The Albany Democrat intimates this editor walks with the aid of a crutch and cane in order to avoid the draft. We plead guilty. But we have a faint memory that we did not use these aids in the 60s. But shaw, there was no draft when we enlisted, consequently the aids were unnecessary.

Henry Bilyeu left for Tekoa, Wash., Tuesday morning to assist in harvesting his large crop of grain there. He will be joined at Spokane by Mrs. Bilyeu in two weeks, where they will make a short visit up in the Alberta country, then return to Tekoa to look after the threshing and then return to Scio.

Since Mark Weatherford has joined the army and Rus Wyatt has again become a member of the firm, they are at a loss to fix the official signature of the firm. Mark, or now Captain Weatherford, still retains his membership and will be found at his desk when the war is over. Rus Wyatt will probably stay on the job so a new name style is necessary. The Tribune suggests "The W. W. W. Law Firm" as the name as a lot of ink would be saved when the firm name is attached to a document.

The Scio Tribune, $1.50 the year.

Since Mine Host W. M. Abbott went huckleberrying, Hotel Scio boarders have been regaled on pie made of this delicious mountain berry. We know the pies are good because of personal experience, for which we tender our gastronomic thanks.

Farmers are congratulating themselves on the prices they obtain for their products, but when they buy their supplies from the merchant, the laugh is on the other side of their faces. It is the salary man who has the real grouch coming. His wage remains practically the same while his living expenses are doubled.

Asking Too Much

The newspapers of Oregon will probably refuse to give free space in boosting the next liberty loan other than as news items. As a matter of fact, too much along the line of free work is asked of the newspapers. The Tribune receives so much of this stuff, with the request to print, that the entire paper would be filled to the exclusion of even local news matter. Newspapers as a rule, are liberal with space for any worthy purpose, but there is a limit. It costs money to set up type and the government is not yet bankrupt. No other enterprise is asked to give its product away and why should the newspaper be asked to do so. The Tribune is about ready to renege. Its patriotic ardor is not diminished but too much charity has a tendency to make lean pocket books.

Paint! Paint! Paint

There is all kinds of paint and all priced paints, but when it comes to a first class paint the S. W. P. is the cheapest and best. Our prices on S. W. P. paint is cheaper than other paint pound for pound, as it contains more lead and zinc—the main elements that make a good paint. Therefore it requires more thinning and has a greater covering capacity. Our prices are the same to everyone whether you get your oil from us or not, by phone or in person. We will not raise the price either way.
