It is reported that the new S. L. & L. Co. will use electric power to run the various machines at their cut up plant in this city.

Our butchers say they are selling more fresh meat to farmers this year than ever. Bacon has become too dear to be used even by farmers.

C. W. Brant, wife and two daughters from Salem, drove to Scio Sunday to visit his father while his sister, Mrs. Roberts of Seattle was here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Crawford and Miss Helen Crawford brought our better half home from the Crawford farm near Tallman, Sunday afternoon.

What are property owners fronting on Mill street going to do about improving the same? Summer will soon be half gone yet there is no movement towards placing the street in a respectable condition.

The Tribune family is obligated to Dr. A. G. Prill for some large and luscious Bing cherries; also to George Meridian for Royal Annes and to Mrs. Ellwood for new potatoes and peas.

W. W. Crawford, the oldest Ford agent in the state, sold the Ford garage in Albany last week to some Portland people. The sale included the building and the lease of the land. The consideration was about $35,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Shelton and Grandma Pomeroy motored to Lacombe Sunday and spent the day with Oscar Pomeroy's family. Mrs. Clara Griffin, sister of Mrs. Shelton, who has been visiting friends and relatives at Lebanon and Lacombe for the past month, came home with the Sheltons.

The county court has purchased two powerful tractor engines to be used for road work purposes. This is the first movement toward utilizing the $600,000 road fund. The court intimates that not much road work will be done this year other than to get ready for a big drive on the roads next year.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Roberts of Seattle arrived in Scio Saturday evening for a short visit with Mrs. Roberts' father, J. A. C. Brant. They are making a tour of this part of the state as far south as the state line. They carry along a complete camping outfit including their dog and travel without a schedule, but camp where fancy dictates. They made a similar trip from Seattle to the British line and over the mountains into Eastern Washington. The heavily laden little "Lizzie" didn't fail them but went along like a well trained servant. The Roberts family left Scio Monday morning headed south with pleasant memories of the town and the fine trout "Daddy" provided on the menu.

The Masons meet Saturday night. Arthur Ransford of Portland is spending this week at home here.

Tuesday was the warmest day of the season in Scio.

President Wilson arrived in New York Tuesday. He submitted the treaty to the senate today.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shelton made a business trip to Jordan Tuesday evening.

Mrs. John L. Kelly has several bruises about her face received on Monday while being resuscitated from near drowning.

Picnic parties and suburban motoring seem to be all the rage. The people get out to escape the warm weather.

W. G. Thomas, uncle to Riley Shelton, is making his final visits in Scio while waiting transportation to Wrangell, Alaska, his home.

If you have a vacant lot just devoted to growing weeds, now is a first class time to mow them down; let them dry and then burn.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ewing and Mr. and Mrs. Riley Shelton attended the camp meeting at Turner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mat Gill left Saturday for several weeks' visit with a daughter in Seattle. Miss Grace Gill accompanied her parents as far as Portland.

Miss Dolly Daly, who has been operating a linotype machine in Oregon City, is home for a few days' rest. She says the machine is almost too strenuous for her.

Joe Funk stole away from the farm Tuesday long enough to transact business in town. Mrs. Funk came along to see that Joe behaved himself and got started for home in time to do the chores.

Mrs. D. C. Thoms returned a few days ago from an extended visit in Portland. It is reported that her return was hastened because D. C. had become sickened of his own cooking.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Shelton and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Carpenter started on quite an extensive auto trip Wednesday morning. They expect to visit numerous Southern Oregon points, including Crater Lake, on the trip and expect to be gone ten to twelve days.

Dr. John Gill of Lebanon and his nephew Roland Gill of Spokane, came over from Lebanon Monday afternoon. Dr. Gill stated he had splendid success in planting the young trout placed in his care in the headwaters of the south Santiam. Roland Gill but lately returned from overseas where he served Uncle Sam for a year and a half.

The Weddle family lost their little dog "Buster" Monday, some one's auto having run over him and crushed out his little life. Buster got the habit of lying in the middle of the road and having autos pass over and all about him, and drivers got to know his habits. It is supposed that he was not seen on this date on the roadway and thus his death was accidental and no one can be blamed.

John C. Devine, a resident of Lebanon for many years and proprietor of Hotel Lebanon until a few years ago, died at the hospital in that city Monday night as the result of a fall from a load of hay.

When people pass the remodeled and made over Peoples Theatre building they'll forget they're in Scio, the improvement in appearance being so great. It will equal the front of many similar houses in adjacent cities.

"Brethren should dwell together in harmony;" the same rule applies to sisters. Where two or three of the sisterhood disagree as to which one should monopolize the brother, there is sure to be trouble. A little bird told The Tribune that there was something like a ruction of this nature at a picnic party on the 4th; hot words being bandied back and forth, almost to the scratching and hair pulling stage. It is said that the "war" is not yet over.

The war is over! When the great war commenced W. A. Ewing commenced cultivating a vandyke hirsute, vowing he would wear the same until the close of the war. Last week Al went into the barber shop and came out with his face as slick as a peeled onion and apparently set him back 20 years in age. His little son, Moyer, scarcely knew him. Mrs. Ewing should take particularly good care of her health for Al would be a dangerous animal to turn loose among the girls with his young face.
