LOCAL BREVITIES

Roll Morris and O. B. Cyrus drove to Portland Sunday.

Frank Gill, who has been ill, is able to be out again.

New Wonder seed wheat for sale. 30-2t Joseph J. Roner.

Miss Mary Wesely went to Portland last Saturday for an extended visit.

Machine men are selling tractor engines for plowing and other farm purposes, rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Peery and daughter Edris, went to Stayton Saturday, returning Sunday evening

Two new telephones just received. Call and see them at the central office. J. N. Weddle.

Bills are up for an entertainment and dance at Shelburn next Saturday night.

Miss Helen Crawford returned to her home in Lebanon Tuesday afternoon.

Your cans washed and thoroughly steamed. T. S. Townsend Cream Station. 30tf

Putting the condensery out of business cuts quite a wad out of Scio's activities.

Deliver your cream today, get your check tomorrow. T. S. Townsend Cream Station. 30tf

Mrs. E. V. Angel of North Santiam, spent the week end with her daughter, Miss Rachel Angel.

We make a specialty of Friendship, Engagement and Wedding Rings. F. M. French & Son, Albany, Oregon.

We have received several complaints because of the non-arrival of The Tribune of two weeks ago. We hope the explanation in last week's edition is sufficient.

Sixteen ounces to the pound, with a good clean test. Give us a trial. T. S. Townsend Cream Station. 30tf

Miss MacVickar of Oakland, Oregon, who has been visiting at the home of Thomas Laird for the past two weeks, left for Redmond Tuesday.

Fred Bilyeu was confined to his home the first of the week with a dose of measles. Strange that middle-aged people will take on such youthful troubles.

In time of sickness or death, one cannot but feel that the kindest and most sympathetic people on earth live in Scio and vicinity.

Mrs. Ohlemeier returned from Portland last week with a swell line of up to date millinery, which is on display at Wesely store. Reasonable prices. Call and look them over.

Everybody should boost for the proposed improvement on the cemetery hill south of Scio. The need was very manifest at the funeral last Sunday.

That bunch of O. A C. boys here Sunday were certainly live ones. With their music and singing they entertained the hotel guests several hours. When time to leave they gave a short drill and drove off 'mid college yells and good wishes.

Measles are said to be pretty well scattered throughout the community with an occasional case of the mumps, just to make things interesting to people who have not had the experience.

As a joker, Vilas Philippi is hard to beat, but he had one turned on him Tuesday evening by John and Charley, and now Vilas has to "set 'em up" for the bunch at the hotel. Due notice of the time and date will be given so that all can be there.

Has Gone to France

Mrs. A. P. Hiron's sister, Mrs. Rice, who was employed at the asylum as nurse and bacteriologist for a number of years, accepted a position last year as bacteriologist in an institution in Indiana, has written a letter postmarked New York and stating she was on her way to France. She has accepted a position as assistant x-ray operator for Dr. Walker of Indiana, who has enlisted in the service.

If you know of a bit of local news tell us and we will print it.

Born—March 5, to Mr. and Mrs. Will Garland, a daughter.

Should the condensery remain closed Scio, like Lebanon and Albany, will have houses to let.

Fred Jones is the night miller at the Scio mills, and strange to say, does not sleep on the job.

Scio had more winter on March 4 than she had during all of the three winter months.

Dr. Prill informs The Tribune that he has taken over the local hospital and the same will be in charge of a trained nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Crawford, Bert Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Crawford and Frank Wood, of Albany, attended the funeral Sunday. Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Gill and Mrs. Dollie Waggoner of Lebanon, arrived too late for the services.

Ed Flemming, who had charge of the feed barn during the past winter, turned the same over to Frank Titus Monday morning. Flemming will move onto his farm the last of this week.

Address in Part

(Concluded from First page)

America, who gave all he had to his native land.

It was not his lot to be called across the water to the battlefields of Europe. It was not given to him to meet death at the hands of the enemy. But he died in the service. He was ready, he was willing to go wherever duty called, and he is entitled to as much credit, to as much honor, to as much glory, as those who have died and will die on the European battle fronts. For he was performing an equal necessary duty of guarding our borders from a possible invasion and he was doing his part in this great war to defend the rights of men and to promote and protect the development of human liberties. Death found him on duty engaged with thousands of other lovers of their country in this mighty effort to carry the stars and stripes, that emblem which entered the war for humanity's sake alone, to a victory which will crush out forever the doctrine that might makes right and will result in another and greater Declaration of Independence—a solemn covenant subscribed by the nations of the earth that henceforth all people under God shall live in peace and in happiness, free, equal, self-governed and unafraid. Sam Dugger did not live to see this result, but he helped to produce it, and until time shall be no more, he will be honored as one who served his country well.
