

LOCAL BREVITIES

The Scio Tribune, $1.50 the year.

D. W. Rumbaugh, county fruit inspector, was in town Monday.

P. H. MacDonald and Rol Morris were business visitors in Albany Tuesday.

The Fred Bilyeu garage is now complete and, presumably, ready for business.

R. T. Smith arrived home from the Puget sound country last Friday evening.

"Stork" double wall nipples. Black outside with red rubber lining at Peerys. (Same price, 5c.)

Bill Brenner has, because of the force of circumstances, become the (not official) town garden plower.

When in need of anything in the way of job work, call and see us. We do first-class work at reasonable prices.

We make a specialty of Friendship, Engagement and Wedding Rings. F. M. French & Son, Albany, Oregon.

Will C. Miller, of near Amity, Polk county and a former resident of near Scio for many years, is reported to be dangerously ill with a heart trouble.

A. E. Edwards, this week, moved his residence to the south side and Roe Shelton moved to West Scio where, it is said, he has purchased acreage property.

W. H. (Jack) Warner, of Albany, who had been in failing health for some months, died at his home in Albany last week. He was a brother of the late C. A. Warner of Scio.

Hogs sold at 16 cents per pound at the Portland stockyards Monday. This is the highest point yet reached in the northwest market. Best cattle, steers, brought $11.25 per hundred.

The Tribune family makes its best bow to Bert Bilyeu for a mess of fine mountain trout. They were each about a foot long and delicious when properly rolled in flour and fried.

For Washed Sand, Gravel and Crushed Rock, Lime and Cement, Foundation Piers, Building Blocks, Cement Faced Brick, Drain Tile and Culverts, see the Albany Sand & Gravel Co., Foot of Broadalbin St., Albany, Oregon. 5-17

Ed Balachweid has been the first to crow about home grown new potatoes. He brought The Tribune a sample. They are about the size of bird eggs but are potatoes all the same and will be large enough to eat in two or three weeks.

Paved road bonds enthusiasts seem to think Scio is not a good place in which to air their views. Come on boys. We will give you a respectful hearing and then go to the polls on June 4 and salt your scheme away where it will sleep its last sleep.

Down at Crabtree, so we are informed, one of The Tribune subscribers is utilizing his hogs for plowing purposes. At least his wife, Mrs. Henry Kinzer, found a plot of ground so completely overturned by the porkers, that she planted it to potatoes.

The mohair pool, which was offered for sale to sealed bidders at Lebanon last Saturday, was not sold. 61 cents per pound was the price offered was deemed not satisfactory to the pool and the product, 5000 fleeces, will be offered at public auction later. Two small lots, not in the pool, were sold at 61 cents.

The Scio Tribune $1.50 a year

Wm. Young was an Albany visitor yesterday.

A flannel water bottle cover Free if you purchase a $2 Monogram bottle this week. Peerys.

Mrs. Alda Hutchinson, of the Scio hotel, returned Monday from a two-days visit in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bilyeu expect to go to Hood River next Monday to visit their daughter, Mrs. Maud Connaway.

Miss Bessie Morris came over from Lebanon Sunday morning and will aid her mother in cleaning house while here.

Gail Jones, who enlisted in the regular army a few weeks ago, has been assigned to a regiment in Honolulu, Sandwich Islands.

Mr. McCormick completed the work on the Fred Bilyeu garage, yesterday and returned to his home in Lebanon on the evening train.

The Tribune wants a cord of 16-inch wood at once. This extended winter business has created a too heavy demand on our woodshed.

It is reported that Jap Smeltzer and Mrs. Veleria Garland have gone to the Washington Gretna Green to be married, which probably occurred yesterday.

For your reading for 1917, consult The Tribune. We can give you bargain day rates for all of the leading daily and weekly newspapers and magazines.

The lower part of Spokane, Wash., is under water, due to floods from melted snow. Much damage has been done in the way of washing away of bridges, etc.

Mrs. A. E. Randall was so unfortunate, last week, as to fall, which resulted in a severe injury to one of her knees. She will be confined to her bed for two or three weeks.

Oil your machinery when you use it. It will run better. Cover all parts not painted with oil when you store it, it will last longer. Castor Machine Oil 40 cents per gallon at Peerys.

The Washington, D. C. weather service says that the cold spring is over and summer is at hand. So the country is to be saved after all. The Tribune is glad the weather man has let up for we are out of wood.

Why not give the boys down in the penitentiary a chance to enlist? At least some of them would make good. If others of them would stop a German bullet, it would be a relief to both themselves and the state.

Read Sigurd Landstrom's ad in another column. Mr. Landstrom has a beautiful store filled with handsome up-to-date goods in his line. When in Lebanon stop in and take a look.

Henry M. Myers, who was a Scio boy during his boyhood days and for many years after he reached manhood, is now on a business prospecting tour in the Alberta country. He has not disposed of his holdings in Sweet Home yet, but will, probably, do so if he decides to locate up among the Britishers.

New Plan For T. R. Up

London, May 15.—The proposal that the thousands of Americans serving with the British forces should be formed into a unit to fight under the American flag in France is understood to be the subject of conversations between the Balfour commission and the United States government.

While the name of Colonel Roosevelt did not enter into the original suggestion he is being mentioned as a possible leader of this unit.

Conscription

Democracy is purest fraternity.

We Americans are fraternal brothers, having equal say in affairs of state.

To be conscripted by a despot would be humiliating; but there is no despot in these United States.

In past wars in which Americans engaged an odium attached to conscription, and you know why. First came calls for volunteers. Then, when all had volunteered who would, slackers were conscripted, "drafted" was the word used in the civil war, but the meaning is the same. There was no glory for slackers who were drafted into war.

Now we are to have conscription for this war, yet no odium attaches to it, and, again, you know why.

We are, remember, fraternal brothers, having equal say in governmental affairs.

We are not to be conscripted by a despot. We are to be conscripted by ourselves. It is our own doing. We are a sovereign people, and it is our sovereign will that we employ conscription for this war.

Furthermore, we are not to employ conscription as a last resort, but as a first resort. We, the freemen, do not propose to use conscription to drag unwilling slackers into the war.

That thought makes, and ought to make, a big difference in the American mind.

We are to have selective conscription. And yet again you know why.

Some of us might fight. Some of us might nurse. Some of us must work in munition plants. Some of us must produce food.

Selective conscription will put fighters in the trenches, nurses in the hospitals, skilled workers in the factories and farmers on the soil. That's efficiency. Thus we will win the war.

Those of us who want to "do our bit" will not object to conscription. And we will have the satisfying knowledge that, whether willing or otherwise, the slackers, too, are doing their share.—Contributed.
