed so long that those who thought they had an abundance last fall, are out now with spring farming yet ahead.

The Tribune is informed that the report that Henry Struckmeier, of Albany, had been placed under bonds for having said things derogatory to the government, is untrue and without foundation. Mr. Struckmeier says he is pro-American and not pro-German, as reported.

Attorney H. B. Chess, of Lebanon made his first visit to Scio Friday. He has resided in Lebanon for several years and has built up a lucrative law practice. In addition to his law practice, he occasionally takes a flyer in other lines of business, among which is the buying and shipping of potatoes in which he has been quite successful during the past few months. Mr. Chess is a veteran of the Civil war and, as a matter of course, he made a very pleasant call on the editor of The Tribune.

School Notes

McKnight had a fine display of cuts and gave an interesting and instructive talk on various kinds of meats. The class also visited the condensery and watched milk pass through various stages.

About May 1 the Jefferson, Riverside and Scio schools will meet at Scio and participate in an entire day program. The May queen and her attendants will preside over a pageant which will be staged out of doors. There will also be games of baseball, basketball, croquet and tennis played by both the boys and girls. Much friendly rivalry has been aroused in the schools over the track meet which will take place on that day. Everybody is cordially invited. Watch for further particulars and announcements.

JORDAN ITEMS

Erle Phillips was a Scio visitor Wednesday.

Clyde Thomas and wife were Stayton visitors Monday.

Jas. Bilyeu visited our vicinity a few days recently.

Chas. Williamson and wife made a business trip to Portland last week.

H. Marking, who freights for Mr. Ballsiger, continues to make alternate trips to Scio and Lyons despite the bad roads and uncertain weather.

The dance given at the Catholic hall last Friday night was largely attended.

Mike Bilyeu was over to Jordan recently inspecting the road equipments, preparatory to getting busy no doubt. Mike has an eye for business.

Mrs. Joynes, of Portland, has joined her husband with intentions of permanent residence. Erle is wearing the broad smile which goes so nicely with his business and staunchly asserts "exit bachelors hall."

Last Friday G. C. Nance closed a very successful term of school in the Jordan district, returning to his home near Aumsville Saturday. Our best wishes for his continued success as an instructor go with him.

100 Per Cent Patriotism

pation of a civilian. Yet when the demand arises, there are no better soldiers than the American volunteers. The past history of the American soldier, proves his valor to be unquestionable and his readiness to perform any duty, no matter how difficult or dangerous.

Therefore, we expect our young men, who are rallying to "Old Glory" with commendable promptness at the present time, to maintain the high standard established by the American soldiers and sailors of the past. And should it be their fortune to be sent to the European battle front, we feel sure that the American volunteer soldier will be found as efficient and brave, as the trained professional soldier of Europe. Our flag is sure to come back from our first participation in European battle fields undimmed and unsullied. This is what we expect from the 100 per cent American soldier and we will not be disappointed.

Undertaking

We are now able to give you a better service in our undertaking department than ever before. We have just purchased a fine and up to date hearse and our stock of undertaking goods are very complete. We carry only our own stock and therefore are in a position to give you prompt service and better prices, nor you do not have to pay for extra auto trips. Also, we have had fifteen years experience in undertaking and can properly take care of any case. Our work is guaranteed in every respect. We are at your service day or night.

Yours truly,
Chas. Wesely.
