MEXICO MUST BE CLEANED UP

The United States will have to go down into Mexico and clean up things, sooner or later. There is no doubt about it. A stable government and one which can control the bandit situation, seems an impossibility. In fact, since the days of Diaz, Mexico has been incapable of self-government. Mexican bandits, who, do doubt, are inspired by renegades from all nations, will be a menace to our southern border for all time, without a power sufficient to overcome all opposition.

The United States does not want Mexican territory. She simply wants Mexico to be a decent neighbor and, if by invitation American capital is, as it has been, invited down there to develop that country, to give it the protection promised. This has not been done. Mexico is a refuge for the banditti of all nations and the American who has the temerity to cross the border in search of adventure, generally gets it.

At the present time the United States is maintaining a chain guard along the entire Mexican frontier, just to protect American towns and communities from the incursions of Mexican bandits, when Mexico ought to be able to take care of these marauders.

President Wilson should notify the Mexican government that the frontier between the two countries must be made safe at once, and, as all the trouble comes from the Mexican side, Mexico must establish a sufficiently strong border guard to keep her outlaws at home, else acknowledge her inability to do so, when, of course, the American Doughboys will be sent down there to quiet matters.

Owing to the world war, President Wilson and congress have been entirely too lenient with these hot-headed Mexicans. Because we have not sent an army down there with an order to subdue, these hot-headed Latinos have developed an enormous big-headedness. They are due to an awakening.

The United States has the power to subdue or annihilate these people.
We do not want to go to that extreme. We simply want them to behave themselves and be half-way decent neighbors. We know we have the power to subdue, but do not wish to use it, except as a last resort. But the Greasers will find this power will be used in the end.

Timber fires are again becoming numerous and men to fight them are scarce and high-priced.

A PUBLIC NUISANCE

Senator Lodge, in wilfully misinterpreting the League of Nations covenant, has become a sort of national nuisance. He persists in setting up men of straw just to furnish him the enjoyment of knocking them down.

In ancient times a certain historic gentleman is said to have "fiddled while Rome was burning." Senator Lodge is doing more "fiddling" these days than the people enjoy.
They are getting out of humor with his willful dilatoriness.

Of course the League covenant is not just what the United States would have. President Wilson has so stated a number of times; but it is the best which could be obtained at the Paris deliberations. The result was a compromise of opinions, just as our Federal constitution or treaty of the thirteen colonies was a compromise. Our constitution was not perfect, as witness twelve amendments within fifteen years, and now the eighteenth amendment to that immortal document is pending. The League provides for amendments.
Senator Lodge seems to overlook this fact. He seems to think the U.
S. senate is a field to air senatorial diplomatic ability.

Senator Lodge is a republican.
He may think he is preparing campaign capital for his party for next year. But his present political tactics are wrong. His own party is beginning to condemn him. They, as well as democrats, are willing to try out the League as the provisions now stand. If it proves a failure, as he says it will, the United States is sufficiently powerful to take care of itself.

But, let us suppose the League will be a success, which it will be, as all nations seem disposed to endeavor to make it? Then our little New England senator will be seeking a "lodge in some vast wilderness" in which to hide himself. He can, probably, find the location in the Black Forest of Germany.

HARVEST WELL ADVANCED

The Tribune man took a short auto tour through the Albany prairie last Sunday. But few acres of standing grain were observable. All of the fall grain seems to have been threshed and, this week, will see about all of the harvest completed.

The wheat yield in the Albany prairie is quite satisfactory. Many fields have yielded from 25 to 45 bushels to the acre. The general average will be from 20 to 25 bushels per acre. Spring wheat will yield a few bushels less; 15 bushels will be nearer the mark. Winter oats are giving good returns, and some spring oats are sure of fair yields, while the late sowing will be light. We noticed one or two fields which will not pay the expenses of harvesting.

Generally speaking, however, Linn county is harvesting a bountiful crop.

A $10,000,000 MONUMENT

The Tribune has recently received several letters from people eulogizing the late ex-President Roosevelt, and advocating the construction of a $10,000,000-monument, commemorating his acts during his public life. Of course the matter thus received is expected to be published in this paper, without remuneration.
This we refuse to do except at commercial rates.

Anyway, why should the American people be asked to contribute this large sum for the purpose specified? Granted that Mr. Roosevelt did some very meritorious things during his eventful life, we cannot forget that he did some things which did not add luster to his name. Anyway, we have had many eminent Americans, some of whom occupied the Whitehouse, the same as Colonel Roosevelt, yet we have built no $10,000,000 monuments to their memory.

Mr. Roosevelt, in some respects, was a great president, but not our greatest by any manner of means.
Ten million dollars can be much more sensibly used than in commemoration of simply a mediocre statesman.

AFRAID OF WILSON

The simple fact that our republican friends are afraid of President Wilson and what he may do next year, is evidenced by the tremendous efforts they are using to minimize all that the president has tried to accomplish.

The fact is, republican opposition to the president is making him friends among the people every day and if they (the republicans) should defeat the League of Nations, the people will force the renomination of Wilson, next year, and his election is sure.

Mr. Wilson does not care for a third term as president. He knows the unwritten law about this matter. But the main event about his administration, is the establishment of the League of Nations. He has accomplished this purpose if his own people and the republican party will give the league indorsement.

If the present congress fails to indorse the league, Mr. Wilson, or some one who will indorse the Wilson policies in the main, is sure of nomination and election; for the people, our g. o. p. friends will find, are determined to stop this war business if they can. They do the fighting and pay the war bills. Our Lodges, Borahs, Johnsons and others are never found in the front ranks on the battle lines; but the farmer's boy is there and the farmer pays war costs in the main.

The democratic party, of course, will be charged with the many extravagances and shortcomings of the war, for the men in control of matters made mistakes. But there was not time for deliberation. We had to have ships, airship material and other war material, regardless of cost.

The people look at matters in this way. They know they must pay the bills, whatever they may be, and are not disposed to blame the party which had to assume the responsibility; but they will hold those senators and their party responsible if the League of Nations is defeated, which the people hope will prevent wars between nations in the future.

MEXICO IS TOLD TO FREE FLYERS

quest for immediate action, was asserted by some officials, would have much to do in determining future relations between the Carranza and this government, even though the two aviators should be released through payment today of the demanded ransom.

Vigorous representations were made to the Mexican government today by the state department concerning the capture and detention of two American army aviators by bandits who demand $15,000 ransom.

This announcement was made by Secretary Lansing. It also was announced that a complete statement, including details of the capture of the two officers and particulars regarding the representations made by the American government, would be given to the public later.

Another week and the harvest of 1919 will have been ended. Linn county farmers will be the richer by about $2,500,000.
