Wm. Stoddart, of Crabtree, was in Scio Monday, and paved The Tribune a pleasant call while here. Mr. Stoddart is a veteran of the Boer war and tells some interesting stories of South African campaigns.

If there were ever any doubt about Scio being a city, that doubt was dispelled last Friday morning when a regular up-to-date pop corn wagon was installed just in front of the barber shop on Main street. Now you can get your popcorn or roasted peanuts while they are hot.

D. M. Baker, of Portland, representing the Pacific Building and Loan Association, was doing business in Scio the first of the week. The plan of loaning money by the association is very attractive to the working man. He can acquire a home and yet not pay more per month than he now pays for rent.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ray, of Jordan, were in town over last Sunday. Owing to a hurt received from an auto tumble, Mr. Ray is compelled to use crutches. While here he ordered a stock of letterheads and envelopes with the farm name "Cold Spring Farm" and his own name thereon.

The following speakers will address the parent-teachers meeting next Saturday at the school auditorium: Prof. C. W. Boettiger, of Albany, P. M. Nash, A. L. O'Riley and J. B. Horner. The Y. W. C. A. Campaign

The men are at the front. Women must hold the second line of defense. How? As nurses and as hostess house mothers. The Y. W. C. A. is cooperating with the Red Cross by providing

1st. Two trained workers for each Rest Hut which the Red Cross is placing near the base hospitals.

2nd. A Hostess House in Paris for American nurses.

At the request of the United States department of war, 50 hostess houses are being built in America. Its purpose is to provide for the comfort, convenience and safety of the visiting women relatives and friends of the men encamped at these places.

You can help by subscribing a sum of money for their aid. Will you do your bit?

Condensery Embarrassed

For several days stories conveying the unwelcome intelligence that our condensery was in financial difficulties have been in circulation—that checks given for milk were being returned endorsed "Not paid for lack of funds."

This is a most unpleasant surprise to the people of Scio as well as to those people who have been selling their milk to the condensery.

The Tribune has no information as to the extent of the financial trouble, other than Sheriff Bodine served attachment papers upon the manufactured product on hand.

Everybody hopes the embarrassment is but temporary and that everything will be amicably adjusted without the need of shutting down the factory.

Grant Six Record

For the second time the Grant Six has won the honor of being the first car over the Sierras. The victory was sealed on January 8 when the Grant Six reached San Francisco, after completing a round trip of 564 miles, going by way of Placer-ville and returning by way of Truckee, thus crossing the mountains by both summit routes.

"Last year the Grant Six was also the first car over the Sierras" says local distributors of the Grant Six. "But the victory then was not achieved until March, and only after terrific battle with the worst snow-storms in 20 years. For a whole month the car was buried in snow and the intrepid pilots had to camp out like polar explorers. More than once it was thought that the Grant Six party had been lost and there was great relief when the daring crew were known to be safe.

"The honor of being first over the Sierras tempts a few hardy sportsmen each year. Of those who have tried for the prize, only a handful have ever succeeded in getting through. The objective of the trip is the beautiful Lake Tahoe, said to be the largest fresh water lake of its elevation in the world. The prize is a simple silver cup given each year by the Lake Tahoe Inn.

"The honor has never before been won by the same car two years in succession.

"While the route is fairly easy in midsummer when roads are good and the trail is easily followed, it becomes a severe trial of endurance both for the car and for its drivers, when it is attempted in the middle of winter. At the high altitudes the snow obliterates the trail for miles and the travel is necessarily on top of the snow crust. In many places the high winds have brought down the trees so that wide detours are necessary or the men are obliged to become pioneers and cut their way through.

"Both in 1917 and in 1918 the Grant Six made the trip without a single repair or replacement. The 1917 victory made the Grant Six the talk of the Pacific Coast—the duplication of the performance has increased the reputation of the car in wonderful measure. The Grant Six company and the San Francisco distributor, Frank O. Renstrom, have been swamped with congratulatory messages.
