BOND ISSUE FOR NEW BUILDINGS IS URGED

Funds Provided Soon For Needed Public Structures Would Help Solve Soldier Problem.

Salem—The calling of a special election in June to vote bonds for the construction of public buildings as a means of helping to solve the employment problem of the returned soldiers and sailors, is being considered by the house and senate joint committee on reconstruction.

Sentiment favoring this bond issue was pronounced at a meeting of the committee. The proposal for this special bond election was made by W. B. Ayer, chairman of the soldiers and sailors relief commission.

It was agreed that the legislature should call the special election to pass on the proposed bond issue, or appropriate money at this session and leave it to the people to ratify this action.

Building a new penitentiary, new buildings at educational institutions and the proposed new hospital at Portland, were three projects suggested.

Had to Go Fishing.

Our foreman went out fishing last Sunday expecting to catch a whale, alligator or a German carp. But from the looks of his basket when he returned we suspect he caught only a sucker.

Now listen to the printer: For once, Mr. Editor, you're wrong. If you had observed with your usual perspicacity you would have seen a fine specimen of cut throat trout, 13 inches long, and which furnished a delightful addition to the menu.

That was some wind we had on Wednesday, along with the rain.

SANTIAM FARM TOPICS

Mrs. Oscar Pomeroy and her daughter, Mrs. Tressa Conser, came down from Lacombe Saturday for a few days' visit with Uncle Tom Small's family.

Mrs. Jennie Lovejoy has returned to her home at Dallas.

Mrs. Rebecca Morris returned to Scio Saturday, expecting company Sunday, as some fellow is looking for a cook. She casts sheep's eyes at him as he goes by.

Ed Kalina does not care for expense; he is making a new farm out of an old one.

The Bartnick boys were over Sunday with a load of lumber and took back a load of hay. The mill is on full time, and Clarence got in a hurry and sawed off a finger.

The soldier boys on their return are not so anxious to get married as they were when they feared being called into the service.

Miss May Crabtree, head waiter at the Mill City hotel the past year, has thrown up her job and is home with her father.

Eldon Griffin received a letter from his Mount Vernon home saying they'd had no winter, stock doing fine; they were uneasy about fruit, weather being so warm.

Dan Bilyeu sold his crazy drag saw and bought a new one and cuts 20 cords a day to pay for it.

The good wife, mistress of Santiam Farm, is elated over success in feeding Blank's poultry food as she has more than trebled the egg output. She has some old hens that haven't laid an egg all winter and are now rolling them out at the rate of two a week. She isn't sure but thinks some of the young roosters might be laying, as she saw one scratching in some straw Sunday, and went out cackling.

PIE EATER.

Farmers' Account Books.

Now is the time to begin your farm account book for 1919, says S. V. Smith, county agent. Most farmers are beginning to realize the importance of this part of the farm work, especially since they must make a statement of the year's business to the income tax agent.

There are various kinds of account books being sold or given to farmers. Some of these are quite complicated and probably will not be kept because it takes considerable time and study to learn just how to keep the record.

R. V. Gunn, of the farm management department of O. A. C. has prepared a simple account book which is probably as convenient and easily kept as any that can be had. These may be secured at cost, either from Mr. Gunn or the county agent.

Some of the banks are furnishing to their customers various kinds of account books, most of which are simple and easily kept.

By request several Scio people wrote Representative Thoms their opinion relative to the pending $10,000,000 road bonding bill and as to the raising of the salaries of county officials this week.

PRISONS ARE FILLED WITH YOUNG BOYS

Who Lied to Aid Nation in War, Senator Denounces Severe Sentences.

Washington—The senate military affairs committee expects the country to be shocked when hearings are begun on Senator Chamberlain's bill to reform military justice.

Public hearings on the bill will be called in a few weeks and many of the 15,000 victims of war-time court-martial will be before the committee. Representatives of the judge advocate general's office and President Page, of the American bar association, also will be called.

"Many of the cases involved in these courts-martial are tragic," said Senator Chamberlain. "They will appeal to the heart of every man who feels deeply when they are taken from the dull army records and transcribed in terms of real life."

A boy 15 years old enlisted. He had to lie about his age to get into the army. But in times of war boys will lie about their age to fight for their country. They did it during the Civil war and they did it during the great war.

"This boy was sent to a camp on the southern border. His associates were men older than he, with the interests of their older ages, but the boy buoyed by the courage of his patriotism, took the military training and tried to be the man he had represented himself to be. Finally, his boyish yearning for the warm mother love at home overcome his manly patriotism and he ran away from camp to see that mother."

"He was gone five days and then returned to the camp. He was not arrested or brought back, but came of his own accord. He had broken military law and deserved punishment. The court-martial sentenced him to three years' imprisonment. When he comes out of prison he will be only 18 years old."

Health Officer.

The Scio board of health has received from Dr. A. C. Seely, state health officer, the following:

"A recent copy of The Tribune reached this office which contains the resignation of Dr. Prill as your city health officer. We are very sorry to learn of this resignation. He has been a most efficient health officer and we regret very much that you did not support him in his endeavors. We are trusting that you will not accept his resignation and that you will beg him to stay on and will give him your support. Good health officers are few and far between and we dislike very much losing those that have proven efficient."

Ex-Sheriff D. H. Bodine was operated upon the first of the week at a Portland hospital for an enlargement of the throat, something of the nature of a goitre. We are glad to state he withstood the surgeon's knife nicely and expects to be able to return to his home in Albany within a few days.

OREGON MIST.

Goat's vs. Cow's Milk.

Dr. J. Murphy has been handling milk goats for a number of years and out of his experience furnishes The Tribune readers some interesting data; in view of the widespread introduction of this useful animal in the state this information is timely:

"Goat's milk contains from 6 to 12 per cent butter fat and is free tubercular germs while cow's milk is not and contains only 2½ to 7 per cent butter fat."

"Cow's milk costs about 10 cents a quart to produce at present high cost of feed, while goat's milk costs not to exceed 2 cents a quart. The food value of a quart of goat's milk equals 1½ pounds beef or 1 dozen eggs. It brings from 25 to 50 cents a quart in cities and is pronounced by leading physicians a sure cure for malnutrition and also for consumption in its early stages."

"It costs but little more to keep a goat that gives 2 to 4 quarts of milk a day, than to keep a chicken. While goats bring a high price, owing to the demand and scarcity of good milk breeds, prices ranging from $40 to $150 at milking age, they are a good investment, as a doe will give from $50 to $100 worth of milk a year and the kids bring from $20 up, according to breed."

Ill With Appendicitis.

Asa P. Hiron, of near Shelburn, was brought to the Scio General Hospital the first of the week seriously ill with appendicitis. He was operated upon Monday by Doctors Prill, and Davis and Fortmiller of Albany.

The operation was successful and the patient recovered nicely from the anesthetic. While the case is serious let us hope he regains his health speedily.

DEPORTATION OF ALIENS IS TO BE DEMANDED

Cancellation of Naturalization Papers to Escape Draft Is Basis of Recommendation.

Portland—Deportation of aliens who canceled their first citizenship papers during the war period, thereby avoiding liability to take up arms for the United States, is proposed at a conference of local selective service officials.

As one provision of the draft law it was permitted that citizens of neutral countries holding only first papers in the United States might go before their local board and cancel their declaration of intention to become a United States citizen. By so doing they were relieved of liability to the draft.

In Oregon approximately 100 declarants resorted to this means of avoiding military duty and remaining at home to receive the big wages most of them were drawing.

The state council of defense took the matter up and made a complete record of all such cases. Copies of this data were sent to all naturalization offices and draft boards of the United States, with a view to assuring that none of these men might later obtain citizenship.

W. S. S. Sales.

War stamp sales for January were $705; thrift stamps, $8.25.

School children buying or selling $50 worth of W. S. S. are admitted to the Rainbow regiment and are given a badge of honor. Scio will soon have one member for 1919.

The Albany Democrat under the new management is materially improved in point of local news.
