

LOCAL BREVITIES

Everybody in Scio seemed to have commenced hauling hay Monday.

E. C. Peery returned from a satisfactory and most successful trip to Portland Saturday evening.

Scio Produce Co. will pay cash for chittim bark. 45

It will require some days yet to complete the general repairs on the dam at the head of the mill race.

The Tribune expects to hear the condensery whistle Monday next, calling the hands to work.

Clarence Ingram of the Lebanon National bank, was in Scio last Thursday looking after business matters.

I have six head of highly bred Shropshire bucks for sale. Prices reasonable. Jesse Rodgers 48-3

Clarence Pepper and Jesse Hil-dreth took in the beauties of Casca-dia Sunday.

Miss Bessie Morris, who has been sojourning at home for a week or two, returned to Lebanon last Friday.

Magnetic treatment wholly with-out drugs, every evening after six o'clock. Consultation free.—Dr. J. Murphy, Scio, Oregon. 48tf

Ivan Balschweid, who went to Los Angeles last fall, returned Friday. He says the winters there are all right but the summer weather is too warm.

Wanted—Cascara bark for cash. 45 Scio Produce Co.

Rev. C. S. Treadwell, pastor of the Baptist church at Lebanon, was transacting business in Scio Friday last and also distributing chautauqua literature for the meet in that city July 17-22.

Miss Lucy Wesely returned Sunday from the loganberry fields near Salem, where she was rusticated with the family of her brother Rudolph.

The Tribune takes subscriptions for all the Portland dailies—Oregonian, Journal Telegram, News.

"Give us more light" is the demand of every business house and dwelling in town. The city council better get busy.

Manager Peery nevertheless the dry season makes the milk flow light, thinks he will be able to secure a satisfactory amount of milk. He will ship the condensed product to Portland for the present where it will be converted into sweetened canned milk, the price being much better for that class of milk.

For sale—Horses, cows and hogs. Prices reasonable. Bert Hollis.

The two produce houses in Scio have been merged, Thomas Large retiring and Fred Giselman taking over the business. It is understood that the merger did not require sanction from Washington, D. C., nor from the state commission. Mr. Large has accepted the position of milk receiver and tester at the condensery.

We make a specialty of Friend-ship, Engagement and Wedding Rings. F. M. French & Son, Albany, Oregon.

During this dry spell (and other times as well) it's a good idea to inspect chimneys and especially stove-pipes where they go through roofs or partitions. Most all house fires start from defective flues and this cause can easily be remedied.

Our old friend J. R. Geddes, of near Mill City, writes us to send him The Tribune. He quit us last year because of a financial stringency he could not avoid. In renewing he says, "Yours is the only paper I will now take." We congratulate J. R. and hope he will revive the interest-ing news letters of last year and formerly.

Auto trucks will be the principal mode of conveyance to deliver milk at the condensery.

Wheat harvest is in full blast in many sections of the country now. Threshing will commence next week.

Say, this "dry" business is getting monotonous. It is beginning to hurt. We mean the lack of rain, of course.

It is said "the third time is the charm." If so, our condensery should prove a splendid success this time with the third company in control.

Ed Wesely, Ed Chrz and several others will go to Albany Sunday to be started to join the colors at Camp Lewis the following day.

While crops in the Willamette valley are short, in other parts of the U. S. they are exceptionally good, especially corn.

George Rodgers and son Jesse shipped a carload of fine lambs to Portland Tuesday. This is the third load shipped by them recently.

Say! Water is short and can be used for sprinkling only in the morning. We have been paying extra rates for a year just to provide for water shortage. Our city dads should employ an engine at once.

The American troops are defend-ing the battle front which is closest to Paris, 45 miles.

Before we forget it, we might mention that now is a good time to fill that big chuckhole in the alley north of this office. In wet weather teams almost mire there.

Notwithstanding the dry weather the hay crop is proving better than was anticipated. Vetch was destroyed by aphid and drouth; wheat will yield better than half a crop, and oats less than a half crop.

Scio lodge of A. F. & A. M. will hold stated communication Saturday evening, holding a business session only, after which they will go in a body over to Jefferson, paying the lodge there a fraternal visit and putting on the third degree. As many of the members have autos a good attendance is expected.

How about the grading of Mill street?

E. D. Myers and wife and Mrs. R. Shelton returned Wednesday from a 700-mile automobile trip to Medford, Oregon and Crater Lake. Mr. D. West of Medford, accompanied the party as far as Jefferson on the return trip.

Ed Myers says the next time he starts on a journey he's going to have new tires and a whole set of extras. While he had an enjoyable trip to Medford he was somewhat annoyed by numerous punctures and blowouts.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Holdredge of Albany, were over Thursday of last week to visit Mrs. Holdredge's par-ents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Beard.

Congress now meets but twice a week—Mondays and Thursdays. This will be the program until the last of August.

West Scio would feel lost without the daily visits of Walter Bilyeu and Henry Shelton. The latter has been handling the express and freight since long before Tige was a pup.

Some 40 or more prisoners in the Multnomah county jail ask to be paroled on their honor to work in the harvest fields. They promise to re-turn and serve their time when har-vest is over.

Several of our merchants think an invitation to the people to come and trade with them, expressed through the columns of The Tribune, is effort wasted. No wonder our people go off to Lebanon, Albany and other points to do their trading for our merchants, some of them, are asleep and the people do not wish to dis-turb their dreams.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Bowerman, of Portland, are visiting friends in this city. They are former residents of Scio, having lived here a year.

Ed Humphrey, the Albany cement man, is superintending the cement on the dam at the head of the mill race.

L. W. Charles, once proprietor of the Santiam News, later editor of the Lone Independent, is now lessee of the Junction City Times.

No man can live within himself. If he wants to sell his labor or prod-ucts to others he must buy from others. Life is based upon the principle of reciprocity.

Tom Large, Arch Lindley and Joe Oupor are among the employees to be at the condensery. The pay roll for labor, milk, wood, hauling, etc., will make a $200 bill look sick every day, with a prospect of growing more.

Since taking over Tom Large's produce and cream business, Fred Giselman is a busy man from day-light until dark. He hopes by fair dealing and honest treatment to build up a good business.

Tribune ads get results. Mer-chants who do not use its columns—well we will not say they are back numbers but they are not using the means to increase their business that is within their reach.
